[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.]

YESTERDAY our great "defense" organizations began a war to "repel an enemy fleet" and, seriously as owls, our army heroes are "rushing reinforcements, bolstering coast defenses," etc. The humor of the thing would vanish if we had real war.

IN THAT case, enemy flyers, released from airplane carriers, off shore, beyond reach of our coast defense pop-guns, would fly over New York, or San Francisco or Los Angeles, bombing and gassing those cities on the way inland to deal with other cities, then fly across the Canadian or Mexican border and settle down comfortably, to be interned for the duration of the war. It would not be much of a duration.

THERE will be no attack on this country until some nation is ready to attack by air. If such an attack finds us unprepared, as we are now, it will be a nice, short war.

AT DEARBORN last Wednesday Henry Ford, talking about flying machines, said, "some one ought to build a flying machine of size and power, and make a real experiment, it should be independent of wind and storms, as an ocean liner is independent of ocean waves. Such a flying machine would have many engines with superfluous power, so that if one or two broke down, it would make no difference. They could be repaired by mechanics on board while the machine continued its journey."

SUCH a machine, made as an experiment, would cost about one million dollars, Mr. Ford said. Asked if he planned to build it, he replied, "Edsel and I have talked about it, but have other things to attend to now."

Eight hundred thousand dollars, given toward the woman's building in Detroit, would almost build the big flyer. Such a machine might be more useful to the world than even the finest woman's building.

BEFORE Gen. Mitchell was put out of army flying, for telling unpleasant truths, he had under way plans for a giant flyer, with wheels 20 feet high, that could take a running start over fences and tree trunks.

And yesterday Professor Rumpler, head of a German airplane company announced plans for a plane, many times the size of any ever built, to carry many engines, and cross the Atlantic in 16 hours, carrying 170 passengers.

Transatlantic flight will soon be commonplace, but the little machine must show the way, as did Columbus' little boats.

MUSSOLINI'S resemblance to Napoleon is said to be emphasized in his attitude of increasing friendliness toward the church. Napoleon re-established the Catholic church in France, saying he needed a spiritual as well as a fighting army.

The affection between the couple seems to have been mutual from the first. Col. H. H. Rogers, of New York, Standard Oil multi-millionaire and father of Millicent, learning of his daughter's new romance, hurried to Paris to investigate and to prevent what he feared might be another hasty elopement.

Basement of Dwelling is Declared "Fire Menace."

Padlock proceedings to close the dwelling occupied by Mrs. Agnes Vaughn, Crook and Church alleys, will be instituted in common pleas court, Lisbon, immediately, Solicitor Frank Hoover announced today following the Mrs. Vaughn's fourth conviction, yesterday afternoon, upon a charge of possessing intoxicating liquor.

Mrs. Vaughn is in the county jail at Lisbon, today, where she was committed by Municipal Judge Hanley after being fined $500 and costs. Twenty-one half pints of corn whisky, alleged to have been concealed in a carton hidden beneath a pile of rubbish in the basement of the home, were confiscated, police said.

Two truckloads of waste paper and other rubbish were removed from the basement of the house by the street department yesterday afternoon after Service-Safety Director Moore ruled conditions in the cellar constituted a fire menace. The place has been damaged by fire on two occasions, three arrests upon arson charges being made in connection with the second blaze about a year ago. The house is owned by Mrs. Samuel W. Crawford, St. Clair avenue.

Break Through Door.

Chief of Police Hugh McDermott and Desk Sergeant George Toland were forced to break through a heavily barred door in making the raid yesterday. Chief McDermott went to the front door, while Toland was sent to the rear. Toland made a lung against the door and the wooden bar which had been placed against the door with iron bolts and braces was broken.

A "look-out," posted at the front door of the house, police said, gave warning when he saw Chief McDermott approaching. Mrs. Vaughn, it is claimed, was "dumping" the liquor down the bathtub drain when the police arrived. A search also revealed liquor in the cellar.

R. L. EDMONSTON FACES COURT FOR ALLEGED STREET OBSTRUCTION

Hotel Owner Pleads Not Guilty of Charge Filed Under City Ordinance —Trial on Saturday.

R. L. Edmonston, proprietor of the Travelers' hotel, entered a plea of not guilty before Municipal Judge Hanley today when he was arraigned for an alleged violation of a city ordinance, charging he obstructed the sidewalk on Fourth street by the construction of an outside stairway to the basement of his hotel addition.

He was arrested upon affidavit signed by Service-Safety Director J. W. Moore, after he had failed to comply with the director's five-day notice, served May 7, ordering the removal of an iron railing around the stairway.

Edmonston asked that the hearing be postponed until June 1 but this was denied by Judge Hanley. Finally the hearing was set for 10 o'clock Saturday morning. He was released upon his own recognizance.

The prosecution of Edmonston is the second attempt of the city to enforce the ordinance adopted several months ago. In a ruling handed down in common pleas court two months ago, the city's removal order against a covering on an outside stairway at the American theatre, Crook alley, was sustained. The court dismissed a temporary injunction granted the theatre operators.

ACCUSED SCORED

Defense Terms Mazer "Gambler and Dive Keeper."

CANTON, O., May 17—The Floyd Streitenberger murder case went to the jury at 1:54 o'clock this afternoon.

CANTON, O., May 17.—Winding up arguments for the state here today, in the trial of Floyd Streitenberger, alleged participant in the murder of Don Mellett, Canton publisher, last July, Special Prosecutor C. B. McClintock placed the blame for the crime "upon the Canton police department, who made the exponents of the assassination feel they would receive no punishment."

Jury to Get Case at 1:30.

"Streitenberger must have given such assurance to Louis Mazer," (state's star witness jointly indicted for the murder) McClintock told the jury. "Streitenberger was the brains and backbone of the whole plot."

Attorney J. H. Robertson, of defense counsel, characterizing Mazer as a "known gambler, dive-keeper and bootlegger," asked the jury to discredit his testimony and "not send a man to the electric chair an the testimony of a man of such calibre."

"If Mazer would perjure himself to save his friends, (Pat McDermott and Ben Rudner, convicted of complicity in the crime and now serving life) he would certainly commit perjury to save himself," said Robertson.

The case was expected to reach the jury about 1:30 p. m., following Judge Clevenger's charge.

BELLANCA PLANE, COLUMBIA, MAY BE DEFINITELY OUT OF PARIS RACE BECAUSE OF NEW DISSENSION OVER PACT

MITCHEL FIELD, NEW YORK, May 17.—The Bellanca plane, Columbia, may be definitely out of the race to Paris because of the new dissension which rose to alarming proportions today.

G. W. Nutt, attorney for Lloyd Bertaud, who with Clarence W. Chamberlain was to fly the Bellanca plane in the epochal air race, has advised his client not to sign the new contract offered by Charles A. Levine, president of the Columbia Aircraft corporation. The document was expected to adjust all former difficulties.

Today it appeared likely that court action would be resorted to to straighten out the differences between their backers and the flyers.

Because of what he calls a "trick" clause inserted in the flight contract, Nutt is said to be ready to seek damages from Levine and was reported ready to ask an injunction to restrain the plane from leaving.

Unfavorable Weather.

A conference of flying men and officials was to be held today at the office of Rodman Wanamaker. Just what will transpire at the meeting is problematical. There was no intimation that it might have to do with the New York-Paris flight.

When it became apparent to Bertaud's friends that the flight was threatened, a group of them hastened to offer Levine $25,000 for the Bellanca plane, and announced they were prepared to back the airmen. The offer was turned down by Levine.

The unfavorable weather threw another damper on the other contemplated hop-offs. Captain Charles A. Lindbergh, the "flying fool," was prevented from starting from Roosevelt Field. He has been given a final physical examination, and has been declared 100 per cent fit.

Not only were Bertaud and Chamberlin at odds with Levine, their backer, and G. Ballanca, designer of the ship, but they were in disagreement with each other also.

The matter of carrying radio equipment split the fliers. Levine ordered the radio equipment taken off the plane. His action was supported by Bellanca and Chamberlin, but opposed by Bertaud. The radio was taken off.

Bertaud would not make a statement concerning the matter, but observers reported him to be "angry" and "extremely wrought up."

Differences over the proposed route of the plane caused additional discussion. Bertaud has insisted upon a direct route by water, while Chamberlin has sought a route via Newfoundland and Ireland, chopping off much of the water route sought by Bertaud. It was said that the flyers are almost hopelessly divided on this point.

It was learned that the verbal contract, supposed to clear up the matters insurance provisions for the flyers' wives, division of awards and other money earned, had not been put in writing, as had been expected after Sunday's conference.

There was a feeling today that Commander Byrd who is to fly the America with Bert Acosta, would beat his competitors in the start, because his plane would be better able to breast the head winds.

R. L. EDMONSTON FACES COURT FOR ALLEGED STREET OBSTRUCTION

Hotel Owner Pleads Not Guilty of Charge Filed Under City Ordinance —Trial on Saturday.

R. L. Edmonston, proprietor of the Travelers' hotel, entered a plea of not guilty before Municipal Judge Hanley today when he was arraigned for an alleged violation of a city ordinance, charging he obstructed the sidewalk on Fourth street by the construction of an outside stairway to the basement of his hotel addition.

He was arrested upon affidavit signed by Service-Safety Director J. W. Moore, after he had failed to comply with the director's five-day notice, served May 7, ordering the removal of an iron railing around the stairway.

Edmonston asked that the hearing be postponed until June 1 but this was denied by Judge Hanley. Finally the hearing was set for 10 o'clock Saturday morning. He was released upon his own recognizance.

The prosecution of Edmonston is the second attempt of the city to enforce the ordinance adopted several months ago. In a ruling handed down in common pleas court two months ago, the city's removal order against a covering on an outside stairway at the American theatre, Crook alley, was sustained. The court dismissed a temporary injunction granted the theatre operators.

PROSECUTION BLAMES POLICE FOR MURDER OF DON MELLETT

C. B. McClintock Closes State Argument in Canton Case.

ACCUSED SCORED

Defense Terms Mazer "Gambler and Dive Keeper."

CANTON, O., May 17—The Floyd Streitenberger murder case went to the jury at 1:54 o'clock this afternoon.

CANTON, O., May 17.—Winding up arguments for the state here today, in the trial of Floyd Streitenberger, alleged participant in the murder of Don Mellett, Canton publisher, last July, Special Prosecutor C. B. McClintock placed the blame for the crime "upon the Canton police department, who made the exponents of the assassination feel they would receive no punishment."

Jury to Get Case at 1:30.

"Streitenberger must have given such assurance to Louis Mazer," (state's star witness jointly indicted for the murder) McClintock told the jury. "Streitenberger was the brains and backbone of the whole plot."

Attorney J. H. Robertson, of defense counsel, characterizing Mazer as a "known gambler, dive-keeper and bootlegger," asked the jury to discredit his testimony and "not send a man to the electric chair an the testimony of a man of such calibre."

"If Mazer would perjure himself to save his friends, (Pat McDermott and Ben Rudner, convicted of complicity in the crime and now serving life) he would certainly commit perjury to save himself," said Robertson.

The case was expected to reach the jury about 1:30 p. m., following Judge Clevenger's charge.

BELLANCA PLANE, COLUMBIA, MAY BE DEFINITELY OUT OF PARIS RACE BECAUSE OF NEW DISSENSION OVER PACT

MITCHEL FIELD, NEW YORK, May 17.—The Bellanca plane, Columbia, may be definitely out of the race to Paris because of the new dissension which rose to alarming proportions today.

G. W. Nutt, attorney for Lloyd Bertaud, who with Clarence W. Chamberlain was to fly the Bellanca plane in the epochal air race, has advised his client not to sign the new contract offered by Charles A. Levine, president of the Columbia Aircraft corporation. The document was expected to adjust all former difficulties.

Today it appeared likely that court action would be resorted to to straighten out the differences between their backers and the flyers.

Because of what he calls a "trick" clause inserted in the flight contract, Nutt is said to be ready to seek damages from Levine and was reported ready to ask an injunction to restrain the plane from leaving.

Unfavorable Weather.

A conference of flying men and officials was to be held today at the office of Rodman Wanamaker. Just what will transpire at the meeting is problematical. There was no intimation that it might have to do with the New York-Paris flight.

When it became apparent to Bertaud's friends that the flight was threatened, a group of them hastened to offer Levine $25,000 for the Bellanca plane, and announced they were prepared to back the airmen. The offer was turned down by Levine.

The unfavorable weather threw another damper on the other contemplated hop-offs. Captain Charles A. Lindbergh, the "flying fool," was prevented from starting from Roosevelt Field. He has been given a final physical examination, and has been declared 100 per cent fit.

Not only were Bertaud and Chamberlin at odds with Levine, their backer, and G. Ballanca, designer of the ship, but they were in disagreement with each other also.

The matter of carrying radio equipment split the fliers. Levine ordered the radio equipment taken off the plane. His action was supported by Bellanca and Chamberlin, but opposed by Bertaud. The radio was taken off.

Bertaud would not make a statement concerning the matter, but observers reported him to be "angry" and "extremely wrought up."

Differences over the proposed route of the plane caused additional discussion. Bertaud has insisted upon a direct route by water, while Chamberlin has sought a route via Newfoundland and Ireland, chopping off much of the water route sought by Bertaud. It was said that the flyers are almost hopelessly divided on this point.

It was learned that the verbal contract, supposed to clear up the matters insurance provisions for the flyers' wives, division of awards and other money earned, had not been put in writing, as had been expected after Sunday's conference.

There was a feeling today that Commander Byrd who is to fly the America with Bert Acosta, would beat his competitors in the start, because his plane would be better able to breast the head winds.

Work on the "Narrows," below the Jefferson County Children home has been going forward quietly under the direction of State Engineers Harvey Brown and Alkaire, highway department representatives announced today.

Adjustment in Reservoir Controversy Possible.

Possibility that Wellsville's waterworks controversy with Contractor A. W. Hineman might be brought before city council tonight with the possibility of an adjustment looming was hinted today by city officials.

Hineman had the contract for the construction of the reservoir in Little Yellow Creek.

He contended, after completion of the work, that part of money rightfully due him was held up. The city pointed out that Hineman had failed to live up to the specifications of his contract.

A board of arbitration finally was decided as a means of settling the issue and each side eventually appointed its representative. The proceedings, however, struck a snag when it came to the naming of the third, or neutral member, and the case has hung fire since.

It is possible, it was said, that Hineman may suggest a method out of the controversy.

CROWDS VIEW FRIGIDAIRE

Household Models Displayed by Local Dealer.

Scores of interested and curious people crowd the sales room of the J. A. Trotter company, local Frigidaire dealer for their first glimpse of the new household Frigidaire, said to be the outstanding development of the industry this year.

The new Frigidaire, prominently displayed in the show window, is slightly lower in height than other models and decidedly different in appearance. Doors are hung at the bottom of the cabinet instead of the top and the cooling mechanism, built in a single unit, is placed in the top of the cabinet.

The cabinet itself is finished in gleaming white Duco, with solidly mounted metal door clasps and hinges and presents a highly attractive appearance. The new model is extremely quiet in operation, rendering it particularly suitable for apartment house use or other places with limited living space.

"Although the new model has been somewhat reduced in size, its storage capacity has not been decreased" said Mr. Trotter. It has approximately five square feet of shelf space and two icy trays, freezing a total of 36 cubes at a time. Tests have shown that it is very inexpensive to operate.

"An army of men and millions of dollars invested in engineering research and factory production were required to make possible this new Frigidaire which sells at the lowest price in the history of the business. It can be sold for less money simply because the great volume of Frigidaire sales make it possible to build it for less money.

"Frigidaires are now being built at the rate of four a minute— 2,000 a day, to keep pace with the tremendous demand that has arisen for them. With a Frigidaire in the home, the inconvenience and annoyance of an outside ice supply is gone forever."

AUTO CLUBS TO MEET FRIDAY

Twenty-sixth Convention to be Held in Cincinnati.

Radio will play an important part in connection with the twenty-sixth annual convention of the Ohio State Automobile association that will be held at the Hotel Alms in Cincinnati, May 20 and 21. This is one of the many features planned by the Cincinnati Automobile club, which will act as the convention host.

In this connection, arrangements have been made by the club for one hour of broadcasting through station WKRC during the stag party that will be given on Thursday night, May 19, preceding the opening of the convention on the following day. On this occasion a number of prominent speakers on the convention program, as well as a number of the secretaries of affiliated clubs, will be heard over the air. Word of this feature has been forwarded to the various cities and towns over the state where automobile club are located, that those having receiving sets may tune in.

Announcement is made of the completion of the list of speakers who will address the convention during its two-day sesssion and among those included are Thomas P. Henry, Detroit, president, and Ernest N. Smith, D. C., general manager of the American Automobile association. Both speakers are widely known among organized motorists of the country by reason of their official connection with the national organization, and are expected to bring to the delegates at the state convention many of the things that are being accomplished for the benefit of automobile owners on a nation-wide basis. Congressman Nicholas Longworth is also scheduled to speak.

Those of state-wide reputation who have accepted invitations to address the delegates are Attorney General Edward C. Turner, Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown, State Director of Highways George F. Schlesinger, Judge Struble, of the Hamilton county common pleas court, and others.

According to reports being received by Secretary Charles C. Janes, at the headquarters of the state association in Columbus, practically all clubs affiliated with the organization are planning to send their full quota of delegates to the convention, many of whom will be accompanied by their wives. A complete program of entertainment has been planned for the visiting ladies that will occupy their time while the business sessions of the convention are in progress. They will also be the guests of the Cincinnati club at a theatre party on Thursday night.

No expense is being spared by the Cincinnati motorists to make their hospitality complete for the convention visitors.

Turkey found that its consumption tax has increased the cost of living and decreased business transactions, and therefore is changing the law.

Merger of two creamery companies in Canada has formed an organization having 55 plants which last year made 12,000,000 pounds of butter.

CROWDS VIEW FRIGIDAIRE

Household Models Displayed by Local Dealer.

Scores of interested and curious people crowd the sales room of the J. A. Trotter company, local Frigidaire dealer for their first glimpse of the new household Frigidaire, said to be the outstanding development of the industry this year.

The new Frigidaire, prominently displayed in the show window, is slightly lower in height than other models and decidedly different in appearance. Doors are hung at the bottom of the cabinet instead of the top and the cooling mechanism, built in a single unit, is placed in the top of the cabinet.

The cabinet itself is finished in gleaming white Duco, with solidly mounted metal door clasps and hinges and presents a highly attractive appearance. The new model is extremely quiet in operation, rendering it particularly suitable for apartment house use or other places with limited living space.

"Although the new model has been somewhat reduced in size, its storage capacity has not been decreased" said Mr. Trotter. It has approximately five square feet of shelf space and two ice trays, freezing a total of 36 cubes at a time. Tests have shown that it is very inexpensive to operate.

"An army of men and millions of dollars invested in engineering research and factory production were required to make possible this new Frigidaire which sells at the lowest price in the history of the business. It can be sold for less money simply because the great volume of Frigidaire sales make it possible to build it for less money.

"Frigidaires are now being built at the rate of four a minute— 2,000 a day, to keep pace with the tremendous demand that has arisen for them. With a Frigidaire in the home, the inconvenience and annoyance of an outside ice supply is gone forever."

AUTO CLUBS TO MEET FRIDAY

Twenty-sixth Convention to be Held in Cincinnati.

Radio will play an important part in connection with the twenty-sixth annual convention of the Ohio State Automobile association that will be held at the Hotel Alms in Cincinnati, May 20 and 21. This is one of the many features planned by the Cincinnati Automobile club, which will act as the convention host.

In this connection, arrangements have been made by the club for one hour of broadcasting through station WKRC during the stag party that will be given on Thursday night, May 19, preceding the opening of the convention on the following day. On this occasion a number of prominent speakers on the convention program, as well as a number of the secretaries of affiliated clubs, will be heard over the air. Word of this feature has been forwarded to the various cities and towns over the state where automobile club are located, that those having receiving sets may tune in.

Announcement is made of the completion of the list of speakers who will address the convention during its two-day sesssion and among those included are Thomas P. Henry, Detroit, president, and Ernest N. Smith, D. C., general manager of the American Automobile association. Both speakers are widely known among organized motorists of the country by reason of their official connection with the national organization, and are expected to bring to the delegates at the state convention many of the things that are being accomplished for the benefit of automobile owners on a nation-wide basis. Congressman Nicholas Longworth is also scheduled to speak.

Those of state-wide reputation who have accepted invitations to address the delegates are Attorney General Edward C. Turner, Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown, State Director of Highways George F. Schlesinger, Judge Struble, of the Hamilton county common pleas court, and others.

According to reports being received by Secretary Charles C. Janes, at the headquarters of the state association in Columbus, practically all clubs affiliated with the organization are planning to send their full quota of delegates to the convention, many of whom will be accompanied by their wives. A complete program of entertainment has been planned for the visiting ladies that will occupy their time while the business sessions of the convention are in progress. They will also be the guests of the Cincinnati club at a theatre party on Thursday night.

No expense is being spared by the Cincinnati motorists to make their hospitality complete for the convention visitors.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of James M. Kenney, who died one year ago today, May 17, 1926.

Gone but not one hour forgotten,
The voice we loved is stilled,
The place is vacant in our home
Which never can be filled.
We miss thee here, but soon will meet
Where thou hast gone before.

"Dear, I want you to know now that S. S. S. has been used for over 100 years—it is made from fresh roots and herbs — growing children sometimes need a tonic, as do their elders—it is helping you, and I want you to take it regularly before each meal."

Try S. S. S. and you will be surprised how quickly your appetite improves. If you are tired, run-down and listless you owe it to yourself and family to give S. S. S. a trial. It helps Nature build up red blood corpuscles. It improves the processes by which the body is nourished. S. S. S. is time-tried and reliable, and is unequalled for restoring strength and vitality.

DIX SCORES AT CERAMIC

"Knockout Reilly" Opens Four Day Engagement Here.

One of those fast moving comedy dramas with which Richard Dix has carved for himself cinema fame, opened last night at the Ceramic theatre for a four days' run, when "Knockout Reilly," his latest starring effort for Paramount had its initial showing.

The athletic ability which won him such acclamation in "The Quarterback," stands him again in good stead in this saga of a young steel puddler whose hard fists win him a pugilistic championship after many vicissitudes.

Motivating it all are two very human passions of revenge and love, with an ample sprinkling of the delightful Dix brand of humor.

Mary Brian as the cabaret entertainer is extremely easy to look at. She is one of the chief motivators of the action. Things hum from the very first, when Dix arrives on a Saturday night at the cabaret looking for recreation. He finds plenty when Killer Agerra (Jack Renault) who has just defeated Pat Malone, Mary's pugilist brother, makes unwelcome advances to her. The smitten Reilly knocks him out without knowing who he is. This escapade indirectly starts him on his ring career, for when Malone heart of it, he advises Reilly to adopt the ring as his vocation.

But it takes a beating at the hands of Agerra who thirsting for revenge decoys Reilly to his gymnasium, to convince him to heed Malone's words. Fight by fight, Riley climbs upward until he is signed to meet Agerra the champion.

A bit of gun play in a grocery store near where Reilly is in training results in the wounding of a lumberjack, Dix is convicted on circumstantial evidence and sentenced to two years in jail. Mary's faith instills courage in him, and he keeps in condition by working on the rock pile.

The touches where Dix just out of prison finds his former wide circle of friends narrowed down to the ever faithful Malone, are full of pathos and a grim sort of humor. He is no longer Reilly the promising fighter, but Reilly the jail bird, with an eternal stigma attached to his name.

Malcolm St. Clair, director of "The Popular Sin," and other screen successes, has here blended deft comedy with swift action that abounds in dramatic punches.

EAST LIVERPOOL—AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

TUESDAY, MAY 17, 1927.

Clean-Up Week

East Liverpool's annual clean-up of attics, cellars and back yards is in full swing today, with the public responding to the appeal of the board of health to eradicate disease-breeding and inflammable accumulations.

Co-operating with the health chieftains, the service department's trucks will haul away all refuse except garbage, if it is deposited in convenient places. The purpose is to improve the community's health as well as inculcate civic pride.

In connection with another city's clean-up, 50 "treasure chests" were planted in as many places, all over town, to help along the good work. There was real money in those chests, and they were buried in the worst places, so deeply that they could not be found without genuine overhauling of the disorderly spots.

It was a fine idea, appealing strongly to the universal taste for treasure-hunting. But really, it shouldn't be necessary to make a special job of hiding such treasure as bait for spring cleaners. If people's own consciences will not drive them to such a task, their instinct should.

There is treasure buried almost everywhere, in rubbish piles, in attics, in cellars, in old barns and back yards and unused buildings, in all sort of out-of-the-way corners. Who ever undertook a clean-up job, and carried it out thoroughly, that failed to find lost or forgotten treasure worth the effort?

Progress In China

The British government has changed its mind about inflicting penalties on China for the hostilities against British subjects and property at Nanking. There will be no punitive bombardment of the city for the Chinese failure to make abject amends and large compensation. Neither will Britain seize any more Chinese territory.

The same powerful government also changes its mind about using its army and navy to regain its concession in Hankow, relinquished some months ago after a strong Chinese demonstration against the British residents there.

England may still carry a big stick, but she is speaking with unwonted softness now in her dealings with China. There are no more violent outbursts from Winston Churchill or any others. The British naval officers in Chinese waters are more careful about turning loose on the natives with their guns.

This is largely the result of the refusal of the United States to support Great Britain in a policy of blood and iron in China. Our government, obedient to the plain will of the American people, has taken the situation calmly, after the first fluster attending the exaggerated Nanking episode. It refuses to play the game of the imperialistic powers. It refuses to coerce China and sandbag the Nationalist party. So the other powers seem to be falling into line and accepting the American policy, in large part.

This is a triumph of American ideals in a very important international drama. The revolt against the Russian meddlers, and the efforts to oust Sovietism from the National party, have made the American task easier.

So things in China are looking better, even if the Nationalists are divided. If the Russian Reds can be squeezed out and the foreign powers will be decent, there is hope of China working out her own salvation.

Earning a Park

If you never heard of New Holstein, Wis., you have missed a tale of civic determination. New Holstein is a town with less than 1,400 population, but it has a public park.

The park is the achievement of the local Women's Civic society. As many as 13 years ago, with only 18 members, that organization set its mind on a park.

The women earned their money with real labor. They made and sold refreshments at band concerts. They collected and sold old mazazines and other paper. They held bazaars with indefatigable energy and courage. The first $2,500 came hardest, they report, but it came none the less and was promptly used to buy a piece of wooded land for the park.

Then they kept on working. As more money was earned it was put to work improving the park, making part of it into a tourist camp, putting up a large well-equipped kitchen from which the women feed hungry throngs on special occasions. A pavilion has now been erected, to be used for community gatherings and dances. A boulevard drive along one side of the park, a good lighting system, flower beds in suitable places, are among the $6,000 improvements achieved by these women.

It has all taken time, labor, determination. It must have taken also a fine spirit of co-operation. One would be interested to know whether these thorough-going women have turned their attention to any other community matters—schools and good government, for example.

Almost time for 10,000,000 Americans to start their season's detouring.

A SNARE FOR THE STRANGER.

Back in the old days when it still was possible legally to buy and sell practically all sorts of wild game in the open, a citizen of a remote county of my native state of Kentucky paid his first visit to a large city. He went on an excursion up to Cincinnati and put up at the old Burnett House.

When dinner time came—only, to my fellow-Kentuckian it was suppertime—he entered the dining room, treading high, wide and handsome, and was assigned to a seat at a table, and after the waiter had elucidated for him the mysteries of an a la carte menu, he gave his order for a plentiful mean, regardless of expense.

But when he came forth into the lobby at the conclusion of the spread there was an expression of intense disappointment upon his rugged face, or upon such portion of his face as was visible above the timber-line where his whiskers left off.

A fellow-excursionist hailed him:

"What's the matter, Uncle Gabe?" he asked. "You look like you might be feeling put out about something or other?"

"Son," said the old gentleman, "I am put out. I've been imposed on."

"What happened?"

"Well, all my life I've been hearin' fellers that had knocked about amongst these Yankees talkin' about quail on toast—sayin' how good it was and how tasty and all. So I made up my mind that ef ever I got to a big town I was goin' to have some of this here quail on toast, no matter how much it cost.

"Well, a little while ago I walked into the backroom of this here tavern to get me some vittles. And mighty near the first thing I seen when the nigger handed me the advertisement was "Quail on Toast—eighty cents."

"So I told him to bring me some right away. But, son, I figure they seen I was green and cheated me out of my eighty cents."

"How so?"

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

HAVRE, May 17.—Havre, like Cherbourg, has eternally weeping skies. Always a chill, clinging drizzle with flecks of sun now and then on the hillside and quay. But our wretched and wan voyageurs cheered faintly when the barque was warped to the dock. After all, it was land.

The interpid passenger, who, on account of a wide hat and wide eloquent mouth, looked suspciously like a congressman and had left the bar but twice crossing—each time tenderly carried—was the first to lurch down the gangplank. Great bags of white-sacked mail were being tossed over the side. "Folks, my laundry," he cried, pointing.

In the great train sheds the dinky little boat trains with their doleful peanut stand whistles were waiting for the four-hour rush to Paris. Merchants with portable stands lined the way with memories of other days—iced champagne, still wines, flasks of brandy and such.

Those pony-sized dapple gray Normandy horses with bells and ribbons, trotted along, drawing two-wheeled carts of trunks. Bicycles, pedaled madly, whizzed by. Professional guides, caparisoned like major domos in gold ropes, offered their servility for the trifling purbois.

Withered and hooded old women hawked the Paris Herald and Tribune. Wine-sogged porters, bent double with luggage, did their customary haggling for larger tips. A piratical crew that genuflects at a Frenchman's single franc tip and snarls at the American's ten francs.

A stream of passengers promenade forward and back alongside their coaches in effort to regain their land legs. But the sway remains for several hours—somethimes for days. Dogs leap and yip with joy over release from their plunging and dipping environment.

Regular trains, like so many toy cars, go by with first, second and third class coaches—passengers riding in the open atop the later. A blue denimed trainman puffing a cigarette, runs along the boat train ringing a huge dinner bell. A tiny toot, a lurch—and we're off or Paris, tra-la!

Le Havre shows more progress than any city in France. Its population has swollen to nearly 300,000. In another year the big Cunard and White Star liners will dock there. Heretofore the bulk of its liner traffic came from the French line. It is an antiquated type of French city with narrow cobbled streets, mansard roofs with acres of tiny chimney pots, walled garden patches and shuttered attic windows. But today big factories rise skyward. It is the only note of progress I have seen in France since the war.

The first and only stop is at Rouen with its magnificent cathedral. It is the community where Joan d'Arc was burned at the stake. A new railroad station has been in building progress for the past five years and is still unfinished. That, messeurs et madames, is la belle France. The official boat bun debouched from his compartment and assuaged his burying thirst with a half pint of champagne, snatched from a depot cart peddler.

As the train slows up for crossings, ragged little undernourished children race along the side with outstretched aprons, crying "Pin-nees!" Passengers amuse themselves by showering sous, adding to our fame of "rich Americans."

Old women still work in the fields with their men, stopping to look up dully at passing trains. Here and there a grand old crumbling chateau with leaded windows, poises along the slope—a fleeting glimpse of the grandeur that was once of France.

Eiffel Tower is faintly traced on the horizon. The gates of the city are passed. The train slows down. Blue smocked porters swarm through the windows to snatch baggage and the train thunders on to a dead stop in Gare St. Lazarre. All out for Paris!

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Women Officeholders.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 17.—Surveys made for the National League of Women Voters in Minnesota, Connecticut, Ohio, Alabama, Washington, Kansas, and Wisconsin apparently indicate that women generally are making substantial gains in the number of public offices which they hold. This conclusion is not absolutely certain, for the data available do not cover a sufficient period of time to admit of illuminating comparisons.

However, there is no question that women are gathering more political plums in some states, whatever the facts may be as to the country as a whole. In Connecticut, for example, in 1925 there were but 97 women holding municipal, county, and state offices as compared with 355 holding similar offices in 1926 and 1927. Minnesota had a total of 125 in 1896 as compared with 209 this year. Ohio and Kansas have, respectively, 91 and 228 women in county and state offices this year, but figures for preceding years are not available and comparisons can not be made.

Wisconsin shows 70 women in state and county offices last year as against 61 in 1925. No figures are given for municipal offices.

Women lawmakers to the number of 122 were elected to the various state legislatures that meet this year, 12 of them as state senators and 110 as representatives. The total shows a slight falling off from 1925 and 1926 when approximately 130 held legislative offices. Fourteen states have no women representatives. The gains that have been made are chiefly in the east. In Connecticut, a state that opposed woman suffrage to the very last, 15 women will sit in the 1927 legislature.

That is their largest representation in any state, and may be contrasted with Wyoming, the first state to accord women suffrage rights, which elected only one woman legislator. Iowa where women were barred from service in the legislature, ratified a state constitutional amendment at the last election that will let the bars down by striking out the word "male" from the constitutional qualifications of legislators.

Five States Have Almost Half.

Almost one-half of the women lawmakers are to be found in five states. New Hampshire has 13, Ohio 11, New Jersey 9, and Vermont 8, which added to Connecticut's 15 make a total of 56. Include either Maine, Pennsylvania, or Illinois, each of which has 6, and the six states will have a majority of feminine legislators.

When it comes to winning county offices women seem to fare best when they go after the berth of county superintendent of schools. In three states they hold 155 such offices—72 in Kansas, 54 in Minnesota, and 29 in Wisconsin. Rocorder and register of deeds seems to be their next best bet, for they have 63 in Kansas, 25 in Ohio, 10 in Wisconsin, and 7 in Minnesota.

EAST LIVERPOOL—AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

TUESDAY, MAY 17, 1927.

Clean-Up Week

East Liverpool's annual clean-up of attics, cellars and back yards is in full swing today, with the public responding to the appeal of the board of health to eradicate disease-breeding and inflammable accumulations.

Co-operating with the health chieftains, the service department's trucks will haul away all refuse except garbage, if it is deposited in convenient places. The purpose is to improve the community's health as well as inculcate civic pride.

In connection with another city's clean-up, 50 "treasure chests" were planted in as many places, all over town, to help along the good work. There was real money in those chests, and they were buried in the worst places, so deeply that they could not be found without genuine overhauling of the disorderly spots.

It was a fine idea, appealing strongly to the universal taste for treasure-hunting. But really, it shouldn't be necessary to make a special job of hiding such treasure as bait for spring cleaners. If people's own consciences will not drive them to such a task, their instinct should.

There is treasure buried almost everywhere, in rubbish piles, in attics, in cellars, in old barns and back yards and unused buildings, in all sort of out-of-the-way corners. Who ever undertook a clean-up job, and carried it out thoroughly, that failed to find lost or forgotten treasure worth the effort?

Progress In China

The British government has changed its mind about inflicting penalties on China for the hostilities against British subjects and property at Nanking. There will be no punitive bombardment of the city for the Chinese failure to make abject amends and large compensation. Neither will Britain seize any more Chinese territory.

The same powerful government also changes its mind about using its army and navy to regain its concession in Hankow, relinquished some months ago after a strong Chinese demonstration against the British residents there.

England may still carry a big stick, but she is speaking with unwonted softness now in her dealings with China. There are no more violent outbursts from Winston Churchill or any others. The British naval officers in Chinese waters are more careful about turning loose on the natives with their guns.

This is largely the result of the refusal of the United States to support Great Britain in a policy of blood and iron in China. Our government, obedient to the plain will of the American people, has taken the situation calmly, after the first fluster attending the exaggerated Nanking episode. It refuses to play the game of the imperialistic powers. It refuses to coerce China and sandbag the Nationalist party. So the other powers seem to be falling into line and accepting the American policy, in large part.

This is a triumph of American ideals in a very important international drama. The revolt against the Russian meddlers, and the efforts to oust Sovietism from the National party, have made the American task easier.

So things in China are looking better, even if the Nationalists are divided. If the Russian Reds can be squeezed out and the foreign powers will be decent, there is hope of China working out her own salvation.

RETIREMENT OF DRYS' LEADER BECAUSE OF HEALTH FORECAST

WASHINGTON STEWART'S LETTER

By Charles P. Stewart.

WASHINGTON, May 17.—No wonder prohibition's leadership in Washington has seemed erratic of late. No wonder recent dry politices at the capital have taken directions it was hard to understand.

WAYNE B. WHEELER

Wayne B. Wheeler is about to pass out of the picture, they say.

He's a very sick man, according to his friends.

Everything possible appears to have been done to minimize the seriousness of his illness, in the hope that he might mend, but at last it's admitted that he has been in failing health for months.

POLITICALLY speaking, Wayne B Wheeler's has been about the last word on the subject of national prohibition for around ten years.

The drys, it's to be borne in mind, didn't come into power as a party but as a non-partisan force. They never have been the government, as the dominant party is. Instead, they've told officialdom what they wanted. To do this they needed a spokesman and that's what Wayne B. Wheeler's been—plus a great deal more.

Originally Wheeler was spokesman solely for the Anti-Saloon League, which is only one among a number of prohibition organizations, but most, if not all, of the others presently accepted him as theirs, too, simply because they recognized in him the ideal man for the job.

FOR his place, Wheeler was a perfect fit.

It isn't quite exact to say he was a leader. He never was official head even of his own group, the Anti-Saloon League. Officially he was, and is its general counsel.

More accurately, as to prohibition, he was an embodiment. When he expressed himself, as prohibition's spokesman, it was prohibition expressing itself.

Good team work on all the dry organizations' part was vital and Wheeler was the diplomat to insure it.

He had intelligence and determination and courage, a flair of upblicity, endless patience, boundless industry and enthusiasm, and he never loses his head.

Wets don't like him but no wet who knows him ever denied he's a wonderful man.

AS a dry politician it's safe to say Wheeler hasn't an equal in the United State.

All the politics he knows, he knows from the dry standpoint, but from that angle he knows it in all its ramifications, unto the third and fourth generations, both ways.

It goes without saying that no cause can lose a general like this without suffering a certain amount of disorganization, and there are signs of it in the drys' ranks.

The struggles over Roy A. Haynes, as a candidate for the permanent post as prohibition czar, is just one of them.

INDEED, rumor hath it that the Haynes row isn't so much over Haynes as it is a test of strength to determine who shall step into Wheeler's shoes.

It's no cinch that anybody can fill them.

Somebody can be chosen, of course, but can he hold the faithful together and lead 'em as warily as Wheeler has?

Prominently mentioned possibilities are:

F. Scott McBride of the Anti-Saloon league, who has been acting as Wheeler's assistant in recent months; Dr. Clarence True Wilson of the Methodist Episcopal Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals, and Dr. E. W. Dinwiddie of the National Temperance Bureau.

in the office of county clerk they have 13 in Ohio, 11 in Wisconsin, and 8 in Kansas; county treasurer, Kansas 24, Ohio 11, Wisconsin 10, and Minnesota 3; probate judge, Kansas 11, Ohio 4, and Minnesota 2; county sheriff, 3 each in Kansas and Wisconsin and 1 in Ohio.

"From the survey of women in county positions," says the report to the General Council of the League, "it is apparent that the office of county superintendent of schools is as much a woman's job as a man's. Progress is in the right direction when women fill positions which they are best qualified to hold. It is possible that women will predominate in the smaller political units, the town and the county. These offices seem to demand just the combination of capacities and interest most likely to be found among women. They demand faithful, business-like attention to details and simple, intelligent integrity and matter-of-course enforcement of law."

It is regarded as rather out of the line of the expected order of things for women to hold the office of county sheriff. The three that were elected in Wisconsin are accounted for by the statutory provision prohibiting a sheriff from succeeding himself in office in that state. The women recently elected are merely succeeding their husbands and by appointing their husbands deputy sheriffs they get around the law and keep the offices in the family.

Not many figures have been collected as to women in city, town, or village offices, but Connecticut leads with 339 in 1927 as compared with 80 in 1926. Minnesota has 134 this year as against 58 last year, three of them being mayors. Seattle, Washington, also has a woman mayor.

In all, seven women have been elected members of the national House of Representatives since Miss Jeanette Rankin blazed the trail in 1916. Three of them are members of the present Congress.

Practical Political Work.

In the way of practical political work in 1928, aside from seeking office where the seeking is good, women through their national and state organizations will continue balloting classes; conduct round tables, discussion groups, citizenship schools, and institutes of government and politics; provide service to voters, such as political calendars, information booths, sample ballots, and digests of election laws; send questionnaires to candidates and give out non-partisan information on candidates and issues; hold candidates' meetings; work for the appointment of women as election officials, encourage women to become active in the parties of their choice; stress the importance of taking part in the nomination of candidates, and stand back of the direct primary as the best method of nomination.

Women will also try to improve registration and election machinery by supporting registration at times and places convenient for voters, reasonable residence requirements for voters, suitable polling places, efficient judges and clerks, precincts small enough so that there may be no long waiting at the polls, corrupt practice acts giving assurance of a fair count of ballots cast, a short ballot, and improvement of absentee voting regulations and encouragement of their use.

Studies made of different types of communities in five states show that the percentage of women who vote is smaller than that of men. The head of the family holds the best record, as a voter, and next to him come the son and daughter, and last the wife. Persons belonging to the middle-age group have the largest voting percentage, and those of the youngest group the lowest percentage. The better the education, the higher the voting percentage of the group, and a very small per cent of the total eligible voters never use their vote.

The failure of so many women to exercise their newly won right of the franchise is the chief concern of the League of Women Voters, it is reiterated, and is the reason for the league existence. Leaders of the organization believe that this will be remedied and a change brought about, not by intensive get-out-the-vote campaigns shortly before election days, but by an all the year round persistent effort through political education to stimulate the participation of women in government.

The tender bran of the oat adds extra value to this nourishing food

Children are gloriously well when their special needs are met with simple foods. A bowl of Quick Mother's Oats with milk is one of the best of the "growth foods" now considered so important.

Often cereals lose much of their natural value through being too highly refined. Children especially need the tender bran as it is found in Quick Mother's Oats, and that is one reason child health specialists approve it so highly.

A bowl of Quick Mother's Oats and milk is rich, too, in vitamins and minerals indispensable for sound, normal growth. And a cup of each a day supplies 23% of the tissue-building protein a growing child must have.

And how children love the natural whole-grain flavor!

For many years the careful millers of Quick Mother's Oats have studied ways of milling to keep this flavor—and to make a fine, even meal that cooks up always the way you like it—smooth and even!

So that mothers who realize the importance of oatmeal as a "growth food" find in this 50-year-old brand a quality they can always trust.

Two kinds—the kind you have always known or Quick (cooks in 2½ to 5 minutes). Both with coupons interchangeable with Aunt Jemima coupons, for lovely linens, curtains, jewelry.

By Charles P. Stewart.

WASHINGTON, May 17.—No wonder prohibition's leadership in Washington has seemed erratic of late. No wonder recent dry politices at the capital have taken directions it was hard to understand.

WAYNE B WHEELER

Wayne B. Wheeler is about to pass out of the picture, they say.

He's a very sick man, according to his friends.

Everything possible appears to have been done to minimize the seriousness of his illness, in the hope that he might mend, but at last it's admitted that he has been in failing health for months.

POLITICALLY speaking, Wayne B. Wheeler's has been about the last word on the subject of national prohibition for around ten years.

The drys, it's to be borne in mind, didn't come into power as a party but as a non-partisan force. They never have been the government, as the dominant party is. Instead, they've told officialdom what they wanted. To do this they needed a spokesman and that's what Wayne B. Wheeler's been—plus a great deal more.

Originally Wheeler was spokesman solely for the Anti-Saloon League, which is only one among a number of prohibition organizations, but most, if not all, of the others presently accepted him as theirs, too, simply because they recognized in him the ideal man for the job.

FOR his place, Wheeler was a perfect fit.

It isn't quite exact to say he was a leader. He never was official head even of his own group, the Anti-Saloon League. Officially he was, and is its general counsel.

More accurately, as to prohibition, he was an embodiment. When he expressed himself, as prohibition's spokesman, it was prohibition expressing itself.

Good team work on all the dry organizations' part was vital and Wheeler was the diplomat to insure it.

He had intelligence and determination and courage, a flair of upblicity, endless patience, boundless industry and enthusiasm, and he never loses his head.

Wets don't like him but no wet who knows him ever denied he's a wonderful man.

AS a dry politician it's safe to say Wheeler hasn't an equal in the United State.

All the politics he knows, he knows from the dry standpoint, but from that angle he knows it in all its ramifications, unto the third and fourth generations, both ways.

It goes without saying that no cause can lose a general like this without suffering a certain amount of disorganization, and there are signs of it in the drys' ranks.

The struggles over Roy A. Haynes, as a candidate for the permanent post as prohibition czar, is just one of them.

INDEED, rumor hath it that the Haynes row isn't so much over Haynes as it is a test of strength to determine who shall step into Wheeler's shoes.

It's no cinch that anybody can fill them.

Somebody can be chosen, of course, but can he hold the faithful together and lead 'em as warily as Wheeler has?

Prominently mentioned possibilities are:

F. Scott McBride of the Anti-Saloon league, who has been acting as Wheeler's assistant in recent months; Dr. Clarence True Wilson of the Methodist Episcopal Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals, and Dr. E. W. Dinwiddie of the National Temperance Bureau.

SOCIETY

House of David Band Will Play at Park on Saturday

The House of David band, direct from their colony at Benton Harbor, Mich., will play for the dance at Rock Springs Park next Saturday night.

This band will be brought to Virginia Gardens at a considerable expense to the park management. It recently filled a week's engagement at Meyers Lake park, Canton, and has appeared at other ball rooms in the tri-state district.

The House of David band is not a one-star organization but a group of trained musicians, all members of the famous cult of which "King" Benjamin Purnell was once leader. Their program includes the latest jazz selections, parodies on all the song hits of bygone days and other specialties.

The park management has also booked Howard Thomas and his original Cotton Pickers' orchestra for an indefinite engagement at the Virginia Gardens. This orchestra-band is now on the Junior Orpheum circuit.

The Kit Kat club of the Beaver Valley conducted a dance at the park last night. Music was in charge of Cornwell's Cavaliers, of Philadelphia.

Missionary Society Meeting.

Forty-five persons attended the coverdish party given last evening at 6 o'clock, in the social room of the Methodist Protestant church by the Woman's Foreign Missionary society. The affair was in the form of a get together meeting.

Following the dinner, four groups were organized to raise money. Miss Alma Taylor gave a report of the Pittsburgh branch meeting of the society. Mrs. C. H. Risinger read a letter from Miss Theresa Frank, a missionary in India.

Special guests were Mesdames Claire Nichols, E. K. Bennett, Otto Swan, Alley Buckley and Mrs. Harry Smith of Bedford.

The next meeting will be held on Monday, June 20.

Mrs. Homer Secrest Hostess.

The Esther Bible club was entertained last evening at the home of Mrs. Homer Secrest in Vine street. Responses to roll call were quotations on "Friendship." The tenth chapter of the study book, "Pastoral and Personal," was the topic. Miss Virginia Usler discussed "The Place of the Epistles" and "Paul's Fourth Missionary Journey." Miss Hazel Laughlin read a paper prepared by Mrs. Grace Howard on "The Questions Discussed," "Paul's Last Declaration of His Faith" and "The Epistle to Timothy." Miss Margaret Baum told of "The Epistle to Titus" and "The Second Epistle to Timothy." Miss Helen Welch reviewed "Esther."

This was the last meeting of the club season.

Needlework Society Entertains.

Members of the Young Ladies' Needlework society of St. John's Lutheran church entertained last evening in the social room of the church with a coverdish party at 6 o'clock, honoring the birthday anniversary of Dr. J. G. Reinartz, pastor. Spring flowers adorned the table. The honor guest was presented with a bouquet of roses.

The dinner was served by Mesdames Robert Miller, Carl Gruber, Jr., and George Welsh, and Miss Pauline Veigel. Covers were arranged for 28.

A musical program followed the dinner. Miss Esther Leva presided at the piano.

Miss Elizabeth Kindsvatter was a special guest.

The next meeting will be held Tuesday, May 31, at the home of Mrs. Neil McIntosh, Stop 55 on the Y. & O.

Spring Tints

(Copyright 1927)

Gaily colored frocks this Spring! Underthings in soft shades to match. Tint them in ordinary water—but with true dyes. Dipping will do it—in ordinary cold water—but you must have real dye to get a smooth, perfectly even tone.

Diamond dye powder is fifteen cents at any drugstore; so why do half a job with something not half so effective? And when you want the tint to be permanent, just dip in boiling water instead of cold!

The druggist has color cards and simple directions for doing perfect dyeing of all sorts of material; silk or wool; linen, cotton goods; mixed goods, or any goods at all; and exquisite tinting of dainty things. Or, send for a marvelous book of suggestions in fall colors. Ask for Color Craft! Address DIAMOND DYES, Dept. N31, Burlington, Vermont.

"Ride 'Em, Cowboy, Ride 'Em"

If you have any idea that Cowboy "Mathews" stunt is an easy one, forget it. It takes grit and plenty of it to go through a grind of five days and nights handcuffed to the steering wheel.

In addition to stamina on the driver's part, it takes a good car fueled up with the absolute best gasoline and oil and we don't mind telling the whole blue-eyed world that we are furnishing both on Cowboy Mathews' preseut endurance run.

When Mr. Mathews first hit town he made some searching tests and of course MARATHON was his choice. Ask him if you have the opportunity, what he thinks of it.

MARATHON gasoline is made for the motorist who takes pride in the performance of his car, for the motorist who demands a full quota of comfort and assurance without extra expense, for the motorist who wishes to keep his motor young and lusty, in a word its made for the motorist who wants to protect every point of his motor car investment.

Regardless if you want to make an endurance run similar to the present one, or if you just use your car in an ordinary way, MARATHON will respond to every one of your requirements. Will you try some?

SOCIETY

House of David Band Will Play at Park on Saturday

The House of David band, direct from their colony at Benton Harbor, Mich., will play for the dance at Rock Springs Park next Saturday night.

This band will be brought to Virginia Gardens at a considerable expense to the park management. It recently filled a week's engagement at Meyers Lake park, Canton, and has appeared at other ball rooms in the tri-state district.

The House of David band is not a one-star organization but a group of trained musicians, all members of the famous cult of which "King" Benjamin Purnell was once leader. Their program includes the latest jazz selections, parodies on all the song hits of bygone days and other specialties.

The park management has also booked Howard Thomas and his original Cotton Pickers' orchestra for an indefinite engagement at the Virginia Gardens. This orchestra-band is now on the Junior Orpheum circuit.

The Kit Kat club of the Beaver Valley conducted a dance at the park last night. Music was in charge of Cornwell's Cavaliers, of Philadelphia.

Missionary Society Meeting.

Forty-five persons attended the coverdish party given last evening at 6 o'clock, in the social room of the Methodist Protestant church by the Woman's Foreign Missionary society. The affair was in the form of a get together meeting.

The next meeting will be held on Monday, June 20.

Spring Tints

(Copyright 1927)

Gaily colored frocks this Spring! Underthings in soft shades to match. Tint them in ordinary water—but with true dyes. Dipping will do it—in ordinary cold water—but you must have real dye to get a smooth, perfectly even tone.

Diamond dye powder is fifteen cents at any drugstore; so why do half a job with something not half so effective? And when you want the tint to be permanent, just dip in boiling water instead of cold!

The druggist has color cards and simple directions for doing perfect dyeing of all sorts of material; silk or wool; linen, cotton goods; mixed goods, or any goods at all; and exquisite tinting of dainty things. Or, send for a marvelous book of suggestions in fall colors. Ask for Color Craft! Address DIAMOND DYES, Dept. N31, Burlington, Vermont.

LEGION'S TRIP TO PARIS MAY COST BUT $300

Minimum Expense Figured by Convention Officer.

TO LEAVE SEPT. 5

Trip Figured to Include Battlefield Tours.

COLUMBUS, O., May 17.—A trip to Paris for the ninth annual convention of The American Legion in September from Indianapolis, the approximate center of population of the United States, can be made with comfort for $300 it is estimated by J. J. Saslavsky, of Columbus, Department France Convention Officer for this state. This figure will allow $42.50 for incidentals that the veteran may buy to make his trip more enjoyable.

While the cost of the Paris pilgrimage will vary as the taste and pocketbook of the individual Legionnaire there will probably be many of the veterans who will make the journey with a minimum expense record. Legionnaires traveling on the expense record of $300 will live in luxury on the second trip over as compared to that first trip in wartime. Under the advantageous travel rates obtained by the Legion the veterans will spend less per day than the ordinary automobile summer tour in this country would cost.

The minimum expense record for the Paris convention as figured from the Hoosier state by the Department France Convention Officer follows:

Sept. 5—Leave Indianapolis.
Round trip railway fare	$ 29.20
Pullman to New York	9.00
Meals	3.00
Service on train	.50

	$257.50

of The American Legion, at National The France Convention Committee headquarters, Indianapolis, Indiana, has prepared for distribution a two-color steamship folder giving full travel plans for the Paris trip.

She Got Rid of Those Two Bad Mornings

Menstruation is a perfectly natural process, but the painful part is NEEDLESS. Long study has absolutely conquered menstrual pain. Science now offers women reliable and complete relief—in a simple, utterly harmless tablet called midol.

This newest achievement of the laboratory has nothing to do with drastic, habit-forming drugs that kill pain by benumbing the whole system! Midol acts directly on the organs affected by menstruation, and nowhere else. Yet relief and absolute comfort come in five to seven minutes!

So, why have a twinge of pain—feel "low" or even uncomfortable? Or take anything to depress the heart or upset the system? All drug stores have midol in a thin aluminum box that tucks in purse or pocket — for 50 cents.

Battles Robbers

While Patrolman Howard L. Weber of Buffalo, N .Y., was drinking a soda in the prescription room of a drug store he heard the command "hands up" issue from the front of the store. Weber, stepping into the doorway, beheld three masked bandits holding up a clerk. When the battle was ended one bandit lay dead, another was taken to a hospital with bullets in his head and chest and the third, who was near the door, made his escape. Although 10 bullets were aimed at the policeman he was uninjured.

Soft lustrous lingerie and yet washed many times

HARD WATER + = PLUS MEL'O MAKES SOFT WATER

IT WAS very precious. It was very soiled. It had to be washed—well. The usual care was taken. Why wasn't this lingerie utterly ruined? Lingerie often is, no matter how careful you are in washing it. Why? It was washed in water softened with Melo.

Hard water ruins lingerie because soap combining with the hardness in hard water forms a scum. That scum gets into the fine fibers of the fabric. It can't be rinsed out or washed out. But you try. The result is either lingerie which isn't clean or lingerie ruined utterly.

Use Melo. It makes all hard water completely soft. A pinch in the washbowl makes the water soft as rain water. Wash your lingerie in that. Two tablespoonfuls in the bath prevent the forming of that scummy ring around the tub. A teaspoonful in the dishpan keeps the greasy feel out of the dish-water. Melo saves ⅓ to ½ the amount of soap ordinarily used.

Keep a can of Melo in the kitchen, in the laundry, in the bathroom. Get it at your grocer's.

The water in East Liverpool is 9 times as hard as it should be. Two tablespoonfuls of Melo will soften a bathtub full of water. Two tablespoonfuls in the washtubs. One teaspoonful in the dishpan.

LEGION'S TRIP TO PARIS MAY COST BUT $300

Minimum Expense Figured by Convention Officer.

Trip Figured to Include Battlefield Tours.

COLUMBUS, O., May 17.—A trip to Paris for the ninth annual convention of The American Legion in September from Indianapolis, the approximate center of population of the United States, can be made with comfort for $300 it is estimated by J. J. Saslavsky, of Columbus, Department France Convention Officer for this state. This figure will allow $42.50 for incidentals that the veteran may buy to make his trip more enjoyable.

While the cost of the Paris pilgrimage will vary as the taste and pocketbook of the individual Legionnaire there will probably be many of the veterans who will make the journey with a minimum expense record. Legionnaires traveling on the expense record of $300 will live in luxury on the second trip over as compared to that first trip in wartime. Under the advantageous travel rates obtained by the Legion the veterans will spend less per day than the ordinary automobile summer tour in this country would cost.

The minimum expense record for the Paris convention as figured from the Hoosier state by the Department France Convention Officer follows:

Sept. 5—Leave Indianapolis.
Round trip railway fare	$ 29.20
Pullman to New York	9.00

$300 minimum price. $42.50 allowed for incidentals.

of The American Legion, at National The France Convention Committee headquarters, Indianapolis, Indiana, has prepared for distribution a two-color steamship folder giving full travel plans for the Paris trip.

She Got Rid of Those Two Bad Mornings

Menstruation is a perfectly natural process, but the painful part is NEEDLESS. Long study has absolutely conquered menstrual pain. Science now offers women reliable and complete relief—in a simple, utterly harmless tablet called midol.

This newest achievement of the laboratory has nothing to do with drastic, habit-forming drugs that kill pain by benumbing the whole system! Midol acts directly on the organs affected by menstruation, and nowhere else. Yet relief and absolute comfort come in five to seven minutes!

So, why have a twinge of pain—feel "low" or even uncomfortable? Or take anything to depress the heart or upset the system? All drug stores have midol in a thin aluminum box that tucks in purse or pocket — for 50 cents.

Soft lustrous lingerie and yet washed many times

HARD WATER + = PLUS MEL'O MAKES SOFT WATER

IT WAS very precious. It was very soiled. It had to be washed—well. The usual care was taken. Why wasn't this lingerie utterly ruined? Lingerie often is, no matter how careful you are in washing it. Why? It was washed in water softened with Melo.

Hard water ruins lingerie because soap combining with the hardness in hard water forms a scum. That scum gets into the fine fibers of the fabric. It can't be rinsed out or washed out. But you try. The result is either lingerie which isn't clean or lingerie ruined utterly.

Use Melo. It makes all hard water completely soft. A pinch in the washbowl makes the water soft as rain water. Wash your lingerie in that. Two tablespoonfuls in the bath prevent the forming of that scummy ring around the tub. A teaspoonful in the dishpan keeps the greasy feel out of the dish-water. Melo saves ⅓ to ½ the amount of soap ordinarily used.

Keep a can of Melo in the kitchen, in the laundry, in the bathroom. Get it at your grocer's.

The water in East Liverpool is 9 times as hard as it should be. Two tablespoonfuls of Melo will soften a bathtub full of water. Two tablespoonfuls in the washtubs. One teaspoonful in the dishpan.

KILLING OF TWO MARINES IN NICARAGUA CONFIRMED

TWO OTHER MEN ARE WOUNDED BY GUERILLAS

Dozen of Attackers Fall When Americans Fire.

CAPTAIN SLAIN

Most of Liberals Surrender; Cartridges, Guns Seized.

MANAGUA, May 17.—The attack on United States marines at La Paz Centro, resulting in the death of Captain Richard Buchanan and the wounding of two enlisted men, does not indicate any general movement on the part of the rebels to continue guerilla warfare against the Americans, according to the best opinion here.

The major portion of the liberals have already surrendered their arms to the American marines at Thipitapa.

Two million cartridges, three thousand guns and forty machine guns already have bene surrendered.

Statements issued by Dr. Sacasa, liberal leader at Puerto Cabezas, declaring that his soldiers will fight until death and bitterly criticizing the Stimson peace plan, are regarded here as being statements issued largely for home consumption. Dr. Sacasa's followers in the field have surrendered generally.

WASHINGTON, May 17. — A dispatch to the navy today from Rear Admiral Julian L. Latimer confirmed the killing of two U. S. marines and the wounding of two others in a clash with Nicaraguan guerillas at La Paz Centro.

The dead are Capt. Richard Buchanan of Washington, nad Private Martin A. Jackson, of Jacksonville. Fla., the wounded, private Wm. F. Simon and Corp. A. J. Rausch.

Two hundred guerillas attacked the marine encampment, the dispatch said, and a dozen of the attackers were killed when the marines returned the fire.

Capt. Buchanan joined the marines in 1917, after graduating from the University of Illinois. His mother, Mrs. G. B. Buchanan, lives near Plainfield, N. J., a wife and three children survive in Washington.

Next of kin of Jackson is Mrs. G. W. Everett, 220 North Jefferson St., Chicago.

Rausch, a native of Hungary, left no next of kin and had no dependents.

Donahey Pardons Two

office this morning that neither Bouklias nor Turner knew they were pardoned. Authorization for their release, Jacob Meckstroth, secretary to the governor, announced, will be sent to Warden P. E. Thomas, at the penitentiary immediately, and the two men will be liberated today.

Bouklias, also known as "Harry, the Greek," charged with being a bootlegger, and Turner, accused of being a gambler, both well known in the Canton underworld, testified that graft had been collected for Curtis from proprietors of gambling houses and various other places of vice in Canton.

This testimony was submitted both to the grand jury at Canton and at an investigation conducted here by Governor Donahey.

Officials at the governor's office appeared to be unable to credit the report that Bouklias and Turner, while incarcerated in the penitentiary here, furnished valuable information to Detective Ora Slater, Cincinnati, and to public officials who participated in the prosecution of persons accused of taking part in the murder of Don R. Mellett, publisher of the Canton Daily News.

Clemency Board Urged Action.

Governor Donahey's action in extending executive clemency to Bouklias and Turner followed receipt by the governor of a letter from Price Russell and Dan W. Williams, members of the state clemency board, who recommended commutation so that their sentences would expire May 16 (Monday).

The board, also, submitted to the governor letters addressed to Turner and to Bouklias by Common Pleas Judge Abram W. Agler, Canton, and former Prosecuting Attorney C. B. McClintock, Stark county, respectively, who favored liberation of the two prisoners.

Judge Agler was the trial judge and McClintock prosecuted the cases against Bouklias and Turner as well as against Curtis.

So-Called "Patent Medicine Craze" Hit

American Public is Being "Bunked" to Tune of Millions of Dollars a Year, Says Dr. A. J. Cramp.

WASHINGTON, May 17.—The American public is being "bunked" to the tune of millions of dollars a year by the so-called "patent medicine" craze, it was declared today by Dr. A. J. Cramp, of Chicago, head of the bureau of investigation of the American medical association.

The ailing middle aged, who buy quick remedies, and women, who purchase useless and sometimes harmful cosmetics, are proving that "you can fool some of the people all the time," Cramp said. The medical association, with its 4,000 physicians in convention here, he added, has launched an educational drive to warn the public against all "bunk" remedies.

The cosmetic situation was being considered by the house of delegates, the conventions' legislative body, where a resolution pended calling on congress to enact a law regulating the manufacture and sale of beautifiers. The resolution was sponsored by the New York State Medical association, after many cases of cosmetic poisonings were discovered.

Huge Exhibits Staged.

Huge exhibits were staged at the convention to demonstrate how easily the American public can be "bunked." The exhibits will be sent around the country in an effort to warn the general public.

"Nearly all these patent medicines are the bunk, said Dr. Cramp. Our investigation shows that they are three groups. First, the medicines which are distinctly harmful because they contain habit forming drugs; second, those which are wholly harmless and therefore worthless; and third, some drugs, which have certain beneficial effect, but which are advertised to effect cures which are absolutely without justification."

Some of the exhibits were laugh-provoking. There was one "skin whitener," selling at $2.72 a pound box, which was found to be nothing more than Epsom's salts, colored. There was a famous facial clay, advertised as certain to clear complexions, give the skin color, remove blackheads and to revitalize nerve centers. It was analyzed, the bureau of investigation reported, and found to be "one-half crude clay and one-half water."

Warns Against "Freckle Removers."

A special warning was issued against freckle removers. One compound, the bureau said, was analyzed and "government chemists found that its chief ingredient is a caustic poisona—ammoniated mercury."

The ladies, subject to obesity, were also warned against "fat reducing cures." One very well known fat reducing compound was found to be nothing but "Washington soda," the bureau reported, while another was found to contain "alum, alcohol and water." The latter was sold for $25 a bottle and cost but 30 cents to make.

The physicians likewise warned against "hair restorers," the bureau declaring "no hair dye will restore the color of the hair; it will merely dye it." "Many hair-dyes contain dangerous substances," the bureau added, "including aniline derivatives, lead salts or silver salts. The first may produce a skin eruption, the others may poison the system."

Men Bunked, Too.

The bureau warned against "consumption cures" and cited numerous instances where the manufacturers published testimonials from "patients who were cured," but who in reality "died of consumption" months previously. The death certificates were attached.

And there was a maternity compound sold under the claim that it will make childbirth easier, but which was found to consist of an oil and a small quantity of soap."

Oh, yes, the men are being bunked too, the bureau reported. There is a dandruff massage, which "when analyzed in the American Medical association's chemical laboratory, was found to contain kerosene, alcohol, water, quinine, perfume and dye. It costs 20 cents a gallon and sells for $48 a gallon. Bald-headed optimists pay the bill."

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, May 17.—Sharp recoveries in the railroad stocks, with moderate recoveries in the industrials and motors, but further declines in the oil stocks, marked the course of the early trading in the stock market today. A slight decline in the aggregate of brokers' borrowings, in a period marked by rising prices in the speculative leaders, helped to strengthen the technical position of the market.

The Nickel Plate railroad shares and a few standard dividend-payers, iod. Nickel Plate sold up about 4 points at 220½, while Atchison, Chesaled a moderately rally in the first perpeake and Ohio, New York Central, Western Maryland and Kansas City Southern advanced to 3 points. Hocking Valley had a rapid turnover in the odd-lot section.

American Petroleum instituted showed a considerable falling off in crude oil production, while steel mill operations were shown to have held steadily Call money renewals 4½ per cent.

A few of the motor and utility stocks reached a higher level of prices in the first hour, but there was plenty of stock for sale a point or two above Monday's closing prices, and it was therefore impossible for the list as a whole to make any pronounced headway. The market as a whole was dull and narrow in this period, with professionals dominating its activity.

Grain and cotton were irregular in the early trading, with narrow price changes. Foreign exchange was firm

Ashbaugh, who died Sunday night in her home in East Palestine after a short illness of pneumonia, will be held at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon at 1072 St. Clair avenue, in charge of Rev. Dr. J. G. Besides her husband, she leaves one brother, Fred C. Nagel, of East Liverpool.

NOTE REVEALS SUICIDE PLAN

Relatives Find Message Written by Late Mrs. Ethel Wasson.

A note, revealing the intention of Mrs. Ethel Wasson, 28, wife of John Wasson, who died last Thursday afternoon from the effects of a bullet wound in her head, to commit suicide, was found yesterday, police said today.

The note, written on one page of a diary, was found in the drawer of a dresser in Mrs. Wasson's bedroom. It was addressed to her husband whom she called "Hossie." It read:

"Please forgive me. I love you and mama, Sam and Alma and all your people. You have done all you can do for me. It's my health that is making me do this. Goodbye, you have been good to me."

The woman was found dying by her husband when he returned from work last Thursday afternoon. She was lying on the floor with a bullet hole near her right hand.

Coroner J. M. Van Fossan, East Palestine, who conducted an inquest, could find no powder burns on the woman's skin near the bullet wound, indicating that the gun was not fired at close range. After examining a number of witnesses he rendered a verdict of "suicide by shooting."

Mrs. Wasson, police claim, underwent treatment in a state institution for the insane a few months ago. She had been under a doctor's care for a nervous trouble for several weeks.

SEEK WEAPON USED TO KILL PRETTY GIRL

PICK UP CLUE

Chemists Analyze Stains on Clothing of Suspects.

CLEVELAND, May 17.—A brick mantelpiece in the East End apartment where Elizabeth Reagan was stabbed to death here Saturday night, was to be torn out today by police in an attempt to find the weapon used by the murderer of the pretty young divorcee.

Detectives, working overtime on the case, which climaxed a series of unsolved murders of women here in the recent past, were questioning several men, being held for investigation, while chemists were analyzing supposed blood stains found on the clothing of a suspect who lived in the neighborhood of the girl's room.

The latest clue which is considered the most valuable so far, according to police, developed when the identity of a man who Saturday afternoon sent a mysterious telephone message to the restaurant where the girl was employed as a waitress, was learned.

The theory advanced by the police is that the crime was committed by a jealous lover, whose affection was not returned by the young woman and who finally flew into a rage over her indifference.

Among the men being held were the following: A former manager of a restaurant where the victim once worked; a Spaniard, who once kept company with a one-time roommate of the slain woman; a member of the National guard who was a suitor of the girl and the neighbor in whose rooms detectives say they found several articles of clothing bearing what was believed to be blood stains.

When questioned this man claimed he was subject to nose-bleed, but it was decided to hold him until the stains are analyzed.

Rogers expressed some disappointment that Millicent did not choose a resident of the United States this time.

Ramos is about 30 years old, stands six feet four inches, is devoted to tennis and winter sports and is described by his friends as a "divine dancer." In fact, the Argentine is almost a prototype of Count Salm except he has a private fortune where the Austrian nobleman was not so fortunate.

Popular With Paris Smart Set.

The Argentine is very popular with the Paris smart set, in which circle he is well known, especially among the North Americans. He is fond of automobiling and owns two powerful motor cars.

When it was recalled to the countess that, at the time of her divorce she said she would marry an American if she took another husband, she laughed as she replied:

"Well, 'Arturazo' is a South American, but he is more of a North American than he is of the European type. His many North American friends have 'Americanized' him."

Col. and Mrs. Rogers and little Peter Salm, young son of the countess, are at present in Paris.

FANATICS PLAN PHILIPPINE RAID

MANILA, P. I., May 17.—Believing Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana to be an apostle of independence, fanatic followers of Flor Iintrencherado, self-styled "emperor of the Philippines," are planning to raid the provincial government of Occidental negroes, it was reported today.

Information to this effect was telegraphed to Manila by Captain De Jesus, commander of the provincial constabulary. De Jesus added, however, that adequate precautions were taken.

300 RESCUED IN FLOOD ZONE

Melville Levee on Atchafalaya River Breaks.

NEW ORLEANS, La., May 7.—Three hundred men and women, some with children in arms, are being rescued by coast guardsmen today from limbs of trees and roof tops to which they were driven when the flood waters from the Bayou De Glaises swept over their refuge on Reeds Hill.

Pierre Gastrand, an alligator hunter brought word to Opelousas that the plight of the refugees at Reeds Hill was desperate, and a fleet of 40 surf boats manned with coast guardsmen set out at once for the spot.

Reeds Hill is a highland behind Morrow, in St. Landry parish, and for generations has been the refuge for descendants of the Arcadians who settled this country.

Town is Evacuated.

BATON ROUGE, La., May 17.—The Melville levee on the Atchafalaya river broke today, according to reports reaching relief headquarters here.

The break will not inundate any new territory, it was said, but will hasten the movement of the flood waters toward the gulf.

Melville was being evacuated today.

While flood waters released by the disintegration of the 50-mile Bayou Des Glaises levees swept southward through St. Landry parish today, new armies labored under emergency orders on the east bank of the Mississippi in a desperate attempt to hold the levees at Plaquemin Point, 18 miles south of Baton Rouge.

The waters have broken through the Plaquemine Point barriers eight times during the last three days, two breaks having been finally sealed early today after almost 24 hours' work. The levees along more than a two-mile front are so thoroughly saturated that one walking along the base sinks almost ankle deep in mud and seepage.

A crevesse in this section of the main channel levee would flood portions of East Baton Rouge, Ascension and Livingston parishes, and spill through the Bayou Manchau and the Amite river into Lake Maurepas and thence to Lake Pontchartrain, at the back door of New Orleans.

KILLING OF TWO MARINES IN NICARAGUA CONFIRMED

TWO OTHER MEN ARE WOUNDED BY GUERILLAS

Dozen of Attackers Fall When Americans Fire.

CAPTAIN SLAIN

Most of Liberals Surrender; Cartridges, Guns Seized.

MANAGUA, May 17.—The attack on United States marines at La Paz Centro, resulting in the death of Captain Richard Buchanan and the wounding of two enlisted men, does not indicate any general movement on the part of the rebels to continue guerilla warfare against the Americans, according to the best opinion here.

The major portion of the liberals have already surrendered their arms to the American marines at Thipitapa.

Two million cartridges, three thousand guns and forty machine guns already have bene surrendered.

Statements issued by Dr. Sacasa, liberal leader at Puerto Cabezas, declaring that his soldiers will fight until death and bitterly criticizing the Stimson peace plan, are regarded here as being statements issued largely for home consumption. Dr. Sacasa's followers in the field have surrendered generally.

WASHINGTON, May 17. — A dispatch to the navy today from Rear Admiral Julian L. Latimer confirmed the killing of two U. S. marines and the wounding of two others in a clash with Nicaraguan guerillas at La Paz Centro.

The dead are Capt. Richard Buchanan of Washington, nad Private Martin A. Jackson, of Jacksonville, Fla., the wounded, private Wm. F. Simon and Corp. A. J. Rausch.

Two hundred guerillas attacked the marine encampment, the dispatch said, and a dozen of the attackers were killed when the marines returned the fire.

Capt. Buchanan joined the marines in 1917, after graduating from the University of Illinois. His mother, Mrs. G. B. Buchanan, lives near Plainfield, N. J., a wife and three children survive in Washington.

Next of kin of Jackson is Mrs. G. W. Everett, 220 North Jefferson St., Chicago.

Rausch, a native of Hungary, left no next of kin and had no dependents.

Donahey Pardons Two

office this morning that neither Bouklias nor Turner knew they were pardoned. Authorization for their release, Jacob Meckstroth, secretary to the governor, announced, will be sent to Warden P. E. Thomas, at the penitentiary immediately, and the two men will be liberated today.

Bouklias, also known as "Harry, the Greek," charged with being a bootlegger, and Turner, accused of being a gambler, both well known in the Canton underworld, testified that graft had been collected for Curtis from proprietors of gambling houses and various other places of vice in Canton.

This testimony was submitted both to the grand jury at Canton and at an investigation conducted here by Governor Donahey.

Officials at the governor's office appeared to be unable to credit the report that Bouklias and Turner, while incarcerated in the penitentiary here, furnished valuable information to Detective Ora Slater, Cincinnati, and to public officials who participated in the prosecution of persons accused of taking part in the murder of Don R. Mellett, publisher of the Canton Daily News.

Clemency Board Urged Action.

Governor Donahey's action in extending executive clemency to Bouklias and Turner followed receipt by the governor of a letter from Price Russell and Dan W. Williams, members of the state clemency board, who recommended commutation so that their sentences would expire May 16 (Monday).

The board, also, submitted to the governor letters addressed to Turner and to Bouklias by Common Pleas Judge Abram W. Agler, Canton, and former Prosecuting Attorney C. B. McClintock, Stark county, respectively, who favored liberation of the two prisoners.

Judge Agler was the trial judge and McClintock prosecuted the cases against Bouklias and Turner as well as against Curtis.

Two of the three persons arrested upon arson charges following the blaze pleaded guilty but the third stood trial and was acquitted. Suspended sentences were given the two youths, who claimed they had been employed by the third party to set fire to the building.

So-Called "Patent Medicine Craze" Hit

American Public is Being "Bunked" to Tune of Millions of Dollars a Year, Says Dr. A. J. Cramp.

WASHINGTON, May 17.—The American public is being "bunked" to the tune of millions of dollars a year by the so-called "patent medicine" craze, it was declared today by Dr. A. J. Cramp, of Chicago, head of the bureau of investigation of the American medical association.

The ailing middle aged, who buy quick remedies, and women, who purchase useless and sometimes harmful cosmetics, are proving that "you can fool some of the people all the time," Cramp said. The medical association, with its 4,000 physicians in convention here, he added, has launched an educational drive to warn the public against all "bunk" remedies.

The cosmetic situation was being considered by the house of delegates, the conventions' legislative body, where a resolution pended calling on congress to enact a law regulating the manufacture and sale of beautifiers. The resolution was sponsored by the New York State Medical association, after many cases of cosmetic poisonings were discovered.

Huge Exhibits Staged.

Huge exhibits were staged at the convention to demonstrate how easily the American public can be "bunked." The exhibits will be sent around the country in an effort to warn the general public.

"Nearly all these patent medicines are the bunk, said Dr. Cramp. Our investigation shows that they are three groups. First, the medicines which are distinctly harmful because they contain habit forming drugs; second, those which are wholly harmless and therefore worthless; and third, some drugs, which have certain beneficial effect, but which are advertised to effect cures which are absolutely without justification."

Some of the exhibits were laugh-provoking. There was one "skin whitener," selling at $2.72 a pound box, which was found to be nothing more than Epsom's salts, colored. There was a famous facial clay, advertised as certain to clear complexions, give the skin color, remove blackheads and to revitalize nerve centers. It was analyzed, the bureau of investigation reported, and found to be "one-half crude clay and one-half water."

Warns Against "Freckle Removers."

A special warning was issued against freckle removers. One compound, the bureau said, was analyzed and "government chemists found that its chief ingredient is a caustic poisona—ammoniated mercury."

The ladies, subject to obesity, were also warned against "fat reducing cures." One very well known fat reducing compound was found to be nothing but "Washington soda," the bureau reported, while another was found to contain "alum, alcohol and water." The latter was sold for $25 a bottle and cost but 30 cents to make.

The physicians likewise warned against "hair restorers," the bureau declaring "no hair dye will restore the color of the hair; it will merely dye it." "Many hair-dyes contain dangerous substances," the bureau added, "including aniline derivatives, lead salts or silver salts. The first may produce a skin eruption, the others may poison the system."

Men Bunked, Too.

The bureau warned against "consumption cures" and cited numerous instances where the manufacturers published testimonials from "patients who were cured," but who in reality "died of consumption" months previously. The death certificates were attached.

And there was a maternity compound sold under the claim that it will make childbirth easier, but which was found to consist of an oil and a small quantity of soap."

Oh, yes, the men are being bunked too, the bureau reported. There is a dandruff massage, which "when analyzed in the American Medical association's chemical laboratory, was found to contain kerosene, alcohol, water, quinine, perfume and dye. It costs 20 cents a gallon and sells for $48 a gallon. Bald-headed optimists pay the bill."

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, May 17.—Sharp recoveries in the railroad stocks, with moderate recoveries in the industrials and motors, but further declines in the oil stocks, marked the course of the early trading in the stock market today. A slight decline in the aggregate of brokers' borrowings, in a period marked by rising prices in the speculative leaders, helped to strengthen the technical position of the market.

The Nickel Plate railroad shares and a few standard dividend-payers, iod. Nickel Plate sold up about 4 points at 220¾, while Atchison, Chesaled a moderately rally in the first peake and Ohio, New York Central, Western Maryland and Kansas City Southern advanced to 3 points. Hocking Valley had a rapid turnover in the odd-lot section.

Industrial reports were generally favorable. American Petroleum instituted showed a considerable falling off in crude oil production, while steel mill operations were shown to have held steadily Call money renewals 4½ per cent.

A few of the motor and utility stocks reached a higher level of prices in the first hour, but there was plenty of stock for sale a point or two above Monday's closing prices, and it was therefore impossible for the list as a whole to make any pronounced headway. The market as a whole was dull and narrow in this period, with professionals dominating its activity.

Grain and cotton were irregular in the early trading, with narrow price changes. Foreign exchange was firm

NOTE REVEALS SUICIDE PLAN

Relatives Find Message Written by Late Mrs. Ethel Wasson.

A note, revealing the intention of Mrs. Ethel Wasson, 28, wife of John Wasson, who died last Thursday afternoon from the effects of a bullet wound in her head, to commit suicide, was found yesterday, police said today.

The note, written on one page of a diary, was found in the drawer of a dresser in Mrs. Wasson's bedroom. It was addressed to her husband whom she called "Hossie." It read:

"Please forgive me. I love you and mama, Sam and Alma and all your people. You have done all you can do for me. It's my health that is making me do this. Goodbye, you have been good to me."

The woman was found dying by her husband when he returned from work last Thursday afternoon. She was lying on the floor with a bullet hole near her left ear. A revolver was in her right hand.

Coroner J. M. Van Fossan, East Palestine, who conducted an inquest, could find no powder burns on the woman's skin near the bullet wound, indicating that the gun was not fired at close range. After examining a number of witnesses he rendered a verdict of "suicide by shooting."

Mrs. Wasson, police claim, underwent treatment in a state institution for the insane a few months ago. She had been under a doctor's care for a nervous trouble for several weeks.

SEEK WEAPON USED TO KILL PRETTY GIRL

PICK UP CLUE

Chemists Analyze Stains on Clothing of Suspects.

CLEVELAND, May 17.—A brick mantelpiece in the East End apartment where Elizabeth Reagan was stabbed to death here Saturday night, was to be torn out today by police in an attempt to find the weapon used by the murderer of the pretty young divorcee.

Detectives, working overtime on the case, which climaxed a series of unsolved murders of women here in the recent past, were questioning several men, being held for investigation, while chemists were analyzing supposed blood stains found on the clothing of a suspect who lived in the neighborhood of the girl's room.

The latest clue which is considered the most valuable so far, according to police, developed when the identity of a man who Saturday afternoon sent a mysterious telephone message to the restaurant where the girl was employed as a waitress, was learned.

The theory advanced by the police is that the crime was committed by a jealous lover, whose affection was not returned by the young woman and who finally flew into a rage over her indifference.

Among the men being held were the following: A former manager of a restaurant where the victim once worked; a Spaniard, who once kept company with a one-time roommate of the slain woman; a member of the National guard who was a suitor of the girl and the neighbor in whose rooms detectives say they found several articles of clothing bearing what was believed to be blood stains.

When questioned this man claimed he was subject to nose-bleed, but it was decided to hold him until the stains are analyzed.

Rogers expressed some disappointment that Millicent did not choose a resident of the United States this time.

Ramos is about 30 years old, stands six feet four inches, is devoted to tennis and winter sports and is described by his friends as a "divine dancer." In fact, the Argentine is almost a prototype of Count Salm except he has a private fortune where the Austrian nobleman was not so fortunate.

Popular With Paris Smart Set.

The Argentine is very popular with the Paris smart set, in which circle he is well known, especially among the North Americans. He is fond of automobiling and owns two powerful motor cars.

When it was recalled to the countess that, at the time of her divorce, she said she would marry an American if she took another husband, she laughed as she replied:

"Well, 'Arturazo' is a South American, but he is more of a North American than he is of the European type. His many North American friends have 'Americanized' him."

Col. and Mrs. Rogers and little Peter Salm, young son of the countess, are at present in Paris.

Candidates must certify their petitions not later than Friday, June 10, or 60 days preceding the balloting.

FANATICS PLAN PHILIPPINE RAID

MANILA, P. I., May 17.—Believing Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana to be an apostle of independence, fanatic followers of Flor Iintrenchcrado, self-styled "emperor of the Philippines," are planning to raid the provincial government of Occidental negroes, it was reported today.

Information to this effect was telegraphed to Manila by Captain De Jesus, commander of the provincial constabulary. De Jesus added, however, that adequate precautions were taken.

300 RESCUED IN FLOOD ZONE

Melville Levee on Atchafalaya River Breaks.

NEW ORLEANS, La., May 7.—Three hundred men and women, some with children in arms, are being rescued by coast guardsmen today from limbs of trees and roof tops to which they were driven when the flood waters from the Bayou De Glaises swept over their refuge on Reeds Hill.

Pierre Gastrand, an alligator hunter brought word to Opelousas that the plight of the refugees at Reeds Hill was desperate, and a fleet of 40 surf boats manned with coast guardsmen set out at once for the spot.

Reeds Hill is a highland behind Morrow, in St. Landry parish, and for generations has been the refuge for descendants of the Arcadians who settled this country.

Town is Evacuated.

BATON ROUGE, La., May 17.—The Melville levee on the Atchafalaya river broke today, according to reports reaching relief headquarters here.

The break will not inundate any new territory, it was said, but will hasten the movement of the flood waters toward the gulf.

Melville was being evacuated today.

While flood waters released by the disintegration of the 50-mile Bayou Des Glaises levees swept southward through St. Landry parish today, new armies labored under emergency orders on the east bank of the Mississippi in a desperate attempt to hold the levees at Plaquemin Point, 18 miles south of Baton Rouge.

The waters have broken through the Plaquemine Point barriers eight times during the last three days, two breaks having been finally sealed early today after almost 24 hours' work. The levees along more than a two-mile front are so thoroughly saturated that one walking along the base sinks almost ankle deep in mud and seepage.

A crevesse in this section of the main channel levee would flood portions of East Baton Rouge, Ascension and Livingston parishes, and spill through the Bayou Manchau and the Amite river into Lake Maurepas and thence to Lake Pontchartrain, at the back door of New Orleans.

A schedule will be followed by Mathews each day. In addition to the itinerary which was published yesterday he will make a stop at the Goodwin battery station, East Fourth street, at 1 p. m. each day.

COMMISSIONERS HOLD HEARING

Property Owners on Two Roads Present Claims for Damages.

While the road hearing before the county commissioners Monday was extended because of so many property owners listed along the right of way of the Rogers-Negley road and the Clarkson-Elkton road, the land owners were rather conservative in claims.

Some of the land owners presented written claims when their names were called, others, however, were compelled to consult the plans of the new roads before a record of the claim was made by Clerk L. H. Johnson.

It was indicated by all the property owners attending the meeting that the improvement of either road was desired, and the only question at issue was the reasonablenes of the claims each filed.

The commissioners did not indicate at their meeting Monday what the ultimate result of the conference would be, but it was said that those who did not file claims, or waive damages are now "out of court."

Grading of both roads is to be done this year, and bids for the projects will be sought at an early date. It may follow that bids for the grading of the two jobs will be opened by the commissioners next month. Surfacing of the two roads will be given consideration as soon thereafter as possible.

STELLA DALLAS AT AMERICAN

Eighteen Months Required in Making Melodrama.

A year and a half of careful preparation and planning was spent by Samuel Goldwyn before actually putting into production his screen version of "Stella Dallas," which opened at the American theatre. It is directed by Henry King and features an all-star cast of unusual brilliance. It is the first picture to be distributed by United Artists Corporation under the affiliation of the Samuel Goldwyn units with that organization.

Nearly two years ago, this producer purchased the motion picture rights to this celebrated novel by Olive Higgins Prouty. During all that period he kept up a constant search to find the ideal actress to interpret the title role of "Stella" which reveals a romantic girl at the ages of eighteen, twenty-five and thirty-five.

Tests were made in both Hollywood and New York of seventy-two good possibilities, and finally the great plum, sought by these many prominent personalities of stage and screen, was awarded to Belle Bennett. Literally, the producer and director found their ideal on the studio steps after a search through America and which had even extended into Europe.

Miss Bennett has spent an entire lifetime upon the stage and screen. She comes from a theatrical family, her father having been famous "on the boards" as Billie Bennett. She has had considerable picture experience but "Stella Dallas" gives her the first really big chance she has enjoyed, and observers prophecy for her a tremendous future as a result of her work in this great American drama.

Henry King was not selected to direct "Stella Dallas." He had read the book, knew that Samuel Goldwyn had the screen rights, and asked to be allowed the privilege of picturizing it. It is known that with but a few exceptions Henry King has clung to his ideal to only direct those pictures which he desires to do and on which he sets his heart.

STELLA DALLAS AT AMERICAN

Eighteen Months Required in Making Melodrama.

A year and a half of careful preparation and planning was spent by Samuel Goldwyn before actually putting into production his screen version of "Stella Dallas," which opened at the American theatre. It is directed by Henry King and features an all-star cast of unusual brilliance. It is the first picture to be distributed by United Artists Corporation under the affiliation of the Samuel Goldwyn units with that organization.

Nearly two years ago, this producer purchased the motion picture rights to this celebrated novel by Olive Higgins Prouty. During all that period he kept up a constant search to find the ideal actress to interpret the title role of "Stella" which reveals a romantic girl at the ages of eighteen, twenty-five and thirty-five.

Tests were made in both Hollywood and New York of seventy-two good possibilities, and finally the great plum, sought by these many prominent personalities of stage and screen, was awarded to Belle Bennett. Literally, the producer and director found their ideal on the studio steps after a search through America and which had even extended into Europe.

Miss Bennett has spent an entire lifetime upon the stage and screen. She comes from a theatrical family, her father having been famous "on the boards" as Billie Bennett. She has had considerable picture experience but "Stella Dallas" gives her the first really big chance she has enjoyed, and observers prophecy for her a tremendous future as a result of her work in this great American drama.

Henry King was not selected to direct "Stella Dallas." He had read the book, knew that Samuel Goldwyn had the screen rights, and asked to be allowed the privilege of picturizing it. It is known that with but a few exceptions Henry King has clung to his ideal to only direct those pictures which he desires to do and on which he sets his heart.

YOUTHS BOUND OVER TO COURT

Claire Cunningham and Rodney Johnson Face Serious Charge.

Rodney Johnson, 21, and Claire Cunningham, 19, both residing on the Fairview road, were bound over to await the action of the grand jury on a charge of breaking and entering when arraigned today before Justice A. G. Allison. They were taken to the county jail by Chief of Police William Smith.

The youths were taken into custody about 3:30 this morning while prowling about with a flashlight in the C. T. McCutcheon drug store at the corner of Fifth street and Carolina avenue, Chief Smith said.

An employe of the American Sheet and Tin Plate company, enroute home at 1:30 noticed two persons standing at Fifth street. He informed Chief Smith, and the two men returned and took up their positions in the rear of the Eppley store on the opposite side of the street.

Their vigil was rewarded about an hour later when the chief noticed a light in the cellar of the drug store. Summoning other citizens the police head gained entrance to the store and, he said, found the two suspects.

Several boxes of candy and other articles had been piled up, according to the chief.

Entrance was gained to the basement by opening a transom in the adjoining store and working their way to the lower floor where a partition separated the two business places.

CHESTER PLANS NEW CITY HALL

Mass Meeting of Citizens Called for Friday Night.

Question of erecting a combined city hall and fire station will be discussed at a mass meeting to be held Friday night at 8 o'clock in the I. O. O. F.-K. of P. hall, according to a decision reached last night at a session of council.

A resolution was passed authorizing Mayor Frank H. Riley to call the meeting.

It was pointed out that a building suitable for the purpose could be erected at an approximate cost of $7,000 or $8,000 which would probably serve for about five years. It was suggested that this money be raised by popular subscription. Unless this plan is adopted it is probably that council will authorize a bond issue of larger amount.

Council also adopted reports of the various city officers.

ALLEGED DOPE RING UNCOVERED

An 'alleged' dope ring which officers believe has been operating for the past two years, was unearthed on Sunday evening by Weirton authorities with the arrest of three colored persons. Those under arrest gave their names as Mrs. E. G. Garett of Calico Hill, Weirton; Marie Geter, North Fourth street, Weirton, and E. G. Garett, blacksmith, North street and Marsh alley, Steubenville.

The three under arrest, were taken on Sunday evening from the Weirton police station to the Hancock county jail, where they will be held pending the arrival of the chief of the Narcotic Bureau of the federal government. They will be taken to Elkins, and given a hearing before Judge W. E. Baker.

Weirton authorities suspected a dope ring when a number of negroes were found loitering about the streets, apparently in a drunken and dazed condition although the 'smell' of liquor was not evident. Officers then began to shadow the men, and on Sunday evening found a number of them, coming from the residence occupied by Marie Geter, H. Smith, Nelson and J Smith. Weirton police officers then raided the home, where they found the negress attempting to dispose of a quantity of morphine hidden in her clothing.

SALES TAX LAW IS SUSTAINED

United States Supreme Court Denies Plea of Gas Company.

The West Virginia sales tax law was sustained yesterday by the United States supreme court in an opinion handed down by Justice McReynolds, in a case brought by the Hope Natural Gas company.

Explaining that the chief business of the company was the production and purchase of natural gas in West Virginia and uninterrupted traffic into Pennsylvania and Ohio, and that the sales tax law was attacked as an unlawful burden upon interstate commerce, the opinion pointed out that under decision of the West Virginia supreme court of appeals, the tax was to be computed upon the value of the gas at the well, and not otherwise.

Such a tax must be sustained, it added and should it be true that West Virginia officials disregarded that construction and fixed values upon an improper basis, the company had ample protection in the courts.

A claim that the tax constituted deprivation of due process was based the opinion added, upon the assumption that imposition was upon gross receipts from interstate commerce, after the property had passed from the state's jurisdiction.

Any such suggestion was in conflict with the findings of the West Virginia courts and could not be entertained, the opinion continued.

Contention that equal protection of laws was denied rested upon assertions, Justice McReynolds declared, that an unlawful tax was imposed upon gross proceeds from sales regardless of their place and that exemption of $10,000 from the gross income provided by a section of the law created undue inequality and things actually taxed opposed the first assertion," the opinion stated. "We cannot say the legislature acted either arbitrarily or unreasonably by authorizing the deduction. Nothing indicates a purpose to extend different treatment to those of the same class; no actual unreasonable inequality has been shown.

Not a Secret—Just Common Sense.

The neighbors of Mrs. Arthur De Mulle, Grasmere, N. H., were curious to know what medicine she took that "acted like magic" in restoring her health. "No secret at all," she says, "Just common sense. I saw Foley Pills diuretic advertised and began taking them. I feel fine now, after 15 years suffering from kidney trouble. I never have a tired feeling, and am active and happy." Men and women everywhere use and recommend Foley Pills diuretic. Satisfaction guaranteed. Ask for them. Sold everywhere.

Firestone Dealers

The Mark of Quality

Have Purchased 100% More GUM-DIPPED TIRES

[This Year Compared With Same Period Last Year]

THE demand from car owners for Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires has given Firestone Dealers a large increase in volume that enables them to sell these tires to you at the lowest prices in the history of the industry.

On the cars of motorists everywhere, in the every-day service of the largest truck and bus operators, these wonderful tires are delivering unheard-of long mileage together with greater safety and comfort.

The Firestone Balloon Tread, scientifically designed three years ago, and unchanged today, follows the contour of the tire carcass with no excess rubber at the edges to cause "shoulder breaks". Narrow rider strips permit the tread to yield to depressions and cling to the road, preventing skidding. This tough, pliable tread has the wear-resisting qualities that give thousands of extra miles of service.

The tread, however, is not the only important part of the balloon tire. It must be placed on a carcass that has the qualifications to withstand the terrific flexing that this design permits. The Firestone carcass is made of cords dipped in a rubber solution which not only saturates and insulates every fiber of every cord, but unifies sidewalls with carcass, eliminating any possibility of separation under the extreme flexing of low pressure tires.

Many Firestone Dealers are prepared to take your old tires, offering you a liberal allowance on a new set of Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires to start the motoring season.

To meet a demand for a low price tire and tube, Firestone designed and manufactures, for Firestone Dealers only, Oldfield Tires and Tubes, which carry the Standard Manufacturers' Guarantee.

[This Year Compared With Same Period Last Year]

THE demand from car owners for Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires has given Firestone Dealers a large increase in volume that enables them to sell these tires to you at the lowest prices in the history of the industry.

On the cars of motorists everywhere, in the every-day service of the largest truck and bus operators, these wonderful tires are delivering unheard-of long mileage together with greater safety and comfort.

The Firestone Balloon Tread, scientifically designed three years ago, and unchanged today, follows the contour of the tire carcass with no excess rubber at the edges to cause "shoulder breaks". Narrow rider strips permit the tread to yield to depressions and cling to the road, preventing skidding. This tough, pliable tread has the wear-resisting qualities that give thousands of extra miles of service.

OLDFIELD TIRES At Low Cash Prices

30x3	Fabric	$5.85
30x3 1/2	Fabric	6.85
30x3 1/2	Cord	7.35
29x4.40	Balloon	8.40
32x4	Cord	13.40
31x5.25	Balloon	15.35
33x6.00	Balloon	18.35

Oldfield Tubes also priced low

The tread, however, is not the only important part of the balloon tire. It must be placed on a carcass that has the qualifications to withstand the terrific flexing that this design permits. The Firestone carcass is made of cords dipped in a rubber solution which not only saturates and insulates every fiber of every cord, but unifies sidewalls with carcass, eliminating any possibility of separation under the extreme flexing of low pressure tires.

Many Firestone Dealers are prepared to take your old tires, offering you a liberal allowance on a new set of Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires to start the motoring season.

To meet a demand for a low price tire and tube, Firestone designed and manufactures, for Firestone Dealers only, Oldfield Tires and Tubes, which carry the Standard Manufacturers' Guarantee.

Winner In Maloney-Sharkey-Dempsey Trio Gets Title Shot

Plans For Next Big Scrap Are Announced At Rickard's Dinner

Victor in Thursday's Fight Between Boston Heavyweights to Meet Dempsey and Survivor Will go on to Tunney Bout.

NEW YORK, May 17.—The winner of the Jack Sharkey-Jim Maloney bout here Thursday night will meet Jack Dempsey and the ultimate survivor will fight Gene Tunney in the fall, according to the revised plans of Promoter Tex Rickard. At the dinner given in his honor here last night by the Madison Square Garden club, Rickard announced that plans for a Dempsey-Paulino bout have been abandoned because the former champion will not be in condition for an important bout before August.

Rickard said that Dempsey planned to take on some heavyweight of minor importance in a "breather" in California before engaging in the big shot. Everything had been arranged for a Dempsey-Paulino bout, but Dempsey experienced a change of heart and the basque became involved in a legal tangle.

Rickard was presented with a gigantic silver plague and countless eulogies at the dinner. He refereed an amateur bout, officiating in that capacity for the first time since the Jeffries-Johnson bout at Reno in 1910.

The 1,000 guests included Gene Tunney, numerous millionaires, five United States senators, men prominent in all branches of sport and 142 sport writers from New York, Pittsburgh, Boston, Philadelphia, Jersey City, Bridgeport, Cleveland, Chicago, Detroit, Baltimore, Washington, Kansas City, Buffalo, Scranton, Wilkesbarre, New Haven and other cities.

BOB MEUSEL NEW RIVAL FOR TY COBB

Steals Second and Then Steals Way to Plate With Run.

NEW YORK, May 17.—Ty Cobb has a new rival in the art of base stealing today and the gent in question is none other than Bob Meusel, the languid and lanky outfielder of the New York Yankees. After stealing second in yesterday's game with Detroit, Meusel furnished a new wrinkle by stealing all the way home on one play.

With Meusel on second and Lazzeri on first, Catcher Shea trapped the runners between bases. When the Detroit players finished throwing the ball around Meusel was in and Lazzeri was safe at first and Manager Moriarity of the Tigers was calling for headache powders.

Lou Gehrig hit two doubles and his eighth homer, tying Babe Ruth for home run honors. The Babe, however, drove in two runs in the ninth and the Yanks registered their fifth straight triumph, 4 to 2. Pitcher Walkup was sent in to pitch to Ruth and when the beans were spilled Walkup walked out.

Ty Cobb hit his first homer of the season and Simmons got two of them as the Athletics nosed out the Browns, 10 to 8, in a ding dong battle. Ken Williams of the Browns collected four hits including a homer.

Ted Lyons chalked up his fifth victory as the White Sox trounced the Red Sox, 5 to 2. The Pale Hose scored all their runs in the second inning off Hal Wilse, who has accounted for half of Boston's eight victories.

In the National league the Cardinals regained second place by nosing out the Phillies, 2 to 1. Jesse Haines came right back after his beating by the Giants and shaded Alex Ferguson.

Max Carey bit the hands that once fed him by making four hits and stealing a base against Pittsburgh. Brooklyn won, 9 to 5, pushing the Pirates back into third place.

The Reds, Giants, Cubs, Braves, Senators and Indians did not play.

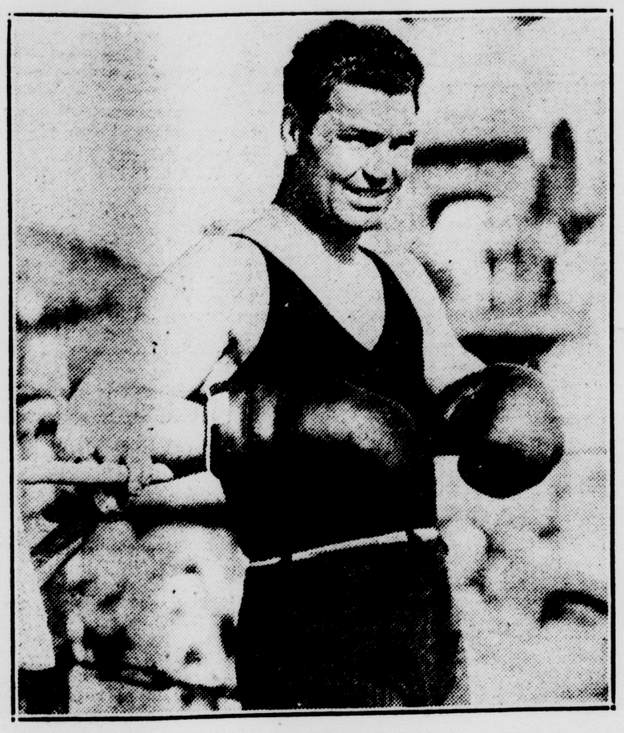
JACK DEMPSEY IN RING AGAIN



Breaking the privacy which has surrounded his training activities, Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion of the world, is snapped in the ring at Santa Monica, Calif., where he appeared for the benefit of Mississippi flood sufferers. Dempsey took on two sparring partners for fast bouts and then engaged in a wrestling match.

FANS WON'T WARM UP TO BIG BATTLE

Public Interest Apparently More With Ex-champion.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, May 17.—Although most of the visible money being chanced on the outcome probably could be concealed very effectually behind an English monocle, there were unmistakable signs today that New York intended to make Jimmy Maloney a favorite over Jack Sharkey for their heavyweight meeting on Thursday night. A favorite, according to Webster, is one who "is looked upon with special favor," but the great definer wasn't thinking of Jimmy Maloney when he drafted this designation.

Maloney is the probable favorite only because the average addict dislikes James' fighting less than he does that of Sharkey. The man who wins possibly will be the man who will go on to a championship fight with Tunney but somehow the customers have been gazing with idle abstraction at the far horizon.

Even artificial respiration hasn't altogether succeeded in reviving the patient locally, although the fact that Boston has bought its share of tickets has been duly broadcast. Perhaps the intervening forty-eight hours will see them rioting at the turnstiles, which is something that Sharkey's ability to talk a great contest and George Rickard's decision to give himself a dinner last night have failed to do.

Dempsey Will Get Them.

As a matter of fantastic fact, the public's interest is not with this couple of earnest young men, who can fight, but with a rather elderly ex-champion who doesn't know whether he can or not. Maybe the announcement that Jack Dempsey's come back will be against the Sharkey-Maloney winner will produce the desired effect, for apparently you must get Dempsey's name in there if you want to get the customers in, too.

The Maloney-Delaney fight, which turned out a million dollars worth of advertising an a million moments of boredom, also has had a psychological effect on the sale for Thursday's fight. The boys will want to be shown this time and the proposition of matching one man with only a fair punch, against another, with virtually none, is not a particularly attractive one.

Still, the winner will be able to say with perfect truth that he has beaten every good man available up to and including the moment and, if that isn't enough to get him consideration, then it may be presumed that he just isn't due.

Think Maloney Has Punch.

Much of this depends on the identity of the winner, however. If it is Maloney, the boys will go for him with a reasonable degree of enthusiasm. They suspect he can punch; the evidence is more or less circumstantial but even a suspected punch is esteemed over bland innocence.

That seems to be Sharkey's great liability and yet, with all of his indecisiveness in hitting, there probably haven't been five better heavyweights in the last ten years. In fact, the writer would pick him as a more dangerous, though less interesting opponent for Tunney than Maloney would be. Whether he proves to be a more dangerous opponent for Maloney than any the latter has met this year remains to be seen; for things equal to the same thing are not always equal to each other—at least, not in boxing.

County Meet Moguls Still Undecided As Clouds Darken Sky

Track Sloppy This Morning Following Continued Rains; Wednesday or Thursday Date Possible if Weatherman Relents.

Officials of the Columbiana county association in charge of the annual interscholastic meet, this morning were still undecided as to a definite date for the 24th yearly school competitions which were postponed from last Saturday because of rain.

It was announced at Lisbon this morning that school authorities were inspecting the fairground track and infield periodically and the "call to arms" will be sounded at the first available opportunity.

It was said that the track this morning was still more or less "soupy" and still far from being in condition for performances that might be expected.

Track conditions may play a big part in a possible East Liverpool victory for here it is that the Blue and White should, both figuratively and literally, put its best foot forward.

In the dash events, English is favored over Allen and Seeds, the Salem choices.

The two East Palestine boys, Collela and Cook, with preliminary tosses of over 44 feet, appear to have the shot-put pretty well sewed up.

Allen and Roeslier of Salem are the best bets in the pole vault and Allen and Gregg, also of Salem, are being boosted as the choices in the high jump.

Seeds, of Salem, ran a pretty race in the 220-yard hurdles Saturday, despite the mud, and his showing gives him first consideration in the opening event. Two Wellsville boys, J. Calhoun and Dickey, finished, third and fourth, respectively, in the hurdles.

Fight Results

AT JERSEY CITY—Jimmy Britt, California, knocked out Harry Usse, New York, 12th round.

AT COLUMBUS—Dick McDonie, Huntington, W. Va., knocked out Johnny Carpenter, Columbus, 8th round.

LAUGHLIN NINE WINS

Defeat Printers; Two Other Contests Postponed.

Clarence Moore's Laughlin Newell soft ball aggregation blanked the Review-Tribune, 5-0, in the only Recreation league contest staged last night.

The Printers and Potters braved the chilly air and light drizzle and went through nine fast innings on the Newell lot, winding up in approximately 35 minutes of play. The Laughlinites were pulling their hits nicely into open territory and presented an almost airtight defense.

Games between the Ohio Powers at Johannes Drugs and National Furnitures at Roselawns were postponed. They will probably play the latter part of the week.

It was announced at Lisbon this morning that school authorities were inspecting the fairground track and infield periodically and the "call to arms" will be sounded at the first available opportunity.

It was said that the track this morning was still more or less "soupy" and still far from being in condition for performances that might be expected.

Track conditions may play a big part in a possible East Liverpool victory for here it is that the Blue and White should, both figuratively and literally, put its best foot forward.

In the dash events, English is favored over Allen and Seeds, the Salem choices.

The two East Palestine boys, Collela and Cook, with preliminary tosses of over 44 feet, appear to have the shot-put pretty well sewed up.

Allen and Roesler of Salem are the best bets in the pole vault and Allen and Gregg, also of Salem, are being boosted as the choices in the high jump.

Seeds, of Salem, ran a pretty race in the 220-yard hurdles Saturday, despite the mud, and his showing gives him first consideration in the opening event. Two Wellsville boys, J. Calhoun and Dickey, finished, third and fourth, respectively, in the hurdles.

Fight Results

AT JERSEY CITY—Jimmy Britt, California, knocked out Harry Usse, New York, 12th round.

AT COLUMBUS—Dick McDonie, Huntington, W. Va., knocked out Johnny Carpenter, Columbus, 8th round.

LAUGHLIN NINE WINS

Defeat Printers; Two Other Contests Postponed.

Clarence Moore's Laughlin Newell soft ball aggregation blanked the Review-Tribune, 5-0, in the only Recreation league contest staged last night.

The Printers and Potters braved the chilly air and light drizzle and went through nine fast innings on the Newell lot, winding up in approximately 35 minutes of play. The Laughlinites were pulling their hits nicely into open territory and presented an almost airtight defense.

Games between the Ohio Powers at Johannes Drugs and National Furnitures at Roselawns were postponed. They will probably play the latter part of the week.

Another Good Man Gone Wrong!

The Sad Story of a Rented Dress Suit

"You can't tell it from the real thing," said the gentleman above when he rented a dress suit. Now, as you can see, he is a sadder but wiser man.

He knows, now, that there is no substitute for the "real thing." Take Puritan Malt, for example. Naturally, there are plenty of imitations—stuff that looks just like the "real thing." But you can't fool many people more than once—and that's why Puritan popularity is practically unanimous everywhere. The choicest No. 1 barley blended with genuine Imported Bohemian Hops.

WILLIAM HAAS HEADS K. OF C.

E. Liverpool and Wellsville Men Honored at State Meet.

Members chosen as delegates to the Portland, Ore., national convention in August are: Monsignore T. C. O'Reilly; John F. Nolan, Steubenville; Thomas M. Carey, Defiance; William Krupp, Fremont; Ray Miller, Cleveland; C. B. Biele, Cincinnati; P. J. Kirwin, London; T. J. Duffy and A. J. McCann, Columbus, and William E. Haas, Delaware.

Original Legion Men Plan to Assemble At Old Meet Place

PARIS.—Over in the Cirque de Paris—where boxers kiss the canvas when circus horses aren't galloping around the sawdust ring — several hundred Legionnaires, former delegates to the historic assembly which formulated the idea of the American Legion there on March 15, 1919, expect to gather during the convention week in September.

Many members of the original group have suggested that a meeting be held in the Cirque "for old times sake" and so the France Convention Committee in Paris is making tentative plans for another big reunion there.

WILLIAM HAAS HEADS K. OF C.

E. Liverpool and Wellsville Men Honored at State Meet.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 17.—Delegates to the state convention of Knights of Columbus were returning to their homes today after re-electing William E. Haas, Delaware, state deputy. Other officers who were re-elected are: E. T. Gorman, Cincinnati, secretary; E. T. McCue, Middletown, treasurer; Monsignore T. C. O'Reilly, Cleveland, chaplain, and E. T. Fitzgerald, East Liverpool, warden. Grattan Dugan, Wellsville, was elected advocate.

Members chosen as delegates to the Portland, Ore., national convention in August are: Monsignore T. C. O'Reilly; John F. Nolan, Steubenville; Thomas M. Carey, Defiance; William Krupp, Fremont; Ray Miller, Cleveland; C. B. Biele, Cincinnati; P. J. Kirwin, London; T. J. Duffy and A. J. McCann, Columbus, and William E. Haas, Delaware.

Marion was selected for the 1928 convention.

Original Legion Men Plan to Assemble At Old Meet Place

PARIS.—Over in the Cirque de Paris—where boxers kiss the canvas when circus horses aren't galloping around the sawdust ring — several hundred Legionnaires, former delegates to the historic assembly which formulated the idea of the American Legion there on March 15, 1919, expect to gather during the convention week in September.

Many members of the original group have suggested that a meeting be held in the Cirque "for old times sake" and so the France Convention Committee in Paris is making tentative plans for another big reunion there.

Youth of the Atlas

By Marshall V. Hall
Author of "The Valley of Stone" "Riddle of the Rocks" etc.

SYNOPSIS:

LARRY GRENFALL, American traveler and student of Eastern magic, receives a telephone call from

BEN MANSOUR, cosmopolite and old friend, saying he must see him at once.

GILES, Mansour's servant, drives Larry to his friend's house. While the two are talking a turbanned head appears at the window, Mansour opens it and a Moor steps in. He gives Mansour a ring as a token, set with a magnificent ruby. Mansour throws it on a table. Through the Moor it is revealed that Mansour is a Moor and ruler of his tribe. For some reason he must die but he insists that his son rule after him. Mansour says that heh as taken poison and the Moor goes, tossing into the room a tiny ivory tiger—the Striped Death. Mansour asks Grenfall if he will go to Morocco, find the Temple, endure the Ordeal and crush the Group—all of which is Greek to Grenfall. He is to find a certain Omar ben Medjad. Then Mansour dies. Giles has instructions to open a certain trunk and take care of the letters he will find therein.

Giles and Grenfall open the trunk, finding Mansour's will and a letter to Grenfall asking him to carry out the instructions he game him before he died. Grenfall takes the ruby ring and tells Giles he is going to Morocco.

Larry arrives in Morocco and is solicited for alms by a mendicant.

He shows the token—the ruby ring and the mendicant guides him to an alley where he changes his costume for that of the mendicant and he is pulled into a house by a Moor to whom he again shows his token.

Larry finds this new Moor is Omar ben Medjad. He furnishes Larry with the disguise of a magician.

CHAPTER EIGHT.

As silently as he had entered the Daukala mendicant, after taking his burnouse, and certain of Larry's garments, stepped from the room and out into the blue-black night, the Oriental night that is ever filled with intrigue to the mind of hte Occidental.

Alone once more with Omar, Larry looked at the man curiously. It was obvious the fellow possessed power among those of his kind, and the American suspected strongly that he was more than he pretended to be.

"Omar," he said, "I want some information. Tell me, did you know Ben Mansour?"

The other nodded silently.

"You know he is dead?"

"Killed by a subtle poison," Omar agreed. "He was, to his friends, a wonderful man; but to himself—I have no doubts."

"Ben got me to promise to come here, Omar, find you and learn the way to the Temple. I promised him I would endeavor to recover a casket and place it in your hands. He hinted vaguely of fearsome things, and there was a messenger—"

Omar interrupted him.

"I know, moulay, a messenger from the Temple, who bade Mansour to a throne or death; the messenger and two companions who accmpanied him to your country have returned. They are now in the hills, reporting, no doubt, to the powerful group of marabouts who sent them."

"Confound it, Omar, how do you know so much? Sometimes one would almost swear you have been over there with them."

Omar chuckled grimly.

"I have eyes that see and ears that hear. They keep me informed of all that it is needful for me to know. That is why Ben Mansour told you to come to me."

"Well, I am here. Now tell me what the grand idea is," Larry said.

For a long time Omar looked at him silently. Finally, he said:

"Ben Mansour was my dearest Friend; I would lay down my life to return his and surely, you, also, must have been held dearly in his heart, else he would not have chosen you as the one to perform a great mission. I shall tell you a story, but before I speak I require your pledge that in case you think the risk too great, your courage to frail, or the obstacles too vast for you to overthrow, you will never reveal what you are about to hear."

"I promise, by the spirit of my ancestors and by the tomb of your own prophet, Omar," Larry said, solemnly.

"I am satisfied," said Omar, lighting a fresh cigaret. "Now, listen" He drew a long draft, sipped his coffee, then thrust the cup aside, looking at Larry with appraising eyes.

"For many centuries the Berber tribes, in common with all Moslem, have observed the mouloud, which as you know is the anniversary of the birth of the prophet; in your country you have Christmas, which is the same occasion to you. Often, however, in past years when these observances were finished, the hill tribes forgot their late religious fervor and flared up in warfare against one another so violently that in many instances weak tribes were virtually eradicated, while even the strongest had their ranks decimated seriously. This condition obtained until forty years ago, when Sherif Youcoub el-Masmazi conceived the idea of welding into a powerful league certain of the greatest of the tribes. This resulted eventually in the Seven Tribes of the Berbers, whose histories you portrayed so well in one of your books. This did away with warfare, because the Seven Tribes absolutely dominated Morocco south of the Atlas and even the southern stretches beyond the mountains."

Larry listened with interest, hearing in this wise confirmation of things he had already written of in his several authoritative books on Morocco and the Moors. Omar continued:

"Sherif Youcoub was able to exercise his great power because he possessed the Sacred Eye, which was, if you know Moorish history as well as I believe you do, a symbol of power that was handed down by ruler to ruler through blood descendants. Legent has long since put away fact in connection with the Sacred Eye, until now it is more symbolic of power than ever before. To retain his leadership of the tribes, the sherif, on each mouloud, was compelled by tribal law to go through the Ordeal, wearing the Eye.

"Now, when Sherif Youcoub died, his son, Omar Ben Mansour, being a prince of the blood, became sherif, and about this time a powerful group of marabouts began to form throughout the Atlas with the object of overthrowing the power of the sherif and taking unto itself the rule over all Moslem outside of the domain under immediate control of the Sultan, the French and the Spaniards. These marabouts became so powerful finally that through intrigue they stole the Sacred Eye and carried it to their inviolate Temple, where no man save the marabouts and the greatest of wizards may go, because no one else may take the road save only after the marabouts have summoned him. Also, the marabouts stole Ben Mansour's son, and it is said they taught him of their lore at a walled city in the hills, then at a later date lost him. Some say the son is now hiding in the city of Duk-el-Abda."

Omar paused briefly, to light another cigarette.

"Following the theft of the Sacred Eye the people on the eve of the next mouloud and inspired no doubt by the marabout group of plotters, let it be known in no uncertain tones that unless the Eye were worn during the Ordeal, the sherif might take his choice between death by the sword or strangulation. Ben Mansour fled in the night, his son having been stolen and his wife having died some time before. He disguised himself cleverly and reached Fez, where he was fairly safe. It was there you first met him and it was there, my friend, that he took a strong liking to you. For years he traveled, always hiding, then one day a messenger found him and told him that if he would retun and lead his people, he would be spared his life and restored to the sherifcy."

Forgetting both coffee and cigarette, Larry leaned forward intenseiy interested.

"Go on," he said.

"Mansour refused, asking that the honor be given his son, then he resumed his flight. Meantime, back in the Atlas, the powerful Marabout Group had announced to the people that it would produce a sherif for them. To make good their boast, they decided they would heed Mansour's request and place his son on the tribal throne, which is a figurative throne at best. The Group, however, planned to back the boy just so long as he played the game of conspirators, but in building up their power and setting their plans these holy men made a fatal error. They told the people they had caused the downfall of Ben Mansour because it had come to their ears that he was dickering to hand the Sacred Eye to the Spaniards and so make easy the conquest of the southern Atlas.. They told the people that it had been said in the past that so long as the Sacred Eye remained in their possession, the Berbers would never be subjugated and thereby implied that if the Spaniards were given the symbol they would bring them under their rule as they have brought the Submissive Tribes of the plains. That legend has been behind the Twenty year's warfare of the Riff tribes against Spain, for the Riffs are allied with the Berbers.

FOR Acid Stomach PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

Better Than Soda

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

Try a 25c Bottle

Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drug-store. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

South of the Atlas

By Marshall Hall
Author of "The Valley of Stone" and "Riddle of Hoggar Desert"

SYNOPSIS:

LARRY GRENFALL, American traveler and student of Eastern magic, receives a telephone call from BEN MANSOUR, cosmopolite and old friend, saying he must see him at once.

GILES, Mansour's servant, drives Larry to his friend's house. While the two are talking a turbanned head appears at the window, Mansour opens it and a Moor steps in. He gives Mansour a ring as a token, set with a magnificent ruby. Mansour throws it on a table. Through the Moor it is revealed that Mansour is a Moor and ruler of his tribe. For some reason he must die but he insists that his son rule after him. Mansour says that heh as taken poison and the Moor goes, tossing into the room a tiny ivory tiger—the Striped Death. Mansour asks Grenfall if he will go to Morocco, find the Temple, endure the Ordeal and crush the Group—all of which is Greek to Grenfall. He is to find a certain Omar ben Medjad. Then Mansour dies. Giles has instructions to open a certain trunk and take care of the letters he will find therein.

Giles and Grenfall open the trunk, finding Mansour's will and a letter to Grenfall asking him to carry out the instructions he game him before he died. Grenfall takes the ruby ring and tells Giles he is going to Morocco.

He shows the token—the ruby ring and the mendicant guides him to an alley where he changes his costume for that of the mendicant and he is pulled into a house by a Moor to whom he again shows his token.

CHAPTER EIGHT.

As silently as he had entered the Daukala mendicant, after taking his burnouse, and certain of Larry's garments, stepped from the room and out into the blue-black night, the Oriental night that is ever filled with intrigue to the mind of hte Occidental.

Alone once more with Omar, Larry looked at the man curiously. It was obvious the fellow possessed power among those of his kind, and the American suspected strongly that he was more than he pretended to be.

"Omar," he said, "I want some information. Tell me, did you know Ben Mansour?"

The other nodded silently.

"You know he is dead?"

"Killed by a subtle poison," Omar agreed. "He was, to his friends, a wonderful man; but to himself—I have no doubts."

"Ben got me to promise to come here, Omar, find you and learn the way to the Temple. I promised him I would endeavor to recover a casket and place it in your hands. He hinted vaguely of fearsome things, and there was a messenger—"

Omar interrupted him.

"I know, moulay, a messenger from the Temple, who bade Mansour to a throne or death; the messenger and two companions who accmpanied him to your country have returned. They are now in the hills, reporting, no doubt, to the powerful group of marabouts who sent them."

"Confound it, Omar, how do you know so much? Sometimes one would almost swear you have been over there with them."

Omar chuckled grimly.

"I have eyes that see and ears that hear. They keep me informed of all that it is needful for me to know. That is why Ben Mansour told you to come to me."

"Well, I am here. Now tell me what the grand idea is," Larry said.

For a long time Omar looked at him silently. Finally, he said:

"Ben Mansour was my dearest Friend; I would lay down my life to return his and surely, you, also, must have been held dearly in his heart, else he would not have chosen you as the one to perform a great mission. I shall tell you a story, but before I speak I require your pledge that in case you think the risk too great, your courage to frail, or the obstacles too vast for you to overthrow, you will never reveal what you are about to hear."

"I promise, by the spirit of my ancestors and by the tomb of your own prophet, Omar," Larry said, solemnly.

"I am satisfied," said Omar, lighting a fresh cigaret. "Now, listen" He drew a long draft, sipped his coffee, then thrust the cup aside, looking at Larry with appraising eyes.

"For many centuries the Berber tribes, in common with all Mosiem, have observed the mouloud, which as you know is the anniversary of the birth of the prophet; in your country you have Christmas, which is the same occasion to you. Often, however, in past years when these observances were finished, the hill tribes forgot their late religious fervor and flared up in warfare against one another so violently that in many instances weak tribes were virtually eradicated, while even the strongest had their ranks decimated seriously. This condition obtained until forty years ago, when Sherif Youcoub el-Masmazi conceived the idea of welding into a powerful league certain of the greatest of the tribes. This resulted eventually in the Seven Tribes of the Berbers, whose histories you portrayed so well in one of your books. This did away with warfare, because the Seven Tribes absolutely dominated Morocco south of the Atlas and even the southern stretches beyond the mountains."

Larry listened with interest, hearing in this wise confirmation of things he had already written of in his several authoritative books on Morocco and the Moors. Omar continued:

"Sherif Youcoub was able to exercise his great power because he possessed the Sacred Eye, which was, if you know Moorish history as well as I believe you do, a symbol of power that was handed down by ruler to ruler through blood descendants. Legent has long since put away fact in connection with the Sacred Eye, until now it is more symbolic of power than ever before. To retain his leadership of the tribes, the sherif, on each mouloud, was compelled by tribal law to go through the Ordeal, wearing the Eye.

"Now, when Sherif Youcoub died, his son, Omar Ben Mansour, being a prince of the blood, became sherif, and about this time a powerful group of marabouts began to form throughout the Atlas with the object of overthrowing the power of the sherif and taking unto itself the rule over all Moslem outside of the domain under immediate control of the Sultan, the French and the Spaniards. These marabouts became so powerful finally that through intrigue they stole the Sacred Eye and carried it to their inviolate Temple, where no man save the marabouts and the greatest of wizards may go, because no one else may take the road save only after the marabouts have summoned him. Also, the marabouts stole Ben Mansour's son, and it is said they taught him of their lore at a walled city in the hills, then at a later date lost him. Some say the son is now hiding in the city of Duk-el-Abda."

Omar paused briefly, to light another cigarette.

"Following the theft of the Sacred Eye the people on the eve of the next mouloud and inspired no doubt by the marabout group of plotters, let it be known in no uncertain tones that unless the Eye were worn during the Ordeal, the sherif might take his choice between death by the sword or strangulation. Ben Mansour fled in the night, his son having been stolen and his wife having died some time before. He disguised himself cleverly and reached Fez, where he was fairly safe. It was there you first met him and it was there, my friend, that he took a strong liking to you. For years he traveled, always hiding, then one day a messenger found him and told him that if he would return and lead his people, he would be spared his life and restored to the sherifcy."

Forgetting both coffee and cigarette, Larry leaned forward intenseiy interested.

"Go on," he said.

"Mansour refused, asking that the honor be given his son, then he resumed his flight. Meantime, back in the Atlas, the powerful Marabout Group had announced to the people that it would produce a sherif for them. To make good their boast, they decided they would heed Mansour's request and place his son on the tribal throne, which is a figurative throne at best. The Group, however, planned to back the boy just so long as he played the game of conspirators, but in building up their power and setting their plans these holy men made a fatal error. They told the people they had caused the downfall of Ben Mansour because it had come to their ears that he was dickering to hand the Sacred Eye to the Spaniards and so make easy the conquest of the southern Atlas.. They told the people that it had been said in the past that so long as the Sacred Eye remained in their possession, the Berbers would never be subjugated and thereby implied that if the Spaniards were given the symbol they would bring them under their rule as they have brought the Submissive Tribes of the plains. CANTON SLEUTH AWAITS FATE

Our Funny War Game.
Napoleon-Mussolini.
Eastman-Rockefeller.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.]

YESTERDAY our great "defense" organizations began a war to "repel an enemy fleet" and, seriously as owls, our army heroes are "rushing reinforcements, bolstering coast defenses," etc. The humor of the thing would vanish if we had real war.

IN THAT case, enemy flyers, released from airplane carriers, off shore, beyond reach of our coast defense pop-guns, would fly over New York, or San Francisco or Los Angeles, bombing and gassing those cities on the way inland to deal with other cities, then fly across the Canadian or Mexican border and settle down comfortably, to be interned for the duration of the war. It would not be much of a duration.

THERE will be no attack on this country until some nation is ready to attack by air. If such an attack finds us unprepared, as we are now, it will be a nice, short war.

AT DEARBORN last Wednesday Henry Ford, talking about flying machines, said, "some one ought to build a flying machine of size and power, and make a real experiment, it should be independent of wind and storms, as an ocean liner is independent of ocean waves. Such a flying machine would have many engines with superfluous power, so that if one or two broke down, it would make no difference. They could be repaired by mechanics on board while the machine continued its journey."

SUCH a machine, made as an experiment, would cost about one million dollars, Mr. Ford said. Asked if he planned to build it, he replied, "Edsel and I have talked about it, but have other things to attend to now."

Eight hundred thousand dollars, given toward the woman's building in Detroit, would almost build the big flyer. Such a machine might be more useful to the world than even the finest woman's building.

BEFORE Gen. Mitchell was put out of army flying, for telling unpleasant truths, he had under way plans for a giant flyer, with wheels 20 feet high, that could take a running start over fences and tree trunks.

And yesterday Professor Rumpler, head of a German airplane company announced plans for a plane, many times the size of any ever built, to carry many engines, and cross the Atlantic in 16 hours, carrying 170 passengers.

Transatlantic flight will soon be commonplace, but the little machine must show the way, as did Columbus' little boats.

MUSSOLINI'S resemblance to Napoleon is said to be emphasized in his attitude of increasing friendliness toward the church. Napoleon re-established the Catholic church in France, saying he needed a spiritual as well as a fighting army.

FEAR HE FELL INTO SMALL LAKE

No Trace Found of Round-the-World Airman Who Passed Over Ohio During Forenoon.

DETROIT, May 17—Anxiety was felt here today over the safety of Francesco De Pinedo, famous Italian aviator, who was reported forced down between Ann Arbor and Chelsea today on his flight from Chicago to Montreal.

No Trace of Airman.

News of Pinedo's forced landing was received at the Ford airport by R. E. Walker, assistant to Frank B. Mayo, chief engineer for Henry Ford.

A Ford plane was dispatched at once to scour the country between Ann Arbor and Chelsea. If De Pinedo came down, aviators at the Ford field believe he landed on four mile lake near Chelsea.

The Italian flyer had announced on leaving Chicago that he would fly over Detroit and circle the Ford airport. Ford planes that went out to meet and welcome him returned without finding a trace of the missing aviator.

CLEVELAND, May 17.—The Cleveland airport shortly after noon today reported that Francesco De Pinedo, Italian aviator, had passed over Vermilion, Ohio at 11:26 this morning.

De Pinedo was believed to be skirting the southern edge of Lake Erie before heading north for Montreal, according to the airport. At 2:45 p. m. he was believed to have already passed Cleveland, according to airport officials.

Fails to Pass Toledo.

BRYAN, O., May 17.—Although officials at the government air mail field here have been keeping a lookout this morning for Commander Francesco De Pinedo, Italian aviator, his plane had not passed over this vicinity, and had not been sighted at 11 a. m., Eastern Standard time, they declared.

TOLEDO, May 17.—A report that Francesco De Pinedo, Italian aviator had been sighted over Toledo at 11:02 proved to be untrue.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., May 17.—According to word received here shortly before noon Francesco De Pinedo, Italian aviator, changed his route and went by way of Toledo and Monroe. He had not been sighted here at 11 o'clock and no report of a forced airplane landing had been received.

MONE, Mich., May 17.—Francesco De Pinedo, Italian aviator, who has reported to have changed his route so as to pass over this city, had not been sighted at 11:30, Eastern Standard time.

No Trace of Fugitives.

MANSFIELD, O., May 17.—Reformatory authorities today reported no trace had been found of three men who escaped from that institution Sunday. The men are Herbert Hoffman, Bowling Green; Harold Paxson, Springfield, and Ralph Mitchell, Wauseon.

DIVORCED WIFE OF COUNT SALM MAY WED AGAIN

Argentine Beau Brummel Courts Former Millicent Rogers.

WEALTHY SUITOR

By William P. Carney.

Copyright, 1927, By International News Service.

PARIS, May 17.—Romance has again entered the life of Millicent Rogers Salm, youthful divorced wife of Count Ludwig Salm Van Hoogstraeten, in the person of an Argentine Beau Brummell — Senor Arturo Peralta Ramos.

Although the countess has been divorced only a few weeks, it was learned today that she has admitted to friends that she expects to be married to "Arturazo," as many of his friends affectionately call him.

The affection between the couple seems to have been mutual from the first. Col. H. H. Rogers, of New York, Standard Oil multi-millionaire and father of Millicent, learning of his daughter's new romance, hurried to Paris to investigate and to prevent what he feared might be another hasty elopement.

Rogers Meet South American.

Just what passed between the father and the young $40,000,000 heiress is not known, but shortly afterward the American multi-millionaire met Arturo, who is himself very rich. Rogers, it is understood, has not yet given his definite consent to a final marriage, but has allowed his daughter

AGNES VAUGHN HOME PADLOCK ASKED AFTER LIQUOR RAID

Basement of Dwelling is Declared "Fire Menace."

Padlock proceedings to close the dwelling occupied by Mrs. Agnes Vaughn, Crook and Church alleys, will be instituted in common pleas court, Lisbon, immediately, Solicitor Frank Hoover announced today following the Mrs. Vaughn's fourth conviction, yesterday afternoon, upon a charge of possessing intoxicating liquor.

Mrs. Vaughn is in the county jail at Lisbon, today, where she was committed by Municipal Judge Hanley after being fined $500 and costs. Twenty-one half pints of corn whisky, alleged to have been concealed in a carton hidden beneath a pile of rubbish in the basement of the home, were confiscated, police said.

Two truckloads of waste paper and other rubbish were removed from the basement of the house by the street department yesterday afternoon after Service-Safety Director Moore ruled conditions in the cellar constituted a fire menace. The place has been damaged by fire on two occasions, three arrests upon arson charges being made in connection with the second blaze about a year ago. The house is owned by Mrs. Samuel W. Crawford, St. Clair avenue.

Break Through Door.

Chief of Police Hugh McDermott and Desk Sergeant George Toland were forced to break through a heavily barred door in making the raid yesterday. Chief McDermott went to the front door, while Toland was sent to the rear. Toland made a lung against the door and the wooden bar which had been placed against the door with iron bolts and braces was broken.

A "look-out," posted at the front door of the house, police said, gave warning when he saw Chief McDermott approaching. Mrs. Vaughn, it is claimed, was "dumping" the liquor down the bathtub drain when the police arrived. A search also revealed liquor in the cellar.

Home Fired Two Years Ago.

Mrs. Vaughn was fined $300 and costs by Judge Hanley when she was arrested on a liquor charge about five months ago. This fine was paid.

Mrs. Vaughn and Ohlinger were arrested by Beaver county authorities

Both men had served fifteen months on sentences of one and a half to ten years on perjury charges, following testimony they gave to a grand jury investigating charges of bribery against E. E. Curtis, former director of safety at Canton.

Curtis is scheduled for parole June 17, at the expiration of the minimum term of his sentence.

Recalled later before another grand jury at Canton, Bouklias and Turner presented testimony which was accepted as truthful and which, prosecuting officials declared led to the conviction of Curtis.

"I have always looked upon the testimony of Bouklias and Turner as a service to the city of Canton and the state of Ohio, and am taking this into consideration in granting them pardons," declared Governor Donahey.

It was announced at the governor's

Hotel Owner Pleads Not Guilty of Charge Filed Under City Ordinance —Trial on Saturday.

R. L. Edmonston, proprietor of the Travelers' hotel, entered a plea of not guilty before Municipal Judge Hanley today when he was arraigned for an alleged violation of a city ordinance, charging he obstructed the sidewalk on Fourth street by the construction of an outside stairway to the basement of his hotel addition.

He was arrested upon affidavit signed by Service-Safety Director J. W. Moore, after he had failed to comply with the director's five-day notice, served May 7, ordering the removal of an iron railing around the stairway.

Edmonston asked that the hearing be postponed until June 1 but this was denied by Judge Hanley. Finally the hearing was set for 10 o'clock Saturday morning. He was released upon his own recognizance.

The prosecution of Edmonston is the second attempt of the city to enforce the ordinance adopted several months ago. In a ruling handed down in common pleas court two months ago, the city's removal order against a covering on an outside stairway at the American theatre, Crook alley, was sustained. The court dismissed a temporary injunction granted the theatre operators.

Tinney's Collapse At Chicago Blamed On Wife's Demands

CHICAGO, May 17.—Frank Tinney, noted comedian, collapsed during his Chicago cabaret act because he had just received a telegram from attorneys representing his estranged wife, demanding his $200,000 estate, all that remains of his fortune, it was reported today.

The message, presented just before Tinney began the final part of his skit, was said to have advised him that Mrs. Tinney was definitely "through" and would not consider a reconciliation.

According to police Moody was heard to make threats against the aged leader of the colony.

C. B. McClintock Closes State Argument in Canton Case.

ACCUSED SCORED

Defense Terms Mazer "Gambler and Dive Keeper."

CANTON, O., May 17—The Floyd Streitenberger murder case went to the jury at 1:54 o'clock this afternoon.

CANTON, O., May 17.—Winding up arguments for the state here today, in the trial of Floyd Streitenberger, alleged participant in the murder of Don Mellett, Canton publisher, last July, Special Prosecutor C. B. McClintock placed the blame for the crime "upon the Canton police department, who made the exponents of the assassination feel they would receive no punishment."

Jury to Get Case at 1:30.

"Streitenberger must have given such assurance to Louis Mazer," (state's star witness jointly indicted for the murder) McClintock told the jury. "Streitenberger was the brains and backbone of the whole plot."

Attorney J. H. Robertson, of defense counsel, characterizing Mazer as a "known gambler, dive-keeper and bootlegger," asked the jury to discredit his testimony and "not send a man to the electric chair an the testimony of a man of such calibre."

"If Mazer would perjure himself to save his friends, (Pat McDermott and Ben Rudner, convicted of complicity in the crime and now serving life) he would certainly commit perjury to save himself," said Robertson.

The case was expected to reach the jury about 1:30 p. m., following Judge Clevenger's charge.

BELLANCA PLANE, COLUMBIA, MAY BE DEFINITELY OUT OF PARIS RACE BECAUSE OF NEW DISSENSION OVER PACT

MITCHEL FIELD, NEW YORK, May 17.—The Bellanca plane, Columbia, may be definitely out of the race to Paris because of the new dissension which rose to alarming proportions today.

G. W. Nutt, attorney for Lloyd Bertaud, who with Clarence W. Chamberlain was to fly the Bellanca plane in the epochal air race, has advised his client not to sign the new contract offered by Charles A. Levine, president of the Columbia Aircraft corporation. The document was expected to adjust all former difficulties.

Today it appeared likely that court action would be resorted to to straighten out the differences between their backers and the flyers.

Because of what he calls a "trick" clause inserted in the flight contract, Nutt is said to be ready to seek damages from Levine and was reported ready to ask an injunction to restrain the plane from leaving.

Unfavorable Weather.

A conference of flying men and officials was to be held today at the office of Rodman Wanamaker. Just what will transpire at the meeting is problematical. There was no intimation that it might have to do with the New York-Paris flight.

When it became apparent to Bertaud's friends that the flight was threatened, a group of them hastened to offer Levine $25,000 for the Bellanca plane, and announced they were prepared to back the airmen. The offer was turned down by Levine.

The unfavorable weather threw another damper on the other contemplated hop-offs. Captain Charles A. Lindbergh, the "flying fool," was prevented from starting from Roosevelt Field. He has been given a final physical examination, and has been declared 100 per cent fit.

Not only were Bertaud and Chamberlin at odds with Levine, their backer, and G. Ballanca, designer of the ship, but they were in disagreement with each other also.

The matter of carrying radio equipment split the fliers. Levine ordered the radio equipment taken off the plane. His action was supported by Bellanca and Chamberlin, but opposed by Bertaud. The radio was taken off.

Bertaud would not make a statement concerning the matter, but observers reported him to be "angry" and "extremely wrought up."

Differences over the proposed route of the plane caused additional discussion. Bertaud has insisted upon a direct route by water, while Chamberlin has sought a route via Newfoundland and Ireland, chopping off much of the water route sought by Bertaud. It was said that the flyers are almost hopelessly divided on this point.

It was learned that the verbal contract, supposed to clear up the matrs insurance provisions for the flyers' wives, division of awards and other money earned, had not been put in writing, as had been expected after Sunday's conference.

There was a feeling today that Commander Byrd who is to fly the America with Bert Acosta, would beat his competitors in the start, because his plane would be better able to breast the head winds.

WELLSVILLE SEWER AND ROAD ISSUES BEFORE SOLONS

COUNCIL MAY ACT AT MEET HERE TONIGHT

One Measure Calls for Seventeenth Street Drainage.

COST IS $18,000

Resurfacing of Lisbon Road is Also Proposed.

Wellsville sewer and road improvement legislation over which councilmen have jangled more or less for several months, probably will be brought up again when solons convene for their semi-monthly session at city hall tonight.

Two ordinances have occupied the councilmanic spotlight in recent weeks. One measure proposes the construction of a sewer to drain the Seventeenth street district at a cost of $18,000 and the other the improvement, by resurfacing, of the Lisbon road to the city limits, at an estimated expenditure of approximately $10,000.

Each ordinance was passed on first reading two weeks ago, and each likely will be brought up for second reading tonight. Each also was defeated when introduced in the form of an emergency measure.

Wife Seeks Divorce.

Robert L. Frischkorn, residing at 501 Fifteenth street, Wellsville, is defendant in an action for divorce filed against him by his wife, Florence F. Frischkorn, the petition having been filed with Clerk of Courts Frank Ballantine by Cochran and Crawford of East Liverpool, as counsel for the plaintiff.

The couple were married at Steubenville June 1, 1914. Extreme cruelty is charged.

Upon final hearing of the case, the court is asked to restore the plaintiff to her maiden name, Florence E. Schlosser.

Recovering from Operation.

F. A. Saltsman, Clark avenue, is reported to be recovering from a recent operation for appendicitis at the East Liverpool City hospital.

Rev. E. J. Gracey, pastor of the Immaculate Conception church here, and national chaplain of the "40 and 8," a branch of the American Legion, will be the chief speaker.

The visit of Father Gracey marks the first time a national officer of the ex-service men's organization has appeared before St. Mihiel post. Civil war veterans will be guests.

QUALIFY IN SEVEN EVENTS

Local Athletes Well Represented in County Meet Finals.

Keeping in form through daily workouts, Wellsville high school athletes are awaiting word that will send them to the barrier in the finals of the annual county meet at Lisbon, postponed from last Saturday as a result of rain. Officials today were still undecided as to the date, but believe that it will be either tomorrow afternoon or Thursday.

The Orange and Black squad qualified entries in seven of the eight preliminary events run off Saturday morning prior to the deluge of rain that made track conditions impossible.

Calhoun and Dickey wil await the starter's gun in the 220-yard hurdles; Dickey will heave the javelin; Doty will represent the school in the high jump; Calhoun will toss the 12-pound shot; Casselman is the team's representative in the pole vault; Alston in the 220-yard dash and Thorne in the discus.

COUNCIL TO ACT ON SCHOLARSHIP

At least one application for one of the two Wooster college scholarships as provided in the will of the late William McCullough, will be submitted to city council tonight for its approval.

In the event that one of the scholarships is not taken, or both, they will go to the county commissioners and then will be available to prospective college students from any point in the county.

COMPLETE CUT AT "NARROWS"

Work Progressing Rapidly on Ohio River Road.

Work on the "Narrows," below the Jefferson County Children home has been going forward quietly under the direction of State Engineers Harvey Brown and Alkaire, highway department representatives announced today.

The tractor shovel has completed the one cut from the hillside as far as the Pennsylvania railroad overhead bridge and the fill has been made at the point.

Now the shovel is being worked back toward Toronto and another cut is being taken off the hill to widen the road and make a more uniform grade.

It is thought possible that the road may be opened for travel with a traffic bound bed like that to Port Homer in a few months.

END OF WATER PROBLEM LOOMS

Adjustment in Reservoir Controversy Possible.

Possibility that Wellsville's waterworks controversy with Contractor A. W. Hineman might be brought before city council tonight with the possibility of an adjustment looming was hinted today by city officials.

He contended, after completion of the work, that part of money rightfully due him was held up. The city pointed out that Hineman had failed to live up to the specifications of his contract.

A board of arbitration finally was decided as a means of settling the issue and each side eventually appointed its representative. The proceedings, however, struck a snag when it came to the naming of the third, or neutral member, and the case has hung fire since.

It is possible, it was said, that Hineman may suggest a method out of the controversy.

CROWDS VIEW FRIGIDAIRE

Household Models Displayed by Local Dealer.

Scores of interested and curious people crowd the sales room of the J. A. Trotter company, local Frigidaire dealer for their first glimpse of the new household Frigidaire, said to be the outstanding development of the industry this year.

The new Frigidaire, prominently displayed in the show window, is slightly lower in height than other models and decidedly different in appearance. Doors are hung at the bottom of the cabinet instead of the top and the cooling mechanism, built in a single unit, is placed in the top of the cabinet.

The cabinet itself is finished in gleaming white Duco, with solidly mounted metal door clasps and hinges and presents a highly attractive appearance. The new model is extremely quiet in operation, rendering it particularly suitable for apartment house use or other places with limited living space.

"Although the new model has been somewhat reduced in size, its storage capacity has not been decreased" said Mr. Trotter. It has approximately five square feet of shelf space and two ice trays, freezing a total of 36 cubes at a time. Tests have shown that it is very inexpensive to operate.

"An army of men and millions of dollars invested in engineering research and factory production were required to make possible this new Frigidaire which sells at the lowest price in the history of the business. It can be sold for less money simply because the great volume of Frigidaire sales make it possible to build it for less money.

"Frigidaires are now being built at the rate of four a minute— 2,000 a day, to keep pace with the tremendous demand that has arisen for them. With a Frigidaire in the home, the inconvenience and annoyance of an outside ice supply is gone forever."

AUTO CLUBS TO MEET FRIDAY

Twenty-sixth Convention to be Held in Cincinnati.

Radio will play an important part in connection with the twenty-sixth annual convention of the Ohio State Automobile association that will be held at the Hotel Alms in Cincinnati, May 20 and 21. This is one of the many features planned by the Cincinnati Automobile club, which will act as the convention host.

In this connection, arrangements have been made by the club for one hour of broadcasting through station WKRC during the stag party that will be given on Thursday night, May 19, preceding the opening of the convention on the following day. On this occasion a number of prominent speakers on the convention program, as well as a number of the secretaries of affiliated clubs, will be heard over the air. Word of this feature has been forwarded to the various cities and towns over the state where automobile club are located, that those having receiving sets may tune in.

Announcement is made of the completion of the list of speakers who will address the convention during its two-day sesssion and among those included are Thomas P. Henry, Detroit, president, and Ernest N. Smith, D. C., general manager of the American Automobile association. Both speakers are widely known among organized motorists of the country by reason of their official connection with the national organization, and are expected to bring to the delegates at the state convention many of the things that are being accomplished for the benefit of automobile owners on a nation-wide basis. Congressman Nicholas Longworth is also scheduled to speak.

Those of state-wide reputation who have accepted invitations to address the delegates are Attorney General Edward C. Turner, Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown, State Director of Highways George F. Schlesinger, Judge Struble, of the Hamilton county common pleas court, and others.

According to reports being received by Secretary Charles C. Janes, at the headquarters of the state association in Columbus, practically all clubs affiliated with the organization are planning to send their full quota of delegates to the convention, many of whom will be accompanied by their wives. A complete program of entertainment has been planned for the visiting ladies that will occupy their time while the business sessions of the convention are in progress. They will also be the guests of the Cincinnati club at a theatre party on Thursday night.

No expense is being spared by the Cincinnati motorists to make their hospitality complete for the convention visitors.

Snappy Retort.

A professor, coming to one of his classes a little late, found a most uncomplimentary caricature of himself drawn on the board. Turning to the student nearest him, he angrily inquired:

DIX SCORES AT CERAMIC

"Knockout Reilly" Opens Four Day Engagement Here.

One of those fast moving comedy dramas with which Richard Dix has carved for himself cinema fame, opened last night at the Ceramic theatre for a four days' run, when "Knockout Reilly," his latest starring effort for Paramount had its initial showing.

The athletic ability which won him such acclamation in "The Quarterback," stands him again in good stead in this saga of a young steel puddler whose hard fists win him a pugilistic championship after many vicissitudes.

Motivating it all are two very human passions of revenge and love, with an ample sprinkling of the delightful Dix brand of humor.

Mary Brian as the cabaret entertainer is extremely easy to look at. She is one of the chief motivators of the action. Things hum from the very first, when Dix arrives on a Saturday night at the cabaret looking for recreation. He finds plenty when Killer Agerra (Jack Renault) who has just defeated Pat Malone, Mary's pugilist brother, makes unwelcome advances to her. The smitten Reilly knocks him out without knowing who he is. This escapade indirectly starts him on his ring career, for when Malone heart of it, he advises Reilly to adopt the ring as his vocation.

But it takes a beating at the hands of Agerra who thirsting for revenge decoys Reilly to his gymnasium, to convince him to heed Malone's words. Fight by fight, Riley climbs upward until he is signed to meet Agerra the champion.

A bit of gun play in a grocery store near where Reilly is in training results in the wounding of a lumberjack, Dix is convicted on circumstantial evidence and sentenced to two years in jail. Mary's faith instills courage in him, and he keeps in condition by working on the rock pile.

The touches where Dix just out of prison finds his former wide circle of friends narrowed down to the ever faithful Malone, are full of pathos and a grim sort of humor. He is no longer Reilly the promising fighter, but Reilly the jail bird, with an eternal stigma attached to his name.

Malcolm St. Clair, director of "The Popular Sin," and other screen successes, has here blended deft comedy with swift action that abounds in dramatic punches.

Swings out completely clearing the sink. Cover swings open without removing from strainer and is easily removed when desired. Swings under in jack knife fashion out of the way, when not in use. Strainer is made from hard, pure aluminum. All other parts are rust proof.

The Cleanest Method of Disposing of Food Waste.

The perforated bottom of the food waste received allows the water to thoroughly drain off into the drain pan, so that when the receiver is removed for emptying, there are no drippings to soil the kitchen floor.

A Sanitary Safe Guard in the Kitchen

The Hartmetal Sanitary Food Waste Receiver in your kitchen is a safe guard against the unsanitary conditions created by exposed table leavings. Always tightly covered when not in use, the Hartmetal is a guard against flies, vermin, and foul odors. By keeping the food waste out of the sink the Hartmetal eliminates drain stoppage and those dark brown stains created by acids in food waste.

The Heart of the Kitchen

A practical sanitary aid in keeping the kitchen fresh looking and clean. Always at hand when needed - - out of the way under the sink when not in use.

EAST LIVERPOOL—AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

TUESDAY, MAY 17, 1927.

Clean-Up Week

East Liverpool's annual clean-up of attics, cellars and back yards is in full swing today, with the public responding to the appeal of the board of health to eradicate disease-breeding and inflammable accumulations.

Co-operating with the health chieftains, the service department's trucks will haul away all refuse except garbage, if it is deposited in convenient places. The purpose is to improve the community's health as well as inculcate civic pride.

In connection with another city's clean-up, 50 "treasure chests" were planted in as many places, all over town, to help along the good work. There was real money in those chests, and they were buried in the worst places, so deeply that they could not be found without genuine overhauling of the disorderly spots.

It was a fine idea, appealing strongly to the universal taste for treasure-hunting. But really, it shouldn't be necessary to make a special job of hiding such treasure as bait for spring cleaners. If people's own consciences will not drive them to such a task, their instinct should.

There is treasure buried almost everywhere, in rubbish piles, in attics, in cellars, in old barns and back yards and unused buildings, in all sort of out-of-the-way corners. Who ever undertook a clean-up job, and carried it out thoroughly, that failed to find lost or forgotten treasure worth the effort?

Progress In China

The British government has changed its mind about inflicting penalties on China for the hostilities against British subjects and property at Nanking. There will be no punitive bombardment of the city for the Chinese failure to make abject amends and large compensation. Neither will Britain seize any more Chinese territory.

The same powerful government also changes its mind about using its army and navy to regain its concession in Hankow, relinquished some months ago after a strong Chinese demonstration against the British residents there.

England may still carry a big stick, but she is speaking with unwonted softness now in her dealings with China. There are no more violent outbursts from Winston Churchill or any others. The British naval officers in Chinese waters are more careful about turning loose on the natives with their guns.

This is largely the result of the refusal of the United States to support Great Britain in a policy of blood and iron in China. Our government, obedient to the plain will of the American people, has taken the situation calmly, after the first fluster attending the exaggerated Nanking episode. It refuses to play the game of the imperialistic powers. It refuses to coerce China and sandbag the Nationalist party. So the other powers seem to be falling into line and accepting the American policy, in large part.

This is a triumph of American ideals in a very important international drama. The revolt against the Russian meddlers, and the efforts to oust Sovietism from the National party, have made the American task easier.

So things in China are looking better, even if the Nationalists are divided. If the Russian Reds can be squeezed out and the foreign powers will be decent, there is hope of China working out her own salvation.

Earning a Park

If you never heard of New Holstein, Wis., you have missed a tale of civic determination. New Holstein is a town with less than 1,400 population, but it has a public park.

The park is the achievement of the local Women's Civic society. As many as 13 years ago, with only 18 members, that organization set its mind on a park.

The women earned their money with real labor. They made and sold refreshments at band concerts. They collected and sold old mazazines and other paper. They held bazaars with indefatigable energy and courage. The first $2,500 came hardest, they report, but it came none the less and was promptly used to buy a piece of wooded land for the park.

Then they kept on working. As more money was earned it was put to work improving the park, making part of it into a tourist camp, putting up a large well-equipped kitchen from which the women feed hungry throngs on special occasions. A pavilion has now been erected, to be used for community gatherings and dances. A boulevard drive along one side of the park, a good lighting system, flower beds in suitable places, are among the $6,000 improvements achieved by these women.

It has all taken time, labor, determination. It must have taken also a fine spirit of co-operation. One would be interested to know whether these thorough-going women have turned their attention to any other community matters—schools and good government, for example.

Almost time for 10,000,000 Americans to start their season's detouring.

A SNARE FOR THE STRANGER.

Back in the old days when it still was possible legally to buy and sell practically all sorts of wild game in the open, a citizen of a remote county of my native state of Kentucky paid his first visit to a large city. He went on an excursion up to Cincinnati and put up at the old Burnett House.

When dinner time came—only, to my fellow-Kentuckian it was suppertime—he entered the dining room, treading high, wide and handsome, and was assigned to a seat at a table, and after the waiter had elucidated for him the mysteries of an a la carte menu, he gave his order for a plentiful mean, regardless of expense.

But when he came forth into the lobby at the conclusion of the spread there was an expression of intense disappointment upon his rugged face, or upon such portion of his face as was visible above the timber-line where his whiskers left off.

A fellow-excursionist hailed him:

"What's the matter, Uncle Gabe?" he asked. "You look like you might be feeling put out about something or other?"

"Son," said the old gentleman, "I am put out. I've been imposed on."

"What happened?"

"Well, all my life I've been hearin' fellers that had knocked about amongst these Yankees talkin' about quail on toast—sayin' how good it was and how tasty and all. So I made up my mind that ef ever I got to a big town I was goin' to have some of this here quail on toast, no matter how much it cost.

"Well, a little while ago I walked into the backroom of this here tavern to get me some vittles. And mighty near the first thing I seen when the nigger handed me the advertisement was "Quail on Toast—eighty cents."

"So I told him to bring me some right away. But, son, I figure they seen I was green and cheated me out of my eighty cents."

"How so?"

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY
By O. O. McINTYRE

HAVRE, May 17.—Havre, like Cherbourg, has eternally weeping skies. Always a chill, clinging drizzle with flecks of sun now and then on the hillside and quay. But our wretched and wan voyageurs cheered faintly when the barque was warped to the dock. After all, it was land.

The interpid passenger, who, on account of a wide hat and wide eloquent mouth, looked suspciously like a congressman and had left the bar but twice crossing—each time tenderly carried—was the first to lurch down the gangplank. Great bags of white-sacked mail were being tossed over the side. "Folks, my laundry," he cried, pointing.

In the great train sheds the dinky little boat trains with their doleful peanut stand whistles were waiting for the four-hour rush to Paris. Merchants with portable stands lined the way with memories of other days—iced champagne, still wines, flasks of brandy and such.

Those pony-sized dapple gray Normandy horses with bells and ribbons, trotted along, drawing two-wheeled carts of trunks. Bicycles, pedaled madly, whizzed by. Professional guides, caparisoned like major domos in gold ropes, offered their servility for the trifling purbois.

Withered and hooded old women hawked the Paris Herald and Tribune. Wine-sogged porters, bent double with luggage, did their customary haggling for larger tips. A piratical crew that genuflects at a Frenchman's single franc tip and snarls at the American's ten francs.

A stream of passengers promenade forward and back alongside their coaches in effort to regain their land legs. But the sway remains for several hours—somethimes for days. Dogs leap and yip with joy over release from their plunging and dipping environment.

Regular trains, like so many toy cars, go by with first, second and third class coaches—passengers riding in the open atop the later. A blue denimed trainman puffing a cigarette, runs along the boat train ringing a huge dinner bell. A tiny toot, a lurch—and we're off or Paris, tra-la!

Le Havre shows more progress than any city in France. Its population has swollen to nearly 300,000. In another year the big Cunard and White Star liners will dock there. Heretofore the bulk of its liner traffic came from the French line. It is an antiquated type of French city with narrow cobbled streets, mansard roofs with acres of tiny chimney pots, walled garden patches and shuttered attic windows. But today big factories rise skyward. It is the only note of progress I have seen in France since the war.

The first and only stop is at Rouen with its magnificent cathedral. It is the community where Joan d'Arc was burned at the stake. A new railroad station has been in building progress for the past five years and is still unfinished. That, messeurs et madames, is la belle France. The official boat bun debouched from his compartment and assuaged his burning thirst with a half pint of champagne, snatched from a depot cart peddler.

As the train slows up for crossings, ragged little undernourished children race along the side with outstretched aprons, crying "Pin-nees!" Passengers amuse themselves by showering sous, adding to our fame of "rich Americans."

Old women still work in the fields with their men, stopping to look up dully at passing trains. Here and there a grand old crumbling chateau with leaded windows, poises along the slope—a fleeting glimpse of the grandeur that was once of France.

Eiffel Tower is faintly traced on the horizon. The gates of the city are passed. The train slows down. Blue smocked porters swarm through the windows to snatch baggage and the train thunders on to a dead stop in Gare St. Lazarre. All out for Paris!

HASKIN'S LETTER
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Women Officeholders.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 17.—Surveys made for the National League of Women Voters in Minnesota, Connecticut, Ohio, Alabama, Washington, Kansas, and Wisconsin apparently indicate that women generally are making substantial gains in the number of public offices which they hold. This conclusion is not absolutely certain, for the data available do not cover a sufficient period of time to admit of illuminating comparisons.

However, there is no question that women are gathering more political plums in some states, whatever the facts may be as to the country as a whole. In Connecticut, for example, in 1925 there were but 97 women holding municipal, county, and state offices as compared with 355 holding similar offices in 1926 and 1927. Minnesota had a total of 125 in 1896 as compared with 209 this year. Ohio and Kansas have, respectively, 91 and 228 women in county and state offices this year, but figures for preceding years are not available and comparisons can not be made.

Wisconsin shows 70 women in state and county offices last year as against 61 in 1925. No figures are given for municipal offices.

Women lawmakers to the number of 122 were elected to the various state legislatures that meet this year, 12 of them as state senators and 110 as representatives. The total shows a slight falling off from 1925 and 1926 when approximately 120 held legislative offices. Fourteen states have no women representatives. The gains that have been made are chiefly in the east. In Connecticut, a state that opposed woman suffrage to the very last, 15 women will sit in the 1927 legislature.

That is their largest representation in any state, and may be contrasted with Wyoming, the first state to accord women suffrage rights, which elected only one woman legislator. Iowa where women were barred from service in the legislature, ratified a state constitutional amendment at the last election that will let the bars down by striking out the word "male" from the constitutional qualifications of legislators.

Five States Have Almost Half.

Almost one-half of the women lawmakers are to be found in five states. New Hampshire has 13, Ohio 11, New Jersey 9, and Vermont 8, which added to Connecticut's 15 make a total of 56. Include either Maine, Pennsylvania, or Illinois, each of which has 6, and the six states will have a majority of feminine legislators.

When it comes to winning county offices women seem to fare best when they go after the berth of county superintendent of schools. In three states they hold 155 such offices—72 in Kansas, 54 in Minnesota, and 29 in Wisconsin. Rocorder and register of deeds seems to be their next best bet, for they have 63 in Kansas, 25 in Ohio, 10 in Wisconsin, and 7 in Minnesota.

By Charles P. Stewart.

WASHINGTON, May 17.—No wonder prohibition's leadership in Washington has seemed erratic of late. No wonder recent dry politices at the capital have taken directions it was hard to understand.

WAYNE B. WHEELER

Wayne B. Wheeler is about to pass out of the picture, they say.

He's a very sick man, according to his friends.

Everything possible appears to have been done to minimize the seriousness of his illness, in the hope that he might mend, but at last it's admitted that he has been in failing health for months.

POLITICALLY speaking, Wayne B Wheeler's has been about the last word on the subject of national prohibition for around ten years.

The drys, it's to be borne in mind, didn't come into power as a party but as a non-partisan force. They never have been the government, as the dominant party is. Instead, they've told officialdom what they wanted. To do this they needed a spokesman and that's what Wayne B. Wheeler's been—plus a great deal more.

Originally Wheeler was spokesman solely for the Anti-Saloon League, which is only one among a number of prohibition organizations, but most, if not all, of the others presently accepted him as theirs, too, simply because they recognized in him the ideal man for the job.

It isn't quite exact to say he was a leader. He never was official head even of his own group, the Anti-Saloon League. Officially he was, and is its general counsel.

More accurately, as to prohibition, he was an embodiment. When he expressed himself, as prohibition's spokesman, it was prohibition expressing itself.

Good team work on all the dry organizations' part was vital and Wheeler was the diplomat to insure it.

He had intelligence and determination and courage, a flair of upblicity, endless patience, boundless industry and enthusiasm, and he never loses his head.

Wets don't like him but no wet who knows him ever denied he's a wonderful man.

AS a dry politician it's safe to say Wheeler hasn't an equal in the United State.

All the politics he knows, he knows from that angle he knows it in all its ramifications, unto the third and fourth generations, both ways.

It goes without saying that no cause can lose a general like this without suffering a certain amount of disorganization, and there are signs of it in the drys' ranks.

INDEED, rumor hath it that the Haynes row isn't so much over Haynes as it is a test of strength to determine who shall step into Wheeler's shoes.

It's no cinch that anybody can fill them.

Somebody can be chosen, of course, but can he hold the faithful together and lead 'em as warily as Wheeler has?

Prominently mentioned possibilities are:

F. Scott McBride of the Anti-Saloon league, who has been acting as Wheeler's assistant in recent months; Dr. Clarence True Wilson of the Methodist Episcopal Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals, and Dr. E. W. Dinwiddie of the National Temperance Bureau.

In the office of county clerk they have 13 in Ohio, 11 in Wisconsin, and 8 in Kansas; county treasurer, Kansas 24, Ohio 11, Wisconsin 10, and Minnesota 3; probate judge, Kansas 11, Ohio 4, and Minnesota 2; county sheriff, 3 each in Kansas and Wisconsin and 1 in Ohio.

"From the survey of women in county positions," says the report to the General Council of the League, "it is apparent that the office of county superintendent of schools is as much a woman's job as a man's. Progress is in the right direction when women fill positions which they are best qualified to hold. It is possible that women will predominate in the smaller political units, the town and the county. These offices seem to demand just the combination of capacities and interest most likely to be found among women. They demand faithful, business-like attention to details and simple, intelligent integrity and matter-of-course enforcement of law."

It is regarded as rather out of the line of the expected order of things for women to hold the office of county sheriff. The three that were elected in Wisconsin are accounted for by the statutory provision prohibiting a sheriff from succeeding himself in office in that state. The women recently elected are merely succeeding their husbands and by appointing their husbands deputy sheriffs they get around the law and keep the offices in the family.

Not many figures have been collected as to women in city, town, or village offices, but Connecticut leads with 339 in 1927 as compared with 80 in 1926. Minnesota has 134 this year as against 58 last year, three of them being mayors. Seattle, Washington, also has a woman mayor.

In all, seven women have been elected members of the national House of Representatives since Miss Jeanette Rankin blazed the trail in 1916. Three of them are members of the present Congress.

Practical Political Work.

In the way of practical political work in 1928, aside from seeking office where the seeking is good, women through their national and state organizations will continue balloting classes; conduct round tables, discussion groups, citizenship schools, and institutes of government and politics; provide service to voters, such as political calendars, information booths, sample ballots, and digests of election laws; send questionnaires to candidates and give out non-partisan information on candidates and issues; hold candidates' meetings; work for the appointment of women as election officials, encourage women to become active in the parties of their choice; stress the importance of taking part in the nomination of candidates, and stand back of the direct primary as the best method of nomination.

Women will also try to improve registration and election machinery by supporting registration at times and places convenient for voters, reasonable residence requirements for voters, suitable polling places, efficient judges and clerks, precincts small enough so that there may be no long waiting at the polls, corrupt practices acts giving assurance of a fair count of ballots cast, a short ballot, and improvement of absentee voting regulations and encouragement of their use.

Studies made of different types of communities in five states show that the percentage of women who vote is smaller than that of men. The head of the family holds the best record, as a voter, and next to him come the son and daughter, and last the wife. Persons belonging to the middle-age group have the largest voting percentage, and those of the youngest group the lowest percentage. The better the education, the higher the voting percentage of the group, and a very small per cent of the total eligible voters never use their vote.

The failure of so many women to exercise their newly won right of the franchise is the chief concern of the League of Women Voters, it is reiterated, and is the reason for the league existence. Leaders of the organization believe that this will be remedied and a change brought about, not by intensive get-out-the-vote campaigns shortly before election days, but by an all the year round persistent effort through political education to stimulate the participation of women in government.

"It's Perfect"

Children are gloriously well when their special needs are met with simple foods. A bowl of Quick Mother's Oats with milk is one of the best of the "growth foods" now considered so important.

The tender bran of the oat adds extra value to this nourishing food

Often cereals lose much of their natural value through being too highly refined. Children especially need the tender bran as it is found in Quick Mother's Oats, and that is one reason child health specialists approve it so highly.

A bowl of Quick Mother's Oats and milk is rich, too, in vitamins and minerals indispensable for sound, normal growth. And a cup of each a day supplies 23% of the tissue-building protein a growing child must have.

For many years the careful millers of Quick Mother's Oats have studied ways of milling to keep this flavor—and to make a fine, even meal that cooks up always the way you like it—smooth and even!

So that mothers who realize the importance of oatmeal as a "growth food" find in this 50-year-old brand a quality they can always trust.

Two kinds—the kind you have always known or Quick (cooks in 2½ to 5 minutes). Both with coupons interchangeable with Aunt Jemima coupons, for lovely linens, curtains, jewelry.

SOCIETY

House of David Band Will Play at Park on Saturday

The House of David band, direct from their colony at Benton Harbor, Mich., will play for the dance at Rock Springs Park next Saturday night.

This band will be brought to Virginia Gardens at a considerable expense to the park management. It recently filled a week's engagement at Meyers Lake park, Canton, and has appeared at other ball rooms in the tri-state district.

The House of David band is not a one-star organization but a group of trained musicians, all members of the famous cult of which "King" Benjamin Purnell was once leader. Their program includes the latest jazz selections, parodies on all the song hits of bygone days and other specialties.

The park management has also booked Howard Thomas and his original Cotton Pickers' orchestra for an indefinite engagement at the Virginia Gardens. This orchestra-band is now on the Junior Orpheum circuit.

The Kit Kat club of the Beaver Valley conducted a dance at the park last night. Music was in charge of Cornwell's Cavalieres, of Philadelphia.

Missionary Society Meeting.

Forty-five persons attended the coverdish party given last evening at 6 o'clock, in the social room of the Methodist Protestant church by the Woman's Foreign Missionary society. The affair was in the form of a get-together meeting.

Following the dinner, four groups were organized to raise money. Miss Alma Taylor gave a report of the Pittsburgh branch meeting of the society. Mrs. C. H. Risinger read a letter from Miss Theresa Frank, a missionary in India.

The next meeting will be held on Monday, June 20.

The druggist has color cards and simple directions for doing perfect dyeing of all sorts of material; silk or wool; linen, cotton goods; mixed goods, or any goods at all; and exquisite tinting of dainty things. Mrs. Homer Secrest Hostess.

The Esther Bible club was entertained last evening at the home of Mrs. Homer Secrest in Vine street. Responses to roll call were quotations on "Friendship." The tenth chapter of the study book, "Pastoral and Personal," was the topic. Miss Virginia Usler discussed "The Place of the Epistles" and "Paul's Fourth Missionary Journey." Miss Hazel Laughlin read a paper prepared by Mrs. Grace Howard on "The Questions Discussed," "Paul's Last Declaration of His Faith" and "The Epistle to Timothy." Miss Margaret Baum told of "The Epistle to Titus" and "The Second Epistle to Timothy." Miss Helen Welch reviewed "Esther."

This was the last meeting of the club season.

Needlework Society Entertains.

Members of the Young Ladies' Needlework society of St. John's Lutheran church entertained last evening in the social room of the church with a coverdish party at 6 o'clock, honoring the birthday anniversary of Dr. J. G. Reinartz, pastor. Spring flowers adorned the table. The honor guest was presented with a bouquet of roses.

"Ride 'Em, Cowboy, Ride 'Em"

If you have any idea that Cowboy "Mathews" stunt is an easy one, forget it. It takes grit and plenty of it to go through a grind of five days and nights handcuffed to the steering wheel.

✣ ✣ ✣ ✣ ✣ ✣ ✣ ✣

In addition to stamina on the driver's part, it takes a good car fueled up with the absolute best gasoline and oil and we don't mind telling the whole blue-eyed world that we are furnishing both on Cowboy Mathews' preseut endurance run.

✣ ✣ ✣ ✣ ✣ ✣ ✣ ✣

When Mr. Mathews first hit town he made some searching tests and of course MARATHON was his choice. Ask him if you have the opportunity, what he thinks of it.

✣ ✣ ✣ ✣ ✣ ✣ ✣ ✣

MARATHON gasoline is made for the motorist who takes pride in the performance of his car, for the motorist who demands a full quota of comfort and assurance without extra expense, for the motorist who wishes to keep his motor young and lusty, in a word its made for the motorist who wants to protect every point of his motor car investment.

✣ ✣ ✣ ✣ ✣ ✣ ✣ ✣

Regardless if you want to make an endurance run similar to the present one, or if you just use your car in an ordinary way, MARATHON will respond to every one of your requirements. Will you try some?

LEGION'S TRIP TO PARIS MAY COST BUT $300

Minimum Expense Figured by Convention Officer.

Trip Figured to Include Battlefield Tours.

COLUMBUS, O., May 17.—A trip to Paris for the ninth annual convention of The American Legion in September from Indianapolis, the approximate center of population of the United States, can be made with comfort for $300 it is estimated by J. J. Saslavsky, of Columbus, Department France Convention Officer for this state. This figure will allow $42.50 for incidentals that the veteran may buy to make his trip more enjoyable.

While the cost of the Paris pilgrimage will vary as the taste and pocketbook of the individual Legionnaire there will probably be many of the veterans who will make the journey with a minimum expense record. Legionnaires traveling on the expense record of $300 will live in luxury on the second trip over as compared to that first trip in wartime. Under the advantageous travel rates obtained by the Legion the veterans will spend less per day than the ordinary automobile summer tour in this country would cost.

The minimum expense record for the Paris convention as figured from the Hoosier state by the Department France Convention Officer follows:

Sept. 5—Leave Indianapolis.
Round trip railway fare	$ 29.20

She Got Rid of Those Two Bad Mornings

Menstruation is a perfectly natural process, but the painful part is NEEDLESS. Long study has absolutely conquered menstrual pain. Science now offers women reliable and complete relief—in a simple, utterly harmless tablet called midol.

This newest achievement of the laboratory has nothing to do with drastic, habit-forming drugs that kill pain by benumbing the whole system! Midol acts directly on the organs affected by menstruation, and nowhere else. Yet relief and absolute comfort come in five to seven minutes!

So, why have a twinge of pain—feel "low" or even uncomfortable? Or take anything to depress the heart or upset the system? All drug stores have midol in a thin aluminum box that tucks in purse or pocket — for 50 cents.

Battles Robbers

While Patrolman Howard L. Weber of Buffalo, N .Y., was drinking a soda in the prescription room of a drug store he heard the command "hands up" issue from the front of the store. Weber, stepping into the doorway, beheld three masked bandits holding up a clerk. When the battle was ended one bandit lay dead, another was taken to a hospital with bullets in his head and chest and the third, who was near the door, made his escape. Although 10 bullets were aimed at the policeman he was uninjured.

Soft lustrous lingerie

HARD WATER + = PLUS MEL'O MAKES SOFT WATER

IT WAS very precious. It was very soiled. It had to be washed—well. The usual care was taken. Why wasn't this lingerie utterly ruined? Lingerie often is, no matter how careful you are in washing it. Why? It was washed in water softened with Melo.

Hard water ruins lingerie because soap combining with the hardness in hard water forms a scum. That scum gets into the fine fibers of the fabric. It can't be rinsed out or washed out. But you try. The result is either lingerie which isn't clean or lingerie ruined utterly.

Use Melo. It makes all hard water completely soft. A pinch in the washbowl makes the water soft as rain water. Wash your lingerie in that. Two tablespoonfuls in the bath prevent the forming of that scummy ring around the tub. A teaspoonful in the dishpan keeps the greasy feel out of the dish-water. Melo saves ⅓ to ½ the amount of soap ordinarily used.

Keep a can of Melo in the kitchen, in the laundry, in the bathroom. Get it at your grocer's.

The water in East Liverpool is 9 times as hard as it should be. Two tablespoonfuls of Melo will soften a bathtub full of water. Two tablespoonfuls in the washtubs. One teaspoonful in the dishpan.

KILLING OF TWO MARINES IN NICARAGUA CONFIRMED

TWO OTHER MEN ARE WOUNDED BY GUERILLAS

Dozen of Attackers Fall When Americans Fire.

CAPTAIN SLAIN

Most of Liberals Surrender; Cartridges, Guns Seized.

MANAGUA, May 17.—The attack on United States marines at La Paz Centro, resulting in the death of Captain Richard Buchanan and the wounding of two enlisted men, does not indicate any general movement on the part of the rebels to continue guerilla warfare against the Americans, according to the best opinion here.

The major portion of the liberals have already surrendered their arms to the American marines at Thipitapa.

Two million cartridges, three thousand guns and forty machine guns already have bene surrendered.

Statements issued by Dr. Sacasa, liberal leader at Puerto Cabezas, declaring that his soldiers will fight until death and bitterly criticizing the Stimson peace plan, are regarded here as being statements issued largely for home consumption. Dr. Sacasa's followers in the field have surrendered generally.

WASHINGTON, May 17. — A dispatch to the navy today from Rear Admiral Julian L. Latimer confirmed the killing of two U. S. marines and the wounding of two others in a clash with Nicaraguan guerillas at La Paz Centro.

The dead are Capt. Richard Buchanan of Washington, nad Private Martin A. Jackson, of Jacksonville. Fla., the wounded, private Wm. F. Simon and Corp. A. J. Rausch.

Two hundred guerillas attacked the marine encampment, the dispatch said, and a dozen of the attackers were killed when the marines returned the fire.

Capt. Buchanan joined the marines in 1917, after graduating from the University of Illinois. His mother, Mrs. G. B. Buchanan, lives near Plainfield, N. J., a wife and three children survive in Washington.

Next of kin of Jackson is Mrs. G. W. Everett, 220 North Jefferson St., Chicago.

Tausch, a native of Hungary, left no next of kin and had no dependents.

Donahey Pardons Two

office this morning that neither Bouklias nor Turner knew they were pardoned. Authorization for their release, Jacob Meckstroth, secretary to the governor, announced, will be sent to Warden P. E. Thomas, at the penitentiary immediately, and the two men will be liberated today.

Bouklias, also known as "Harry, the Greek," charged with being a bootlegger, and Turner, accused of being a gambler, both well known in the Canton underworld, testified that graft had been collected for Curtis from proprietors of gambling houses and various other places of vice in Canton.

This testimony was submitted both to the grand jury at Canton and at an investigation conducted here by Governor Donahey.

Officials at the governor's office appeared to be unable to credit the report that Bouklias and Turner, while incarcerated in the penitentiary here, furnished valuable information to Detective Ora Slater, Cincinnati, and to public officials who participated in the prosecution of persons accused of taking part in the murder of Don R. Mellett, publisher of the Canton Daily News.

Clemency Board Urged Action.

Governor Donahey's action in extending executive clemency to Bouklias and Turner followed receipt by the governor of a letter from Price Russell and Dan W. Williams, members of the state clemency board, who recommended commutation so that their sentences would expire May 16 (Monday).

The board, also, submitted to the governor letters addressed to Turner and to Bouklias by Common Pleas Judge Abram W. Agler, Canton, and former Prosecuting Attorney C. B. McClintock, Stark county, respectively, who favored liberation of the two prisoners.

Judge Agler was the trial judge and McClintock prosecuted the cases against Bouklias and Turner as well as against Curtis.

So-Called "Patent Medicine Craze" Hit

American Public is Being "Bunked" to Tune of Millions of Dollars a Year, Says Dr. A. J. Cramp.

WASHINGTON, May 17.—The American public is being "bunked" to the tune of millions of dollars a year by the so-called "patent medicine" craze, it was declared today by Dr. A. J. Cramp, of Chicago, head of the bureau of investigation of the American medical association.

The ailing middle aged, who buy quick remedies, and women, who purchase useless and sometimes harmful cosmetics, are proving that "you can fool some of the people all the time," Cramp said. The medical association, with its 4,000 physicians in convention here, he added, has launched an educational drive to warn the public against all "bunk" remedies.

The cosmetic situation was being considered by the house of delegates, the conventions' legislative body, where a resolution pended calling on congress to enact a law regulating the manufacture and sale of beautifiers. The resolution was sponsored by the New York State Medical association, after many cases of cosmetic poisonings were discovered.

Huge Exhibits Staged.

Huge exhibits were staged at the convention to demonstrate how easily the American public can be "bunked." The exhibits will be sent around the country in an effort to warn the general public.

"Nearly all these patent medicines are the bunk, said Dr. Cramp. Our investigation shows that they are three groups. First, the medicines which are distinctly harmful because they contain habit forming drugs; second, those which are wholly harmless and therefore worthless; and third, some drugs, which have certain beneficial effect, but which are advertised to effect cures which are absolutely without justification."

Some of the exhibits were laughprovoking. There was one "skin whitener," selling at $2.72 a pound box, which was found to be nothing more than Epsom's salts, colored. There was a famous facial clay, advertised as certain to clear complexions, give the skin color, remove blackheads and to revitalize nerve centers. It was analyzed, the bureau of investigation reported, and found to be "one-half crude clay and one-half water."

Warns Against "Freckle Removers."

A special warning was issued against freckle removers. One compound, the bureau said, was analyzed and "government chemists found that its chief ingredient is a caustic poisona—ammoniated mercury."

The ladies, subject to obesity, were also warned against "fat reducing cures." One very well known fat reducing compound was found to be nothing but "Washington soda," the bureau reported, while another was found to contain "alum, alcohol and water." The latter was sold for $25 a bottle and cost but 30 cents to make.

The physicians likewise warned against "hair restorers," the bureau declaring "no hair dye will restore the color of the hair; it will merely dye it." "Many hair-dyes contain dangerous substances," the bureau added, "including aniline derivatives, lead salts or silver salts. The first may produce a skin eruption, the others may poison the system."

Men Bunked, Too.

The bureau warned against "consumption cures" and cited numerous instances where the manufacturers published testimonials from "patients who were cured," but who in reality "died of consumption" months previously. The death certificates were attached.

And there was a maternity compound sold under the claim that it will make childbirth easier, but which was found to consist of an oil and a small quantity of soap."

Oh, yes, the men are being bunked too, the bureau reported. There is a dandruff massage, which "when analyzed in the American Medical association's chemical laboratory, was found to contain kerosene, alcohol, water, quinine, perfume and dye. It costs 20 cents a gallon and sells for $48 a gallon. Bald-headed optimists pay the bill."

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, May 17.—Sharp recoveries in the railroad stocks, with moderate recoveries in the industrials and motors, but further declines in the oil stocks, marked the course of the early trading in the stock market today. A slight decline in the aggregate of brokers' borrowings, in a period marked by rising prices in the speculative leaders, helped to strengthen the technical position of the market.

The Nickel Plate railroad shares and a few standard dividend-payers, iod. Nickel Plate sold up about 4 points at 220½, while Atchison, Chesaled a moderately rally in the first peapeake and Ohio, New York Central, Western Maryland and Kansas City Southern advanced to 3 points. Hocking Valley had a rapid turnover in the odd-lot section.

Industrial reports were generally favorable. Westinghouse Electric company reported sales for the year ended March, 927 at the largest in its history, and $20,000,000 in excess of the previous high record figure. American Petroleum instituted showed a considerable falling off in crude oil production, while steel mill operations were shown to have held steadily Call money renewals 4½ per cent.

A few of the motor and utility stocks reached a higher level of prices in the first hour, but there was plenty of stock for sale a point or two above Monday's closing prices, and it was therefore impossible for the list as a whole to make any pronounced headway. The market as a whole was dull and narrow in this period, with professionals dominating its activity.

Grain and cotton were irregular in the early trading, with narrow price changes. Foreign exchange was firm

Ashbaugh, who died Sunday night in her home in East Palestine after a short illness of pneumonia, will be held at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon at 1072 St. Clair avenue, in charge of Rev. Dr. J. G. Besides her husband, she leaves one brother, Fred C. Nagel, of East Liverpool.

NOTE REVEALS SUICIDE PLAN

A note, revealing the intention of Mrs. Ethel Wasson, 28, wife of John Wasson, who died last Thursday afternoon from the effects of a bullet wound in her head, to commit suicide, was found yesterday, police said today.

The note, written on one page of a diary, was found in the drawer of a dresser in Mrs. Wasson's bedroom. It was addressed to her husband whom she called "Hossie." It read:

"Please forgive me. I love you and mama, Sam and Alma and all your people. You have done all you can do for me. It's my health that is making me do this. Goodbye, you have been good to me."

The woman was found dying by her husband when he returned from work last Thursday afternoon. She was lying on the floor with a bullet hole near her left ear. A revolver was in her right hand.

Coroner J. M. Van Fossan, East Palestine, who conducted an inquest, could find no powder burns on the woman's skin near the bullet wound, indicating that the gun was not fired at close range. After examining a number of witnesses he rendered a verdict of "suicide by shooting."

Mrs. Wasson, police claim, underwent treatment in a state institution for the insane a few months ago. She had been under a doctor's care for a nervous trouble for several weeks.

The motor of the plane stopped while the machine was about 75 feet from the ground, witnesses said, and the plane suddenly plunged to earth.

Geiger was so badly burned that it was impossible to determine whether he was killed in the crash or burned to death.

SEEK WEAPON USED TO KILL PRETTY GIRL

PICK UP CLUE

Chemists Analyze Stains on Clothing of Suspects.

CLEVELAND, May 17.—A brick mantelpiece in the East End apartment where Elizabeth Reagan was stabbed to death here Saturday night, was to be torn out today by police in an attempt to find the weapon used by the murderer of the pretty young divorcee.

Detectives, working overtime on the case, which climaxed a series of unsolved murders of women here in the recent past, were questioning several men, being held for investigation, while chemists were analyzing supposed blood stains found on the clothing of a suspect who lived in the neighborhood of the girl's room.

The latest clue which is considered the most valuable so far, according to police, developed when the identity of a man who Saturday afternoon sent a mysterious telephone message to the restaurant where the girl was employed as a waitress, was learned.

The theory advanced by the police is that the crime was committed by a jealous lover, whose affection was not returned by the young woman and who finally flew into a rage over her indifference.

Among the men being held were the following: A former manager of a restaurant where the victim once worked; a Spaniard, who once kept company with a one-time roommate of the slain woman; a member of the National guard who was a suitor of the girl and the neighbor in whose rooms detectives say they found several articles of clothing bearing what was believed to be blood stains.

When questioned this man claimed he was subject to nose-bleed, but it was decided to hold him until the stains are analyzed.

Rogers expressed some disappointment that Millicent did not choose a resident of the United States this time.

Popular With Paris Smart Set.

The Argentine is very popular with the Paris smart set, in which circle he is well known, especially among the North Americans. He is fond of automobiling and owns two powerful motor cars.

When it was recalled to the countess that, at the time of her divorce, she said she would marry an American if she took another husband, she laughed as she replied:

"Well, 'Arturazo' is a South American, but he is more of a North American than he is of the European type. His many North American friends have 'Americanized' him."

Col. and Mrs. Rogers and little Peter Salm, young son of the countess, are at present in Paris.

STRAUSS FILES FOR TREASURER

FANATICS PLAN PHILIPPINE RAID

MANILA, P. I., May 17.—Believing Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana to be an apostle of independence, fanatic followers of Flor Iintrenchcrado, self-styled "emperor of the Philippines," are planning to raid the provincial government of Occidental negroes, it was reported today.

Information to this effect was telegraphed to Manila by Captain De Jesus, commander of the provincial constabulary. De Jesus added, however, that adequate precautions were taken.

300 RESCUED IN FLOOD ZONE

Melville Levee on Atchafalaya River Breaks.

NEW ORLEANS, La., May 7.—Three hundred men and women, some with children in arms, are being rescued by coast guardsmen today from limbs of trees and roof tops to which they were driven when the flood waters from the Bayou De Glaises swept over their refuge on Reeds Hill.

Pierre Gastrand, an alligator hunter brought word to Opelousas that the plight of the refugees at Reeds Hill was desperate, and a fleet of 40 surf boats manned with coast guardsmen set out at once for the spot.

Reeds Hill is a highland behind Morrow, in St. Landry parish, and for generations has been the refuge for descendants of the Arcadians who settled this country.

Town is Evacuated.

BATON ROUGE, La., May 17.—The Melville levee on the Atchafalaya river broke today, according to reports reaching relief headquarters here.

The break will not inundate any new territory, it was said, but will hasten the movement of the flood waters toward the gulf.

Melville was being evacuated today.

While flood waters released by the disintegration of the 50-mile Bayou Des Glaises levees swept southward through St. Landry parish today, new armies labored under emergency orders on the east bank of the Mississippi in a desperate attempt to hold the levees at Plaquemin Point, 18 miles south of Baton Rouge.

The waters have broken through the Plaquemine Point barriers eight times during the last three days, two breaks having been finally sealed early today after almost 24 hours' work. The levees along more than a two-mile front are so thoroughly saturated that one walking along the base sinks almost ankle deep in mud and seepage.

A crevesse in this section of the main channel levee would flood portions of East Baton Rouge, Ascension and Livingston parishes, and spill through the Bayou Manchau and the Amite river into Lake Maurepas and thence to Lake Pontchartrain, at the back door of New Orleans.

The court has granted Sullivan permission to visit his child twice monthly.

The action of the Potters Savings & Loan company of East Liverpool against John C. Rayl and Elizabeth B. Rayl has been dismissed in common pleas court without record, and the costs paid. In this case the plaintiffs sought the recovery of a claim of $5,-11.97, including interest.

COMMISSIONERS HOLD HEARING

Property Owners on Two Roads Present Claims for Damages.

While the road hearing before the county commissioners Monday was extended because of so many property owners listed along the right of way of the Rogers-Negley road and the Clarkson-Elkton road, the land owners were rather conservative in claims.

Some of the land owners presented written claims when their names were called, others, however, were compelled to consult the plans of the new roads before a record of the claim was made by Clerk L. H. Johnson.

It was indicated by all the property owners attending the meeting that the improvement of either road was desired, and the only question at issue was the reasonablenes of the claims each filed.

The commissioners did not indicate at their meeting Monday what the ultimate result of the conference would be, but it was said that those who did not file claims, or waive damages are now "out of court."

Grading of both roads is to be done this year, and bids for the projects will be sought at an early date. It may follow that bids for the grading of the two jobs will be opened by the commissioners next month. Surfacing of the two roads will be given consideration as soon thereafter as possible.

MEMORIAL DAY PLANS FORMED

Rev. B. R. Johnson of the East Liverpool Christian church will deliver the Memorial day address at Lisbon, the event to take place in the Lisbon opera house.

Arrangements for Memorial day at Lisbon are being completed by the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars, and these organizations will have charge of decorating graves at the Lisbon cemetery and 13 small nearby burial grounds.

Road Aid Sought.

Members of Midway Grange have filed a petition with the county commissioners asking aid be given by the county to the trustees of Fairfield and Salem townships and citizens of those townships who propose to resurface a road extending from the Leetonia-Lisbon road to Midway Grange hall. No definite action has been taken on the petition, but this is expected to be done next Monday.

Judgment Handed Down.

A judgment for $5,640 has been handed down in common pleas court in favor of the plaintiff in the foreclosure suit filed by the Potters Savings & Loan company against Walter E. Skidmore and others. There was a trial to the court in this case and the judgment was on a finding due as of April 12. A decree of foreclosure of mortgage and an order of sale has been granted.

Woman Seeks Divorce.

Through her counsel, Frank E. Grosshans, of East Liverpool, Margaret Teaford has filed an action for divorce in common pleas court against her husband, Ruben Teaford, said to be residing in Beaver Falls, Pa. The couple were married at New Cumberland, W. Va., February 26, 1925.

Mrs. Teaford charges her husband with gross neglect of duty.

To Award Contract.

A general contract is to be awarded at a meeting of the county commissioners next Tuesday for maintenance of county improved roads. The successful bidder will be required to take care of and repair all roads that come under the jurisdiction of the commissioners, and outside of those roads which are under state maintenance.

HEATING PLANT BIDS SOUGHT

Bids for a new heating plant for the county home are now being sought by the county commissioners, and contracts will be awarded at a meeting of the commissioners to be held June 6th. The present heating equipment at the county home is now a heavy maintenance charge on the county.

The improvement has been estimated to cost between $10,000 and $12,000. It is proposed to have the new plant installed during the summer season. Numerous aplications have been made for specifications, and indications are that bidding on the project will be keen.

Marriage License.

A marriage license has been issued to J. M. Buchanan and Ellen McMillen, both residing at East Palestine.

Partition Order Issued.

An order of partition has been handed down in common pleas court in the case of Nathan Reich against Ira H. Aronson and others. Commissioners appointed in this matter are Lee S. Cooper, J. S. Hilbert and Frank Little of East Liverpool. The court has found in this case that the plaintiff is indebted to the defendant in the sum of $106.01.

Woman Granted Divorce.

Filing of a petition for alimony in common pleas court, Jan. 20th, 1926, by Grace Maple against her husband J. H. Maple resulted in a decree of divorce being granted Mrs. Maple when the case was brought to trial before Judge W. F. Lones. STELLA DALLAS AT AMERICAN

Eighteen Months Required in Making Melodrama.

A year and a half of careful preparation and planning was spent by Samuel Goldwyn before actually putting into production his screen version of "Stella Dallas," which opened at the American theatre. It is directed by Henry King and features an all-star cast of unusual brilliance. It is the first picture to be distributed by United Artists Corporation under the affiliation of the Samuel Goldwyn units with that organization.

Nearly two years ago, this producer purchased the motion picture rights to this celebrated novel by Olive Higgins Prouty. During all that period he kept up a constant search to find the ideal actress to interpret the title role of "Stella" which reveals a romantic girl at the ages of eighteen, twenty-five and thirty-five.

Tests were made in both Hollywood and New York of seventy-two good possibilities, and finally the great plum, sought by these many prominent personalities of stage and screen, was awarded to Belle Bennett. Literally, the producer and director found their ideal on the studio steps after a search through America and which had even extended into Europe.

Miss Bennett has spent an entire lifetime upon the stage and screen. She comes from a theatrical family, her father having been famous "on the boards" as Billie Bennett. She has had considerable picture experience but "Stella Dallas" gives her the first really big chance she has enjoyed, and observers prophecy for her a tremendous future as a result of her work in this great American drama.

Henry King was not selected to direct "Stella Dallas." He had read the book, knew that Samuel Goldwyn had the screen rights, and asked to be allowed the privilege of picturizing it. It is known that with but a few exceptions Henry King has clung to his ideal to only direct those pictures which he desires to do and on which he sets his heart.

YOUTHS BOUND OVER TO COURT

Claire Cunningham and Rodney Johnson Face Serious Charge.

Rodney Johnson, 21, and Claire Cunningham, 19, both residing on the Fairview road, were bound over to await the action of the grand jury on a charge of breaking and entering when arraigned today before Justice A. G. Allison. They were taken to the county jail by Chief of Police William Smith.

The youths were taken into custody about 3:30 this morning while prowling about with a flashlight in the C. T. McCutcheon drug store at the corner of Fifth street and Carolina avenue, Chief Smith said.

An employe of the American Sheet and Tin Plate company, enroute home at 1:30 noticed two persons standing at Fifth street. He informed Chief Smith, and the two men returned and took up their positions in the rear of the Eppley store on the opposite side of the street.

Their vigil was rewarded about an hour later when the chief noticed a light in the cellar of the drug store. Summoning other citizens the police head gained entrance to the store and, he said, found the two suspects.

Several boxes of candy and other articles had been piled up, according to the chief.

Entrance was gained to the basement by opening a transom in the adjoining store and working their way to the lower floor where a partition separated the two business places.

CHESTER PLANS NEW CITY HALL

Mass Meeting of Citizens Called for Friday Night.

Question of erecting a combined city hall and fire station will be discussed at a mass meeting to be held Friday night at 8 o'clock in the I. O. O. F.-K. of P. hall, according to a decision reached last night at a session of council.

A resolution was passed authorizing Mayor Frank H. Riley to call the meeting.

It was pointed out that a building suitable for the purpose could be erected at an approximate cost of $7,000 or $8,000 which would probably serve for about five years. It was suggested that this money be raised by popular subscription. Unless this plan is adopted it is probably that council will authorize a bond issue of larger amount.

Council also adopted reports of the various city officers.

ALLEGED DOPE RING UNCOVERED

An 'alleged' dope ring which officers believe has been operating for the past two years, was unearthed on Sunday evening by Weirton authorities with the arrest of three colored persons. Those under arrest gave their names as Mrs. E. G. Garett of Calico Hill, Weirton; Marie Geter, North Fourth street, Weirton, and E. G. Garett, blacksmith, North street and Marsh alley, Steubenville.

The three under arrest, were taken on Sunday evening from the Weirton police station to the Hancock county jail, where they will be held pending the arrival of the chief of the Narcotic Bureau of the federal government. They will be taken to Elkins, and given a hearing before Judge W. E. Baker.

Weirton authorities suspected a dope ring when a number of negroes were found loitering about the streets, apparently in a drunken and dazed condition although the 'smell' of liquor was not evident. Officers then began to shadow the men, and on Sunday evening found a number of them, coming from the residence occupied by Marie Geter, H. Smith, Nelson and J Smith. Weirton police officers then raided the home, where they found the negress attempting to dispose of a quantity of morphine hidden in her clothing.

SALES TAX LAW IS SUSTAINED

The West Virginia sales tax law was sustained yesterday by the United States supreme court in an opinion handed down by Justice McReynolds, in a case brought by the Hope Natural Gas company.

Explaining that the chief business of the company was the production and purchase of natural gas in West Virginia and uninterrupted traffic into Pennsylvania and Ohio, and that the sales tax law was attacked as an unlawful burden upon interstate commerce, the opinion pointed out that under decision of the West Virginia supreme court of appeals, the tax was to be computed upon the value of the gas at the well, and not otherwise.

Such a tax must be sustained, it added and should it be true that West Virginia officials disregarded that construction and fixed values upon an improper basis, the company had ample protection in the courts.

A claim that the tax constituted deprivation of due process was based the opinion added, upon the assumption that imposition was upon gross receipts from interstate commerce, after the property had passed from the state's jurisdiction.

Contention that equal protection of laws was denied rested upon assertions, Justice McReynolds declared, that an unlawful tax was imposed upon gross proceeds from sales regardless of their place and that exemption of $10,000 from the gross income provided by a section of the law created undue inequality and things actually taxed opposed the first assertion," the opinion stated. "We cannot say the legislature acted either arbitrarily or unreasonably by authorizing the deduction. Nothing indicates a purpose to extend different treatment to those of the same class; no actual unreasonable inequality has been shown.

Not a Secret—Just Common Sense.

The neighbors of Mrs. Arthur De Mulle, Grasmere, N. H., were curious to know what medicine she took that "acted like magic" in restoring her health. "No secret at all," she says, "Just common sense. I saw Foley Pills diuretic advertised and began taking them. I feel fine now, after 15 years suffering from kidney trouble. I never have a tired feeling, and am active and happy." Men and women everywhere use and recommend Foley Pills diuretic. Satisfaction guaranteed. Ask for them. Sold everywhere.

Steel cylinders so highly polished that the film of moisture made by blowing on them is sufficient adhesive to weld them together, were recently displayed in London.

Firestone Dealers

The Mark of Quality

Have Purchased 100% More GUM-DIPPED TIRES

[This Year Compared With Same Period Last Year]

THE demand from car owners for Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires has given Firestone Dealers a large increase in volume that enables them to sell these tires to you at the lowest prices in the history of the industry.

On the cars of motorists everywhere, in the every-day service of the largest truck and bus operators, these wonderful tires are delivering unheard-of long mileage together with greater safety and comfort.

The Firestone Balloon Tread, scientifically designed three years ago, and unchanged today, follows the contour of the tire carcass with no excess rubber at the edges to cause "shoulder breaks". Narrow rider strips permit the tread to yield to depressions and cling to the road, preventing skidding. This tough, pliable tread has the wear-resisting qualities that give thousands of extra miles of service.

The tread, however, is not the only important part of the balloon tire. It must be placed on a carcass that has the qualifications to withstand the terrific flexing that this design permits. The Firestone carcass is made of cords dipped in a rubber solution which not only saturates and insulates every fiber of every cord, but unifies sidewalls with carcass, eliminating any possibility of separation under the extreme flexing of low pressure tires.

Many Firestone Dealers are prepared to take your old tires, offering you a liberal allowance on a new set of Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires to start the motoring season.

To meet a demand for a low price tire and tube, Firestone designed and manufactures, for Firestone Dealers only, Oldfield Tires and Tubes, which carry the Standard Manufacturers' Guarantee.

Winner In Maloney-Sharkey-Dempsey Trio Gets Title Shot

Plans For Next Big Scrap Are Announced At Rickard's Dinner

Victor in Thursday's Fight Between Boston Heavyweights to Meet Dempsey and Survivor Will go on to Tunney Bout.

NEW YORK, May 17.—The winner of the Jack Sharkey-Jim Maloney bout here Thursday night will meet Jack Dempsey and the ultimate survivor will fight Gene Tunney in the fall, according to the revised plans of Promoter Tex Rickard. At the dinner given in his honor here last night by the Madison Square Garden club, Rickard announced that plans for a Dempsey-Paulino bout have been abandoned because the former champion will not be in condition for an important bout before August.

Rickard said that Dempsey planned to take on some heavyweight of minor importance in a "breather" in California before engaging in the big shot. Everything had been arranged for a Dempsey-Paulino bout, but Dempsey experienced a change of heart and the basque became involved in a legal tangle.

Rickard was presented with a gigantic silver plague and countless eulogies at the dinner. He refereed an amateur bout, officiating in that capacity for the first time since the Jeffries-Johnson bout at Reno in 1910.

The 1,000 guests included Gene Tunney, numerous millionaires, five United States senators, men prominent in all branches of sport and 142 sport writers from New York, Pittsburgh, Boston, Philadelphia, Jersey City, Bridgeport, Cleveland, Chicago, Detroit, Baltimore, Washington, Kansas City, Buffalo, Scranton, Wilkesbarre, New Haven and other cities.

Turk Nash at Wellsville; Chester at Newell Tonight.

Rain washed out both City Industrial league contests scheduled for last night, the Laughlin-Chester game at Smith Field and the American Billiards-K. T. K. clash at Columbian park.

Two engagements are billed for today. Wellsville is slated to play at Patterson Field against Turk-Nash, but on account of poor conditions at the West End lot, the clash will be transferred to Wellsville's new park.

Chester will go into action at Laughlin.

The American Billiards and K. T. K. will play tonight on the Klondyke grounds, giving district fans three games.

BOB MEUSEL NEW RIVAL FOR TY COBB

Steals Second and Then Steals Way to Plate With Run.

NEW YORK, May 17.—Ty Cobb has a new rival in the art of base stealing today and the gent in question is none other than Bob Meusel, the languid and lanky outfielder of the New York Yankees. After stealing second in yesterday's game with Detroit, Meusel furnished a new wrinkle by stealing all the way home on one play.

With Meusel on second and Lazzeri on first, Catcher Shea trapped the runners between bases. When the Detroit players finished throwing the ball around Meusel was in and Lazzeri was safe at first and Manager Moriarity of the Tigers was calling for headache powders.

Lou Gehrig hit two doubles and his eighth homer, tying Babe Ruth for home run honors. The Babe, however, drove in two runs in the ninth and the Yanks registered their fifth straight triumph, 4 to 2. Pitcher Walkup was sent in to pitch to Ruth and when the beans were spilled Walkup walked out.

Ty Cobb hit his first homer of the season and Simmons got two of them as the Athletics nosed out the Browns, 10 to 8, in a ding dong battle. Ken Williams of the Browns collected four hits including a homer.

Ted Lyons chalked up his fifth victory as the White Sox trounced the Red Sox, 5 to 2. The Pale Hose scored all their runs in the second inning off Hal Wilse, who has accounted for half of Boston's eight victories.

In the National league the Cardinals regained second place by nosing out the Phillies, 2 to 1. Jesse Haines came right back after his beating by the Giants and shaded Alex Ferguson.

Max Carey bit the hands that once fed him by making four hits and stealing a base against Pittsburgh. Brooklyn won, 9 to 5, pushing the Pirates back into third place.

The Reds, Giants, Cubs, Braves, Senators and Indians did not play.

Sport Alphabet

He has held all the major golf titles at one time or another.

Won the American open in 1921, won the western open in 1914-17-19.

Copped the pro title in 1916 and 1919 and the British open in 1925. He has taken a score of sectional trophies.

He's a Cornishman and started his career on the Pacific Coast, moving later to St. Louis and then to the eastern coast.

Among the other Barneses of note are the baseball brothers, Jess and Virgil.

And Lee Barnes, pole vaulter.

And among the other G's we have—

Mary K. Browne, golfer and tenniser.

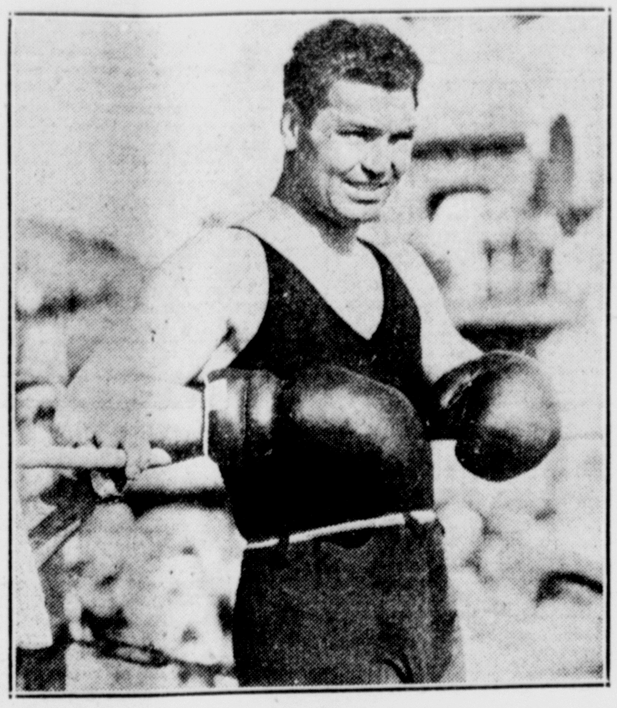
JACK DEMPSEY IN RING AGAIN



Breaking the privacy which has surrounded his training activities, Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion of the world, is snapped in the ring at Santa Monica, Calif., where he appeared for the benefit of Mississippi flood sufferers. Dempsey took on two sparring partners for fast bouts and then engaged in a wrestling match.

FANS WON'T WARM UP TO BIG BATTLE

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, May 17.—Although most of the visible money being chanced on the outcome probably could be concealed very effectually behind an English monocle, there were unmistakable signs today that New York intended to make Jimmy Maloney a favorite over Jack Sharkey for their heavyweight meeting on Thursday night. A favorite, according to Webster, is one who "is looked upon with special favor," but the great definer wasn't thinking of Jimmy Maloney when he drafted this designation.

Maloney is the probable favorite only because the average addict dislikes James' fighting less than he does that of Sharkey. The man who wins possibly will be the man who will go on to a championship fight with Tunney but somehow the customers have been gazing with idle abstraction at the far horizon.

Even artificial respiration hasn't altogether succeeded in reviving the patient locally, although the fact that Boston has bought its share of tickets has been duly broadcast. Perhaps the intervening forty-eight hours will see them rioting at the turnstiles, which is something that Sharkey's ability to talk a great contest and George Rickard's decision to give himself a dinner last night have failed to do.

Dempsey Will Get Them.

As a matter of fantastic fact, the public's interest is not with this couple of earnest young men, who can fight, but with a rather elderly ex-champion who doesn't know whether he can or not. Maybe the announcement that Jack Dempsey's come back will be against the Sharkey-Maloney winner will produce the desired effect, for apparently you must get Dempsey's name in there if you want to get the customers in, too.

The Maloney-Delaney fight, which turned out a million dollars worth of advertising an a million moments of boredom, also has had a psychological effect on the sale for Thursday's fight. The boys will want to be shown this time and the proposition of matching one man with only a fair punch, against another, with virtually none, is not a particularly attractive one.

Still, the winner will be able to say with perfect truth that he has beaten every good man available up to and including the moment and, if that isn't enough to get him consideration, then it may be presumed that he just isn't due.

Think Maloney Has Punch.

Much of this depends on the identity of the winner, however. If it is Maloney, the boys will go for him with a reasonable degree of enthusiasm. They suspect he can punch; the evidence is more or less circumstantial but even a suspected punch is esteemed over bland innocence.

That seems to be Sharkey's great liability and yet, with all of his indecisiveness in hitting, there probably haven't been five better heavyweights in the last ten years. In fact, the writer would pick him as a more dangerous, though less interesting opponent for Tunney than Maloney would be. Whether he proves to be a more dangerous opponent for Maloney than any the latter has met this year remains to be seen; for things equal to the same thing are not always equal to each other—at least, not in boxing.

Joey Meehan, Philadelphia, defeated Dandy Allen, Cleveland.

County Meet Moguls Still Undecided As Clouds Darken Sky

Track Sloppy This Morning Following Continued Rains; Wednesday or Thursday Date Possible if Weatherman Relents.

Officials of the Columbiana county association in charge of the annual interscholastic meet, this morning were still undecided as to a definite date for the 24th yearly school competitions which were postponed from last Saturday because of rain.

It was announced at Lisbon this morning that school authorities were inspecting the fairground track and infield periodically and the "call to arms" will be sounded at the first available opportunity.

It was said that the track this morning was still more or less "soupy" and still far from being in condition for performances that might be expected.

Track conditions may play a big part in a possible East Liverpool victory for here it is that the Blue and White should, both figuratively and literally, put its best foot forward.

The two East Palestine boys, Collela and Cook, with preliminary tosses of over 44 feet, appear to have the shot-put pretty well sewed up.

Allen and Roesler of Salem are the best bets in the pole vault and Allen and Gregg, also of Salem, are being boosted as the choices in the high jump.

Seeds, of Salem, ran a pretty race in the 220-yard hurdldes Saturday, despite the mud, and his showing gives him first consideration in the opening event. Two Wellsville boys, J. Calhoun and Dickey, finished, third and fourth, respectively, in the hurdles.

Fight Results

AT JERSEY CITY—Jimmy Britt, California, knocked out Harry Usse, New York, 12th round.

LAUGHLIN NINE WINS

Defeat Printers; Two Other Contests Postponed.

Clarence Moore's Laughlin Newell soft ball aggregation blanked the Review-Tribune, 5-0, in the only Recreation league contest staged last night.

The Printers and Potters braved the chilly air and light drizzle and went through nine fast innings on the Newell lot, winding up in approximately 35 minutes of play. The Laughlinites were pulling their hits nicely into open territory and presented an almost airtight defense.

Games between the Ohio Powers at Johannes Drugs and National Furnitures at Roselawns were postponed. They will probably play the latter part of the week.

Another Good Man Gone Wrong!

The Sad Story of a Rented Dress Suit

"You can't tell it from the real thing," said the gentleman above when he rented a dress suit. Now, as you can see, he is a sadder but wiser man.

He knows, now, that there is no substitute for the "real thing." Take Puritan Malt, for example. Naturally, there are plenty of imitations—stuff that looks just like the "real thing." But you can't fool many people more than once—and that's why Puritan popularity is practically unanimous everywhere. The choicest No. 1 barley blended with genuine Imported Bohemian Hops.

Original Legion Men Plan to Assemble At Old Meet Place

PARIS.—Over in the Cirque de Paris—where boxers kiss the canvas when circus horses aren't galloping around the sawdust ring — several hundred Legionnaires, former delegates to the historic assembly which formulated the idea of the American Legion there on March 15, 1919, expect to gather during the convention week in September.

Many members of the original group have suggested that a meeting be held in the Cirque "for old times sake" and so the France Convention Committee in Paris is making tentative plans for another big reunion there.

AUTHOR OF "THE VALLEY OF STONE" AND "RIDERS OF THE DESERT"

SYNOPSIS:

BEN MANSOUR, cosmopolite and old friend, saying he must see him at once.

GILES, Mansour's servant, drives Larry to his friend's house. While the two are talking a turbanned head appears at the window, Mansour opens it and a Moor steps in. He gives Mansour a ring as a token, set with a magnificent ruby. Mansour throws it on a table. Through the Moor it is revealed that Mansour is a Moor and ruler of his tribe. For some reason he must die but he insists that his son rule after him. Mansour says that heh as taken poison and the Moor goes, tossing into the room a tiny ivory tiger—the Striped Death. Mansour asks Grenfall if he will go to Morocco, find the Temple, endure the Ordeal and crush the Group—all of which is Greek to Grenfall. He is to find a certain Omar ben Medjad. Then Mansour dies. Giles has instructions to open a certain trunk and take care of the letters he will find therein.

Giles and Grenfall open the trunk, finding Mansour's will and a letter to Grenfall asking him to carry out the instructions he game him before he died. Grenfall takes the ruby ring and tells Giles he is going to Morocco.

He shows the token—the ruby ring and the mendicant guides him to an alley where he changes his costume for that of the mendicant and he is pulled into a house by a Moor to whom he again shows his token.

Larry finds this new Moor is Omar ben Medjad. He furnishes Larry with the disguise of a magician.

CHAPTER EIGHT.

As silently as he had entered the Daukala mendicant, after taking his burnouse, and certain of Larry's garments, stepped from the room and out into the blue-black night, the Oriental night that is ever filled with intrigue to the mind of hte Occidental.

Alone once more with Omar, Larry looked at the man curiously. It was obvious the fellow possessed power among those of his kind, and the American suspected strongly that he was more than he pretended to be.

"Omar," he said, "I want some information. Tell me, did you know Ben Mansour?"

The other nodded silently.

"You know he is dead?"

"Killed by a subtle poison," Omar agreed. "He was, to his friends, a wonderful man; but to himself—I have no doubts."

"Ben got me to promise to come here, Omar, find you and learn the way to the Temple. I promised him I would endeavor to recover a casket and place it in your hands. He hinted vaguely of fearsome things, and there was a messenger—"

Omar interrupted him.

"I know, moulay, a messenger from the Temple, who bade Mansour to a throne or death; the messenger and two companions who accmpanied him to your country have returned. They are now in the hills, reporting, no doubt, to the powerful group of marabouts who sent them."

"Confound it, Omar, how do you know so much? Sometimes one would almost swear you have been over there with them."

Omar chuckled grimly.

"I have eyes that see and ears that hear. They keep me informed of all that it is needful for me to know. That is why Ben Mansour told you to come to me."

"Well, I am here. Now tell me what the grand idea is," Larry said.

For a long time Omar looked at him silently. Finally, he said:

"Ben Mansour was my dearest Friend; I would lay down my life to return his and surely, you, also, must have been held dearly in his heart, else he would not have chosen you as the one to perform a great mission. I shall tell you a story, but before I speak I require your pledge that in case you think the risk too great, your courage to frail, or the obstacles too vast for you to overthrow, you will never reveal what you are about to hear."

"I promise, by the spirit of my ancestors and by the tomb of your own prophet, Omar," Larry said, solemnly.

"I am satisfied," said Omar, lighting a fresh cigaret. "Now, listen" He drew a long draft, sipped his coffee, then thrust the cup aside, looking at Larry with appraising eyes.

"For many centuries the Berber tribes, in common with all Moslem, have observed the mouloud, which as you know is the anniversary of the birth of the prophet; in your country you have Christmas, which is the same occasion to you. Often, however, in past years when these observances were finished, the hill tribes forgot their late religious fervor and flared up in warfare against one another so violently that in many instances weak tribes were virtually eradicated, while even the strongest had their ranks decimated seriously. This condition obtained until forty years ago, when Sherif Youcoub el-Masmazi conceived the idea of welding into a powerful league certain of the greatest of the tribes. This resulted eventually in the Seven Tribes of the Berbers, whose histories you portrayed so well in one of your books. This did away with warfare, because the Seven Tribes absolutely dominated Morocco south of the Atlas and even the southern stretches beyond the mountains."

Larry listened with interest, hearing in this wise confirmation of things he had already written of in his several authoritative books on Morocco and the Moors. Omar continued:

"Sherif Youcoub was able to exercise his great power because he possessed the Sacred Eye, which was, if you know Moorish history as well as I believe you do, a symbol of power that was handed down by ruler to ruler through blood descendants. Legent has long since put away fact in connection with the Sacred Eye, until now it is more symbolic of power than ever before. To retain his leadership of the tribes, the sherif, on each mouloud, was compelled by tribal law to go through the Ordeal, wearing the Eye.

"Now, when Sherif Youcoub died, his son, Omar Ben Mansour, being a prince of the blood, became sherif, and about this time a powerful group of marabouts began to form throughout the Atlas with the object of overthrowing the power of the sherif and taking unto itself the rule over all Moslem outside of the domain under immediate control of the Sultan, the French and the Spaniards. These marabouts became so powerful finally that through intrigue they stole the Sacred Eye and carried it to their inviolate Temple, where no man save the marabouts and the greatest of wizards may go, because no one else may take the road save only after the marabouts have summoned him. Also, the marabouts stole Ben Mansour's son, and it is said they taught him of their lore at a walled city in the hills, then at a later date lost him. Some say the son is now hiding in the city of Duk-el-Abda."

Omar paused briefly, to light another cigarette.

"Following the theft of the Sacred Eye the people on the eve of the next mouloud and inspired no doubt by the marabout group of plotters, let it be known in no uncertain tones that unless the Eye were worn during the Ordeal, the sherif might take his choice between death by the sword or strangulation. Ben Mansour fled in the night, his son having been stolen and his wife having died some time before. He disguised himself cleverly and reached Fez, where he was fairly safe. It was there you first met him and it was there, my friend, that he took a strong liking to you. For years he traveled, always hiding, then one day a messenger found him and told him that if he would retun and lead his people, he would be spared his life and restored to the sherifcy."

Forgetting both coffee and cigarette, Larry leaned forward, intensely interested.

"Go on," he said.

"Mansour refused, asking that the honor be given his son, then he resumed his flight. Meantime, back in the Atlas, the powerful Marabout Group had announced to the people that it would produce a sherif for them. To make good their boast, they decided they would heed Mansour's request and place his son on the tribal throne, which is a figurative throne at best. The Group, however, planned to back the boy just so long as he played the game of conspirators, but in building up their power and setting their plans these holy men made a fatal error. They told the people they had caused the downfall of Ben Mansour because it had come to their ears that he was dickering to hand the Sacred Eye to the Spaniards and so make easy the conquest of the southern Atlas.. They told the people that it had been said in the past that so long as the Sacred Eye remained in their possession, the Berbers would never be subjugated and thereby implied that if the Spaniards were given the symbol they would bring them under their rule as they have brought the Submissive Tribes of the plains. That legend has been behind the Twenty year's warfare of the Riff tribes against Spain, for the Riffs are allied with the Berbers.
